WILL INTERNATIONAL LAW DO AWAY WITH WARFARE?

Subject Discussed at Convention of Bar Association Which is Largest in Its History—Dinner Last Night Attended by Many Prominent in Legal Profession.

Never before in the history of the beautiful churches and paintings and Bar Association has a larger and more yet merely answers, This does not distinguished number of gentlemen gathered than was the case at the annual meeting and convention which opened at Osgoode Hall yesterday morning. In opening the session, Frank M. Field, K.C., of Cobourg, president of the association. congratulated the association on their success. "Happily for us the ravages of a war have been so far remote from our borders," he declared, "but with the declaration of war on Aug. 4 the possibilities of the realization of a peace celebration of the Anglo-Saxon communities has been shattered, not indeed, I am glad to say, by any disturbances of that century of peace, but because our thoughts are necessarily engrossed with the conflict, the greatest that history records."

Mr. Field then went on to assure the visitors from across the border of the good feeling between the two countries. He told how the hall in which they were meeting was the scene of the greatest call to arms in the history of the bar of Toronto when the Osgoode Hall Rifle Association was formed. 'And," he said, "I am proud to have been enrolled as a full private.

"Now I can conceive of nothing better calculated to promote unity among the provinces, which is essential to a strong national life than uniformity of legislation," he stated. "Our fore-fathers were evidently of that opinion when the Dominion of Canada was formed Admitting that Quebec must still be excluded from the provinces wherein uniformity of law relative to property and civi rights is possible of achievement, there remains a vast territory in Canada over which such uniformity can and should prevail."

Sir George Gibbons, K.C., of London, honorary president, stated that altho the United States was formally neutral, still their sympathies were on the side of the allies.

Some amusement was caused by the reading of a paper on the reminis-cences as a law student in Ontario in the early sixtles by E. Farewell, K.C.,

"International law and the present war" was the subject dealt with by Eugene Lafleur, K.C. of Montreal, in which he pointed out the deliberate disregard of international law by at least one of the countries of the pres-"where ent war. Bismarck stated Russia's life is in question, I know no law" and this has been fully carried out. It can only lead to most disastrous consequences.

he said, "we have found that there are two relations between countries. In in time of war 'abnormal' but we are now told that this is not so and things are reversed for in times of peace things are 'abnormal' and in war normal." It has been shown by science that there must be a stronger nation to guard the world and it now remains to show if Germany is that chosen nation.

We uphoud the views that a plece of paper should not be ignored, the same as your government does, and while we are neutral, you can class it as a boiling neutrality."

Frederick H. Fenning of Washing ton brought the greeting of the American Bar Association. He agreed to show if Germany is that chosen naion, as they claim. The Germans have been taught that any war would be just if it went to impress on the world that Germany was the superior army, but by her law. nation. Mr. Lafleur pointed out that the time had not yet arrived to find out what laws of war set forth at The Hague Conference had been ignored but sufficient evidence had been collected and at the proper time the tribunal of the world will consider the subject. He contended, however that there was one point on which there could be no doubt, and that is the invasion of Belgium. On Oct. 9, 1907, The Hague Conference put forth a law which forbid the use of floating mines that did not become useless one hour after they were placed, and also forbid the use of anchored mines which did not become useless after they had broken loose. But, he said, the Germans held that the strength of the nation was more important than the carrying out of the laws." The speaker condemned the action of combarding unfortified towns on the

PEERESSES IN MOURNING.

Canadian Press Despatch. LONDON, Jan. 6, 9 p.m.—The house of lords met today, a month earlier than the house of commons, chiefly to hear from Lord Kitchener a review of the military operations for the six weeks since parliament was prorogued. While the speech of the secretary for war contained nothing of a sensational character and little not already known, it was listened to with rapt attention by a distinguished gathering of peers and peeresses members of the house mons and public men.

The peers, as usual, were in their robes of office, but beyond this the scene was lacking in the usual color, for of the long rows of peeresses in the gallery virtually every one was in mourning for some relative killed at the front

"SEPTEMBER MORN" AT THE GRAND

"September Morn," next week's attraction at the Grand Opera House, with the usual matinees, has been dramatized and musicalized by Arthur Gillespie and Aubrey Stauffer, two clever chaps, who can blend pleasing lyrics and compose catchy music in this new fun show. They have succeeded beyond all anticipation, and the producers have selected a great company to enact the various roles and sing the jingle tunes. Frank Minor, Lou Kelso, William Cameron, the well-known comjingle tunes. Frank Minor, Lou Kelso, William Cameron, the well-known comedians, have the big fun parts, and Maud Potter, called the American "Gaby Desiys," has a dashing role with unique dances. Arline Bolling is also seen in a part that was written for her. The chorus is large and pretty. Among the song hits are: "When a Little Boy Loves a Little Girl," "In Berlin," "Oh, You September Morn," "Everybody's Tango Crazy," "A Spare-rib from The Butcher Shop of Life," "Where is the Pleasure in Wine and Song if the Woman is Not There," etc.

guarding the shore, was killed by a shot It was also decided to ask the counfrom the German battleships. It was his cil to arrange for the opening of power lines, to connect on the east The president, James Ball, was appointed a delegate to attend the meeting of Scarlett Plains Ratepayers' Asscciation in the George Syme School on Wednesday, Jan. 20, that concerted action may be taken to get the township council to have hydro street lighting extended to Scarlett Plains and Lambton Park.

Must Wait For Gas.

C. Adams, reported that the Consumers' Gas Co. would not extend nains to the district in the meantime. the matter having been delayed so long that the frost now in the ground rendered the work impracticable The report upon the Christmas tree held for the benefit of the children on the Brooke Estate indicated that the effort had been crowned with success, altho the financial statemen showed a deficit of $5.00. Jas. Skippen, of the relief committee, assured the meeting that this would likely be cleared up with the proceeds of a social evening, to be held on Tuesday, In view of the overlapping of relief vork in the district, it was decided to discontinue the relief work of the association thru the relief committee consisting of J. Ball, Chas. Shaw, and S. Skippen, and will report deserving cases to other committees which are active in the Booke Estate, Rev. A. P. Bamford, of Lambton Mills Methodist Church, has been of material assistance, and is altogether willing to investigate and to help. The Rev. Mr. Pritchard Avenue Church, is able to supply clothing. These are being assisted by members of their congregations and others. Six residents have been summonsed of appear at the county court on Fri-Cay on a charge of cutting down trees the Brooke Estate, the charge being laid by the Humber Land Co. Skippen, one of those summonsed for felling a tree on Bernice pleads that the tree was in the roadway, and that it would have to come down before grading could be done, and he justifies his action, as one of the distress committee, in that the tree provided firewood for some who were absolutely unable to procure or to obtain fuel otherwise. WESTON
