

- 266; identification of places along that coast, xcii; deer found there, cxxxviii, 5, 8, 104; the first expedition reaches it, 11; the third expedition arrives there, lxxxix, 89. See Expeditions.
- Novo-Kholmogorui, xi
- Nuffelen (Hans van), clerk to W. Barents, assists in killing a bear, 64
- Nunez, see Balboa
- Ob, or Oby, a river of Tartary, instructions given to Bassendine and others for a voyage to it, xiv; discovered by the English before 1584, xxvi, xxx; visited by Alferius, xxxviii; his description of it, xxxix; great masses of ice at its mouth, xli; its wonderful inhabitants, xlv; Nai and Linschoten and they had reached it, lxi, 80; reached by the Russians, 55
- Observations, see Latitude and Longitude.
- Ode upon Waygats or the Strait of Nassau, to the tune of the 42nd psalm, lxxvii
- Oliver, see Alferius
- Oom (Lambert Gerritsz.) commands the Swan on the second expedition, lxiii
- Orange Island or Ostrov Golets, 51
- Orange (Islands of), lix, 25, 194
- Pampus, 13, 174
- Parhelia, see Mock-suns.
- Passage to China by the north-east, see North-east.
- Pechora, a river of Tartary, 55; voyage of discovery to it by Bassendine and others, xiii; visited by Alferius, xxxviii; Oliver Brunel lost there, xlv
- Pet (Arthur), commissioned by the Russia Company for a voyage to the north-east, xvi; sails from Harwich, xviii; his course after separating from Jackman, xix; first enters the Yugorsky Shar, xx; which should therefore be called Pet's Strait, ib.; impeded by ice in the Kara Sea, xxi; again joined by Jackman, xxi; they decide on returning, xxi; arrives safe at Ratcliff, xxii; defence of his character as an able navigator, xxiii
- Pet's Strait, called by the Dutch the Strait of Nassau, and by the Russians Yugorsky Shar, xx
- Petermann (Augustus), lays down Barents's track, lix; his observations thereon, lx; and on the geography of Novaya Zemlya, xcvi
- Phillip (William), remarks on his translation of De Veer's work, cxxxviii; other works translated by him, cxxxix
- Plancius, Cape, xcv, 210
- Plancius (Peter), one of the promoters of the first expedition, liv; his opinion as to Linschoten's report, lxii; assists in the preparations for the second expedition, 41; persists in the opinion that the passage could be effected, lxxxi; his biography, 41
- Poems, see Ode.
- Prinsen Hof, the Court of Admiralty at Amsterdam, 256
- Protest signed by the officers of the second expedition, lxviii; erroneously supposed not to have been signed by Barents, ib.
- Proverbs and Sayings, (Dutch), 100, 135, 159, 165, 174, 183, 190, 245
- Purchas, his reference to Oliver Brunel, xlvii
- Quas, a beverage among the Russians, 249
- Randolph (Thomas), ambassador at the court of Russia, his instructions to Bassendine and others, xiii
- Refraction (Atmospheric) extraordinary, cxii, cxvii, 145, 147, 151
- Reindeer exist in Novaya Zemlya, cxxxviii, 5, 83, 104
- Reyniersz (Ian) see Buysen
- Rijp (Ian Cornelisz.), one of the supercargoes on the second expedition, lxiv; and in the third expedition, lxxxii, 71; disputes between him and Barents as to the course to be taken, lxxxiv, lxxxvi, 72, 75, 85; separates from Barents, lxxvii, 85; returns to Spitzbergen, ib.; and thence to Holland, lxxxix; meets again with Heemskerck and his crew, and assists them, 252
- Rock crystal found in States Island, 37
- Rosmuislov, a Russian pilot, winters in Matochkin Shar, xxxi
- Rotgansen, see Brent-geese
- Rotterdam (town of), sends out one vessel on the second expedition, lxiii
- Rundall (Thomas), his claim on behalf of Sir Hugh Willoughby, vi
- Russia Company, first chartered, vii; obtain an act of Parliament, viii;