

MORE MEMBERS FOR BOARD OF TRADE

Whirlwind Campaign to Add at Least One Thousand Men Commences Monday, and Will Continue All Week, With Meetings Every Day, When Captains Will Report.

Beginning Monday morning and closing Friday evening, a whirlwind membership campaign will be carried on by the Toronto Board of Trade. In a circular letter addressed to each of the present 2500 members, President Somers and Secretary Morley call upon them to get behind the movement so that at the close of the week the rolls may show two members where but one stood before. A number of the members consider this high mark as something in the nature of a challenge to a man to a star, but believe that at least 1000 members will be added.

In its organization for the big member-getting contest, the members were classified into 24 trades and a list was chosen from each. This captain will have charge of his own organization and there will be daily meetings at the St. Charles Cafe when ways and means and progress will be reported and discussed. In this respect, the campaign is like that earlier conducted, and as every member is expected to be working under his captain, the added number of workers in the field is expected to more than counteract the fact that the board has been gone over within the year.

At yesterday's meeting Secretary Morley reported the receipt of 25 new memberships, which has been in answer to what might be termed a preliminary skirmish thru the mails. J. P. Good has been appointed publicity agent and will furnish tidings of the battle as it progresses.

As an added inducement membership lists in this campaign will be carried to the close of 1913 for the one price of admission. In their letter urging the members to secure more, the president and secretary declare that this is their growing time and call upon them to step and look lively. It is rumored that this membership campaign is a preliminary to formulating and putting into operation a new building policy. The members have recognized for some time that they must have a new building, and The World was told yesterday that they were soon to be about it.

SIGNED BLANK CHEQUE

Mrs. Spur Claims to Have Done So for Dr. J. G. Evans.

The trial of Dr. J. G. Evans, proprietor of the Empire College of Ophthalmology, 337 West Queen street, charged with uttering a forged cheque, will be concluded this morning in the court of the general sessions. The charge is that he forged a cheque under the name of John Revell for $5000 on an English bank, payable to his institution. Revell had been living with a woman named Mrs. Spur, calling himself by the name of "Spur." By a curious coincidence on Nov. 2, both the woman's rightful husband and Revell died, and it is claimed Evans is the one man who knew "Spur's" correct name, and the fact that he had money in England.

Mrs. Spur admits signing Revell's name to the cheque, but declares it was blank at the time, and that afterwards filled it in. Evans on the other hand, declares that he filled in the cheque before the name was signed, and gave it to the woman.

MISSION FOR NON-CATHOLICS

Announcement is made of the Mission for Non-Catholics, which is to be held at Saint Basil's Church, St. Joseph street, all next week, by Rev. Father Conway of the Paulist Fathers of New York. The purpose of this mission is to inform all who are not Catholics of the truths of the Catholic church. It is not to be at all controversial. No attacks are to be made upon any denomination nor will there be any attempts to throw discredit or blame upon any individual or sect which sincerely holds opinions opposed to those of the Catholic church. The week will be devoted merely to laying forth the beliefs and usages of the church in a simple, straightforward manner, without offence to any creed or person. It may not be that every individual who goes will find what he is seeking nor that in all cases the purposes of the mission father will be fulfilled. Yet, considered from any point of view at all, its effect cannot be otherwise than beneficial. Any good and sincere movement carried on in a spirit of Christian loving-kindness by good and earnest men cannot but accomplish results which to some extent are worthy of the spirit that impels it. It is undoubtedly a fact that many people, some of them learned and cultured men and women, have searched through their lives for their ideal of truth and for the consolation which man find only in what seems to them the highest and purest religion, and have at last found that ideal of truth and that consolation in the Catholic church.

Hambourg Concert Society

Among the few distinctively notable features of the last musical season in Toronto were the special historical concerts given by Jan and Boris Hambourg to illustrate the growth and development of string music. The intense pleasure given by these performances made a deep impression on the musical circles which had the good fortune to attend, and the present season's arrangements have been looked forward to with much eagerness.
