MAY CUT DISCOUNT ON WATER RATES TO MEET WORKING COSTS

Matter Discussed At Special Meeting of Public Utilities Commission.

Estimated expenditures of $50,000 in the electrical department were approved by the Public Utilities Commission at a special meeting Monday afternoon. Of this amount $3,000 is required for buildings, fixtures and improvements; $6,000 for towers and poles; $20,000 for wires and cables; $15,000 for line transformers; $1,000 for general office equipment; $5,000 for utility equipment; $21,000 for services and meters, and $12,000 for a switch and other equipment already purchased.

Expenditure of $85,000 on construction in the waterworks department has already been approved, as well as $208,100 for operating expenses.

Raising Money a Puzzle.

How to raise this latter amount is still puzzling the commission. General water rates and hydrant charges will have to be increased, but in just what proportion is a matter on which the commission is not unanimous. The present rate for hydrants is $15, while citizens receive a 40 per cent discount on their water rates.

General Manager Buchanan suggested increasing the hydrant charge to $32 and reducing the discount to 30 per cent in water rates. Mayor Little thought this was an unfair increase, and moved that the hydrant charge be $20 and the discount 25 per cent. Commissioner Vining said if the mayor would make the hydrant charge $20 he would agree with him. Mr. Little had to leave the meeting before a vote could be taken, and as Commissioner F. G. Mitchell was also absent the matter was tabled.

At The Theaters

AT THE GRAND.

"The Miracle Man," a feature Paramount-Artcraft picture, showing at the Grand Theatre all this week, is a master production and one of the best films presented in London since the inception of the silent drama here. This striking story has been handed with a touch of genius, and was dramatized by George M. Cohen with great success.

The story centres about a white-haired patriarch of the hills, who is credited with power to heal the sick and crippled. However, the scenario opens with sordid realities of New York's Chinatown, and throughout the vehicle the sordidness gradually yields to the delicate touch of faith until it becomes a minus quantity. The idea of using the healer of the sick for commercial purposes is conceived by an unscrupulous band of crooks who journey to the hills for this purpose.

Coached by his leader, one of the band in distorted shape comes to the patriarch and a fake miracle is brought about, and this causes a stampede to the little village. Unforeseen things then happen and although riches result from the nefarious operations of the crooks, a real miracle manifests itself when the faith-proving contagious infects the crooks and they desert their leader. His fortune proves of scant comfort to him, and he finally awakes to things worth while in life, and love opens a wicked heart. All ends for the good in "The Miracle Man," which is an achievement for George Loane Tucker, the producer.

As Tom Burke, the leading crook, Thomas Meighan gives a flawless characterization. Betty Compson as Rose, the beautiful confederate, demonstrates real skill in her work. Joseph J. Dowling in the title role adds much to the success of this presentation. The screen program includes a comedy film, "The Grocery Clerk," with Larry Semon as the fun-maker, which kept the house in an uproar last night, and is a scream from start to finish.

Candor's Minstrels is the headline attraction on the vaudeville bill, presenting Marion Gibney and a sextette of ladies in purple. With elaborate stage settings and costumes, this number is of high order, every member of the cast being a versatile artist and the comedy introduced is refreshing.

Jack Hanley is a juggler of more than ordinary ability, and injects much fun into his offering. Newell and Most present some clever singing and dancing, with instrumental numbers thrown in for good measure.

"The Night Boat" is a delightful little nautical comedy in two scenes, presenting five people. Replete with amusing situations, this act went over with a punch at all performances yesterday. Sam J. Harris in a monolog and singing act serves to drive away the blues, and his offering was appreciated. Although the vaudeville is repeated today and tomorrow only, the feature film, "The Miracle Man," will continue at the Grand all this week.

AT THE MAJESTIC.

"The Paliser Case," featuring Pauline Frederick, was shown at the Majestic Theatre last night. The wonderful mystery picture held the audience in such suspense that a dropped pin could be heard fall. The dramatic tale concerns the murder of a wealthy young roue as he sits in his box at the opera. Two people are accused, a man and a woman, as they each have daggers in their possession and are nearby when the deed is done. It develops in the trial that the woman, Cassy Cara (Pauline Frederick) had been urged into a mock marriage with the dead man, so that gives her ample motive for the crime. The man, Keith Lennox (Albert Roscoe), has been heard to utter a threat against the murdered man at his club, and as his name has been associated with Cassy Cara's, his motive for a crime is also suspected. The strangest part of all is that both the man and woman make full confession of their own implicity.

The deep love of an old man for his violin and his daughter Cassy aids in unraveling the strange web of this dramatic story. The capable cast includes James Neil, Hazel Brennan, Alec Francis, Warburton Gamble, Kate Lester and Carrie Lee Ward. William Parke directed the photoplay.

A Snub Pollard comedy and a news and scenic film completed the performance, which will be repeated today and Wednesday.

AT LOEW'S THEATRE.

Constance Talmadge delighted a capacity house at Loew's Theatre last night, when she played the leading role in "The Temperamental Wife." Petite as she always appears, Miss Talmadge in her flirtations with Senator Newton, who is almost a woman-hater, appears more winsome than ever, and finally by feminine wiles succeeds in capturing the senator. She finds out, however, that he has a female secretary. This she very much objects to, fearing that he might transfer his affections, although really the e is not the slightest possibility of such a thing.

Because Constance Talmadge, who takes the part of Billie Billings thinks this, she carries on another wild flirtation with a supposed Bulgarian count. What happens after this, the picture must be seen to appreciate Billie's mix-up and the way in which she gets out of it.

The Golden Troupe, six dancers, is the leading attraction in vaudeville, and received unstinted applause from the audience. The Russian dances are exceedingly pretty and the music which accompanies the dancers is entrancing.

Another clever little act that pleases is "Brown's Dogs." These clever little animals dance and perform very cleverly and do stunts that are hair-raising in dogland. One little poodle does a waltz and a couple of others the minuet.

Waltzer and Waltzer in harmony, dance and song, entertain pleasantly for fifteen minutes. Hackett and Francis and Irene Prince complete the excellent vaudeville program. In these two acts a variety of dance and song is given as well as some very good bits of wit.

The comedy picture is made up of laughs from start to finish, and lives up to the record of Mack Sennett comedies. The Pathe Weekly feature this week is almost all Canadian, and shows winter sports of all sorts. The overture by the concert orchestra was a part of the program which was especially enjoyed by everyone and evidenced by the tremendous applause given.

The bill will be repeated today and on Wednesday.

AT THE PATRICIA.

One of the features at the Patricia this week is the Harmonic Quartet, which is composed of local talent—Chris Pink, Wesley Roberts, Percy King and Fred Dowling. A splendid selection was rendered, and drew much applause from the audience.

The Fox News Film has a large number of attractive scenes, which take in Europe, as well as many of the beauties of Canadian winter.

"Naughty Lions and Wild Men," drew a great number of laughs from the audience. The film is based on the desire of five men to marry a pretty Scotch girl. She promises to marry the one that is the bravest lion hunter. The picture shows the lions and the various ways used to catch them, and ends up with the would-be heroes being caught by cannibals, who are preparing to eat them when the lions come on the scene in time to save their lives.

The feature film, "Wings of the Morning, is one of the finest, in which the beautiful Louise Lovely and William Farnum have starred. The play is taken from the book of the same name, written by Louis Tracey.

The story opens in an Indian military station, in which Farnum as Robert Anstruther, holds the rank of captain. A staff captain by the name of Ventour is caught by Anstruther making love to the colonel's wife, who reciprocates it. In the following developments Anstruther's orderly is killed while trying to watch the actions of Ventnor in the colonel's absence. This causes an inquiry to be made, and Anstruther is accused of being the one who is causing the trouble.

In the ensuing court-martial, in which the colonel's wife testifies against him, he is found "guilty of conduct unbecoming to an officer and a gentleman." He makes no defence, and is cashiered.

On being drummed out of the regiment he seeks a new life at sea, where he can wipe out the disgrace. While on the boat he sees Ventnor again, who this time is making love to the daughter of the owner of the steamship line, Iris Deane (Louise Lovely.) The boat is wrecked, and Anstruther and Iris are washed ashore on a desert island.

They are attacked by Dyaks, but eventually beat them off. The Dyaks return, however, and were getting the best of the fight, when Ventnor's orderly came to their aid. This prolonged the fight and allowed the father of Iris to arrive with a light cruiser in time to rescue the party.

On the return of Anstruther to the military station from which he had been "drummed out" the colonel's wife confesses. Ventnor is sent from the regiment in disgrace and told to hand in his resignation, while Anstruther is given back his commission in the front of the whole regiment. He then turns to Iris, who is at his side and is immediately confronted with the question as to where they will spend their honeymoon. The answer is on Rainbow Island, the one on which they were cast up when shipwrecked. The bill will be presented again today and tomorrow.

AT ALLEN'S.

The management of Allen's new theatre did not depend alone on the splendors of the magnificent playhouse to please its patrons on the occasion of their opening last night, for they featured along with a splendid program of music by one of the best orchestras heard in this city the wonderful picture, "The Isle of Conquest," starring Norma Talmadge. The beautiful actress was given ample opportunity to score dramatically in this picture, ascending to the full height of her emotional talents she held the interest of everyone from beginning to end. Her versatility is generously drawn upon as she journeys through th roles of an innocent convent girl to an unhappy wifehood, and thence to a life of isolation upon a tropical island with a lone man companion, there to find complete happiness and contentment.

Ethel Harmon (Miss Talmadge) is the daughter of a society woman whose financial condition is none too sound. Realizing that she no longer has a hold on Van Surdam, a wealthy bachelor, Mrs. Harmon sponsors a match between the bachelor and her daughter. In an effort to spare her mother financial distress, Ethel marries the wealthy man.

While the girl is learning the real base character of her husband, John Arnold, once a successful young engineer, is also learning life. Having been jilted by a woman he loses all faith and ambition and is a stoker on the yacht upon which Ethel and her brutal husband are cruising.

The yacht is destroyed in mid-ocean, and Ethel and Arnold are cast upon an island. Then comes the gradual working out of the lives of the two. The woman learns the real worth of the man and through the womanliness of Ethel, Arnold's faith in her sex is restored. They are about to take down their distress signal as an indication of marriage when the rescuing party arrives and the story rushes to a dramatic end.

The atmosphere of the picture carried the air of good taste and good breeding at all times, with locale shifting from a fashionable boarding school of Palm Beach, and from other society centres to a tropical isle.

Coupled with this magnificent opening picture the management present an "Allen's Pictorial News" film of much interest; an "Outing Chester Travel" film., whereby the spectator is able to see in the comfort of the theatre scenes which otherwise would means days or even weeks of dreary travelling, and a comedy film "Sheriff Nell's Come-Back," a picture full of laughter-compelling situations.

The same bill will be presented today and on Wednesday at continuous matinee and night showings.

Out of respect to the late A. E. McClary, Mason & Risch, Limited, 248 Dundas street, will be closed on Tuesday, Feb. 24, from 1 o'clock in the afternoon. 40u

NEW CENTRAL SCHOOL PROPOSED AT INGERSOLL

Necessary $120,000 Debentures Will Be Sold Locally.

INGERSOLL, Feb. 23.—The chief item of business at a meeting of the board of education tonight was the adoption of the estimates for the year submitted by Chairman Ellis of the finance committee. These were adopted as presented. The total amount to be raised by assessment for the public school is $18,111. Of the amount required $14,875 is for teachers' salaries. For the collegiate institute the amount to be raised by assessment is $12,751. The board unanimously decided to co-operate with the town council in an effort to sell locally the $120,000 of debentures in connection with the proposed central school. Chief of Police Holmes was appointed school attendance officer at a salary of $50 per year.

From the family residence on Wellington street the funeral of Ex-Councillor Angus Morrison Sr., was held today. Rev. Father Gnam conducted the service at the Church of the Sacred Heart, and interment was made in the Roman Catholic cemetery. The pallbearers were Mayor James Henderson, Councillor J. E. Ferguson, Geo. Anderson, James Kierwin, Dennis Howe and William Ryan.

First American Watchmaker Was a Minister.

Did you know that a minister was the first American watchmaker? The story is told in the Merchants' Pocket Magazine. But more important to the people of London is the fact that four of the best watchmakers in America are at your service at John A. Nash, "My Jeweler's" store. He sells only the good watches that tell the truth. His store is 206 Dundas street, "where you will eventually buy." "Meet my jeweler and wear diamonds."

PARKHILL HIGH SCHOOL TO HONOR EX-STUDENTS

PARKHILL, Feb. 23.—The high school will place a memorial tablet in the school, on which will be inscribed all the names of former pupils who served in the late war. The list so far consists of 117 names. Of these 16 fell in action, 88 served in France, 13 served in Canada, and 3 served in England. Among the names are those of two lieutenant-colonels, six captains and nine lieutenants.

Mrs. John McRae of Bornish, who fell on the postoffice steps at Parkhill about six weeks ago and broke her hip, died on Wednesday.

Richard Hamilton of Keating, B. C., a former resident of Grand Bend, died recently. At one time he conducted a planing mill at Dashwood.

James Ferguson, at one time a resident of Grand Bend, died on January 15 at Vancouver.

Cause of Early Old Age
The celebrated Dr. Michenhoff, an authority on early old age, says that it is "caused by poisons generated in the intestine." When your stomach digests food properly it is absorbed without forming poisonous matter. Poisons bring on early old age and premature death; 15 to 30 drops of "Seigel's Syrup" after meals makes your digestion sound.

John H. Chapman & Co., London

The Ore Chimney Mining Co., Ltd.

Frontenac County, Township of Barrie

now owns 2,042 acres of mineral and timber lands, where 17 distinct veins have been located—development—staff-house, office, boarding-house, bunkhouse, stable, blacksmith shop, sawmill with 90,000 feet of lumber at the mill, and 40,000 feet of British Columbia cedar, 3 by 6, for the penstock; power-house, with three boilers of 300-horsepower, double shaft sunk to the depth of 408 feet. There are six levels, 2,000 feet drifting and cross-cutting; seven veins, 1 to 14 feet wide, have been cut through, stamp mill and separation plant ready for operation, with a capacity from 250 to 300 tons per day, and did run about 400 tons through, and gave good results in gold, silver, copper, lead and zinc. Test made on mill head gave $18.00 per ton, mill run. The war was on, and they could not get men to cut wood. Then the company decided to put in their own electric power plant, six big concrete dams, one 406 feet long and 18 feet high, one 484 feet long and 26 feet high. Only a small amount of work is required to finish the dams in the spring, which will give 50 feet head of water to run electric power plant when finished. Everything is being got ready to complete the plant in the spring or early summer.

Nineteen samples taken recently by parties who visited the mines, that average $128.50 in gold and silver, besides the copper, lead and zinc. These assays can be seen in the office at the mine.

Ore Chimney mines are not prospects, but development mines, estimated at 100,000 tons of ore blocked out and 20,000 in the dump.

We invite you to visit the mines and make a thorough investigation. Use your own good judgment and decide for yourself. This is an exceptional opportunity. Shares only 75 cents, and will soon advance.

Arrangement has been made with the company to handle a party of from three to six at the mine any week through the months of March and April, commencing March 9, from Woodstock, by C. P. R., leave 7:23 p.m., any Tuesday, $5.00 return fare. This special offer is to any shareholders or others who would like to go and investigate, to get up a party from three to six, that you may go to see that money has been well spent in development on our great mine. Secure your tickets from C. H. Siple, director of the company, 698 Dundas street, Woodstock, Ont. Phone 553w and arrange the date you can go, and I will go with the party.
