REV. WM. GREGG, D. D., DIES FROM PNEUMONIA

Was Formerly Pastor of Cooke's Church and Professor of Apologetics in Knox College.

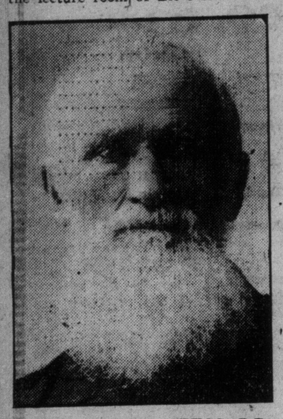
One of the pioneers of Canadian Presbyterianism passed away yesterday morning in the person of Rev. Wm. Gregg, D.D., a former pastor of Cooke's Church and professor of apologetics and church history in Knox College.

Dr. Gregg was taken ill with pneumonia a week ago, and as the disease developed it was evident that owing to his advanced age the patient could not recover. His mind was active up to the last. His widow, who is a daughter of Dr. Rufus Holden of Belleville, and several sons and daughters, survive.

A son, George A. Gregg, is educational director in the Y.M.C.A. in Seoul, Corea. His other sons are Wm. R. Gregg, architect, Toronto; Alfred H. Gregg, of Wickson & Gregg, architects; and R. Clement Gregg of Vancouver. Mrs. (Rev.) Alex. Stewart of Clinton, Ont., and Mabel Gregg of Toronto are daughters.

Dr. Gregg celebrated his diamond jubilee on May 10 last.

The members of the Toronto Presbytery have been called to meet in the lecture room of Bloor-street Presbyterian Church for the purpose of attending the funeral of the late Dr. Gregg. The funeral services will be held in the church, which Dr. Gregg attended, and interment will take place in the Necropolis.



REV. WILLIAM GREGG, D.D.
Professor of Apologetics and Church History in Knox College, Who Died on Wednesday.

Prof. Gregg was born at Killycreen, County Donegal, Ireland, July 5, 1817, and was educated at the Ramelton Classical School, after which he spent some years in mercantile life and banking. Resuming his studies he took the degree of B.A. at Glasgow University and his M.A. degree at Edinburgh, and afterwards took a theological course at the Free Presbyterian Church College in Edinburgh.

He was sent to Canada as a missionary by the Free Presbyterian Church in 1846, and after a year at Kingston he was ordained minister of John-street Presbyterian Church, Belleville, where he remained till called to Cooke's Church, Toronto, in 1857. In 1864 he was appointed lecturer in apologetics at Knox College, and he also taught the theological class of the Presbyterian College, Montreal, during the first half of its first session in 1867. In 1861 he was appointed moderator of the Free Presbyterian Church of Canada. In that year that branch was united with the United Presbyterian Church of Canada. In 1872 he was appointed professor of apologetics at Knox College, and resigned his charge to devote all his time to his new work. He resigned the chair in 1895. The degree of D.D. was conferred upon him by Hanover University, U.S., in 1878.

Professor Gregg was the author of several works, among them being "The History of the Presbyterian Church in Canada," and a "Book of Prayer for Family Worship."
