Capt. Ian Hay Beith Tells Of War as It Really is

Captain Ian Hay Beith will deliver his lecture on "The First Hundred Thousand" at Massey Hall, on the evening of Tuesday, January 2nd.
Captain Beith is better known to the reading world under his pen name

In his lecture he presents the force and combination of literary man and soldier and he is able to tell of the big war from the soldier's point of view and yet in the words of a literary man. As a rule lectures have been delivered by correspondents who have merely seen operations from a distance, but Captain Belth comes to tell us what it feels like to take part in a bayonet charge and to find one-self left alone in "No Man's Land." To listen to this soldier, who won his commission in the regiment, and the military cross for bravery in the field, is a real privilege.
