FABIO ROMANI

Of the many novels published yearly few if any are allowed to pass unread by dramatic writers, who are ever on the look out for new material for stage use. The publication of Marie Carelli's novel, "The Vendetta" several years ago, proved a boon to aspiring and struggling dramatists and several plays were evolved from the book and presented to the public. The story was so strong that it is a matter of theatrical history that not one complete failure was recorded, and it is also a matter of dramatic history that one version of "The Vendetta" scored one of the most pronounced and novel phenomenal successes ever accorded a play in America. The dramatization is known as "Fabio Romani" and is as popular today with theatre lovers as it was at its initial performance twenty years ago, and from indications the value of the play is on the increase judging from the crowded houses that have greeted it everywhere it has been presented on its present tour. That the adaptation was a good one has since been proved by the record of "Fabio Romani." Every situation, every climax, every line retained is absolutely necessary to the play as now presented and there is no finer example of book dramatization extant on the English speaking stage. A company of superior worth and importance has been engaged for the present tour and a lavish outlay of money for scenic effects and accessories has been indulged in. "Fabio Romani" will be presented for the approval of amusement goers on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week.

GRAND LODGE DATE CHANGED

Grand Lodge K. of P. Will Probably Meet in August Instead of September.

Though it is not yet definitely known it is probable that the date of meeting of the Grand Lodge, Knights of Pythias, of the maritime provinces will be changed from the second Tuesday in September to Tuesday, August 28th, as it is expected that Supreme Chancellor Shively of St. Paul, will then pay an official visit to this domain. The Supreme Chancellor has written to Grand Chancellor H. L. Gunter that expects to arrive about that time and asked to have arrangements made if possible to have the date of meeting of the Grand Lodge changed to that date. It is some time since the Supreme Chancellor has made a visit to this section of the country and about satisfactory arrangements he made it will be a gala occasion for the Knights. A joint committee from the two local lodges has been appointed to consider ways and means of entertaining the grand lodge members and the committee of uniform rank and it is a foregone conclusion that the St. John, K. P.'s will give the visitors a grand time.

WORK AMONG YOUNG PEOPLE

Was Principal Subject of Discussion at this Morning's Session of Presbyterial.

Another session of the St. John Presbyterian Women's Foreign Missionary Society was held in St. David's church this morning. Mrs. Hunter Boyd, secretary of the Young People's work, read her report. Thirty-one hands have been enrolled, an increase of five over last year; two new ones at Calvin church, a guild at Milltown, and senior girls' band at Andrew's church, St. John and Warweg. There have been 420 leaflets and booklets distributed to the presidents each month. The Message also has been very useful and helpful. There has been an increase in senior hands this year. The presidents and secretaries are in need of help and the secretary has written over 60 letters. The report was adopted. The number of members is more than last year, aggregating about eight hundred and fifty. They have raised in money $994.32, value in boxes and barrels, $50, making a total of $1,044.32. The report of the Young People's work showed a grand total of $1,022.72 receipts. Following this came a paper on "The Importance of Missionary Education for the Young," which was discussed. This was followed by an address by Mrs. Foster.

THE IRISH PAWN BROKERS

"The Irish Pawnbrokers," that famous high producer, will be the attraction at the Opera House Monday next. This is the fourth successful season of this reigning humorist, and is said to be so enjoyable that it has been called the original comedy-remains. Manager Spears, ever wide awake, realized that the public, who they want to laugh, like some consistency of story. He therefore engaged Edgar Selden, the noted young farce writer, to write him an entirely new fourth edition of "The Irish Pawnbrokers." In this new edition the laugh comes from the amusing complications and funny situations in which the piece abounds. There are well defined plots with some reason for everything that occurs. The audience sees this, and therefore, the laugh comes naturally and is all the more enjoyable. The celebrated farce comedy stars Murphy and Mack lead the list as the chief fun-makers. The musical programme has been prepared with great care, all the latest popular songs as well as some new numbers especially written for the company are introduced during the action of the piece, also many specialties by the company—many of whom are prominent recruits from vaudeville.

THE FISH MARKET

Indications point to a good variety of fish being obtainable for tomorrow's trade. Harbor salmon are just about commencing to come in and the price is now very reasonable. The catch at Lorneville the last day or two has been very good. "Shad" are scarce, especially up-river, and the catches have been very light. Gasperaux have been very plentiful the past few days and fishermen are feeling more hopeful. The prices for tomorrow will be—Halibut, 12c. lb.; shad, 20c. to 30c. each; haddock (very large), 25c. each; harbor salmon, 20c. to 30c. lb.; cod and haddock, 2c. lb.; gasperaux, 2c. dozen; smelt, 10c.; lobster (small), 10c. (large), 25c. to 35c. There will be the usual supply of mackerel and salt fish.

THE LITTLE HEIRESS

The Connors Stock Company produced the Little Heiress to a fair sized audience at the Opera House last night. The various members of the cast were well received and were frequently applauded during the performance. The specialties were good, and most of the artists were accorded enthusiastic encores. The same play will be given tonight with a change of specialties.
