

General Regulations.

1. "Sessions and Presbyteries are enjoined to make diligent and careful enquiry whether any young men are to be found within their bounds whose attention should be specially directed to the claims of Christ upon them with respect to the ministry of His Church, to aid and encourage in all proper ways suitable young men who may declare their purpose to consecrate themselves to this sacred vocation, and watchfully keep their eye upon any who are prosecuting a liberal education, and whose piety and abilities make it desirable that their thoughts should be turned towards the ministerial office."
2. "It is the duty of Presbyteries to examine all who present themselves as wishing to enter upon the study of Theology respecting their moral and religious character, their motives, and their general fitness to study for the ministry. If satisfied, the Presbytery certifies them to the Senate of the College which they propose to attend."
3. "Students on entering Theology, or on intimating their purpose to study for the ministry, must be members of the Church in full communion; and all such students are required, during their course, to be in communion with some congregation of the Church in the place where they are prosecuting their studies."
4. Students may enter on the study of Theology as graduates in Arts, or as passmen in subjects of the Arts Course required by the Church, or as undergraduates of the third or fourth year in Arts.
5. The subjects required of passmen are English Literature, Latin (two sessions), Greek (two sessions), Mathematics, Physics, Logic, Metaphysics, and Ethics.
6. When a student does not produce pass certificates in any of these subjects he shall be examined therein by the Senate's examining committee. In order that a student may enter upon the affiliated course he shall produce pass certificates in English Literature, Latin (two sessions), Greek (two sessions), Mathematics and Logic. Should he fail to produce pass certificates in any of these subjects he shall be examined therein by the Senate's examining committee before the end of September.
