REVENUE MEN SEIZE LIQUOR

Two Caches Located by Customs Officers Near Black's Harbor.

Three Trucks Sent From City to Bring Alleged Contraband Here.

Two caches of alleged contraband liquor were located by three local customs officers early this morning in the woods some distance below Black's Harbor and trucks were sent to bring the confiscated "wet goods" to the bonded warehouse here. A partial report of seizure was made to Collector C. B. Lockhart.

The liquor, which is alleged to have been landed from a rum-runner cruising off the coast near Black's Harbor, was in small kegs and the first cache located, it is said, contained 20 kegs. This was discovered after a search by Customs Officer J. H. B. Wright, assisted by Officers Douglas, Thompson and O'Brien Cole. A second search of the vicinity brought a further quantity of liquor to light.

When interviewed this afternoon, Collector Lockhart said that he had received word of the seizure and added that he had despatched a truck to bring the cache early this morning, but later word caused him to send two additional trucks to bring the liquor to Saint John. He said that he had not received particulars of the capture. So far as it could be ascertained this afternoon no arrests have been made.

PENDER EMPLOYEES TO WORK OVERTIME FREE TO HOLD MARKETS

Co-operate With Management in Effort to Cut Production Costs to Compete With Foreign Goods in Export Field—Will Share Profits.

A NOVEL and unusual development in co-operative action between employers and employees was reached here yesterday when the employees of James Pender & Co., Ltd., manufacturers of nails and wire products, and a subsidiary of the British Empire Steel Corporation, presented a resolution at a conference with the management, expressing their willingness to work overtime without pay in order to permit the company to compete with foreign manufacturers in export markets.

W. F. Knoll, manager of the company, this morning confirmed the fact that this agreement had been reached. He said that a few weeks ago word came to him that European firms were underbidding Canadian prices to a great extent on account of the low rates of exchange in some of the export fields. This was discovered after a search by marketing the products from this country.

The matter was discussed at one of the council meetings between the management and employees of the Pender Company and a suggestion made that, if the cost of production were cut sufficiently by free overtime work, the local firm might be able to compete with the foreign manufacturers. The men asked for a few days to consider the proposition and yesterday returned with the announcement that they were prepared to try the experiment in order to hold the market for the company and thus keep the wheels turning in the regular hours of work.

The proposition is made that should any profit accrue from the export business under this arrangement it will be shared between the company and the employees on a 75-25 per cent. basis, the big end of the division going to the men.

It is planned that, for a start, the men will put in three extra hours twice a week. At the present time about 80 men are affected by the arrangement.

DISCUSSED IN COUNCIL.

The matter was discussed at one of the council meetings between the management and employees of the Pender Company and a suggestion made that, if the cost of production were cut sufficiently by free overtime work, the local firm might be able to compete with the foreign manufacturers. The men asked for a few days to consider the proposition and yesterday returned with the announcement that they were prepared to try the experiment in order to hold the market for the company and thus keep the wheels turning in the regular hours of work.

ACTION COMMENDED.

Mr. Knoll, in conversation with a Times-Star reporter today, said that, while the co-operative scheme had been in effect in the Pender plant for the last three years, this was a most unusual development and it spoke highly for the fine spirit of the men in the organization. He said that, so far as he knew, the arrangement was an unheard of one in Canada, and he felt that it should have very effective results.

Magistrate Comments On Case of Young Girl

A pitiable case came before Magistrate Henderson in the Police Court this morning when a young girl was charged with being a loose, idle person with no visible means of support. The magistrate said that in his experience he had seen fewer regrettable cases than this one and after hearing the evidence, he remanded accused for sentence. Sergt. Sullivan gave evidence that at the request of the parents he had located the girl after she had been absent from home for several weeks. This is the second time accused was before the court on a similar charge.
