THE COTTON MARKET; LOOK BACKWARD AND GLANCE AHEAD

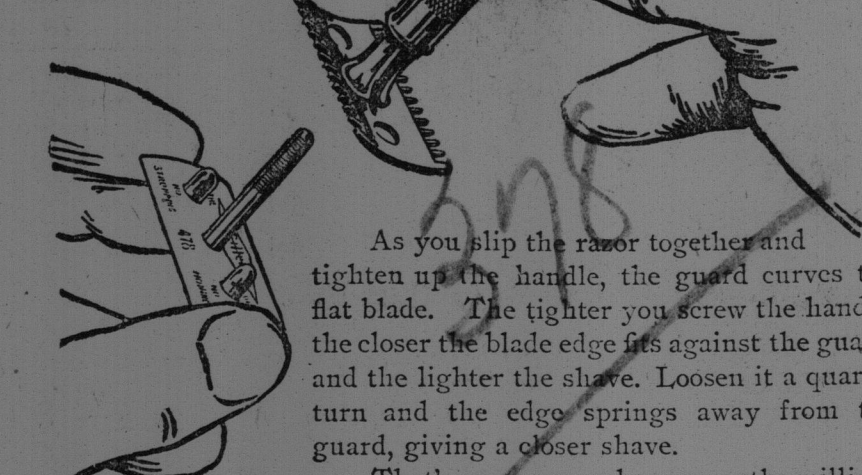

(From E. & C. Randolph's Weekly Market Letter furnished by J. M. Robinson & Sons). New York, Nov. 24.—Nothing has occurred during the last week to indicate any change in the factors which dominate the present situation. Briefly expressed, the world is getting all the cotton it needs around the present level of prices—on the other hand, the south has been able to hold all receipts in excess of such requirements, with the result that we have a market in which support develops on every little dip, but which meets increased offerings on subsequent advances.

The question is whether the south will be able to continue this holding movement, which is resulting in further accumulations in the interior, or whether the surplus must not eventually become a burden on the market. We must confess surprise that the south

See that Flexible, Adjustable GILLETTE Blade?

Note the curve that gives the automatic adjustment.

As you slip the razor together and tighten up the handle, the guard curves the flat blade. The tighter you screw the handle, the closer the blade edge fits against the guard, and the lighter the shave. Loosen it a quarter turn and the edge springs away from the guard, giving a closer shave.

That's one reason why, among the millions of GILLETTE users, with every conceivable variety of beard and skin, each one finds the GILLETTE suits his face exactly. That's one reason why

The Gillette will suit Your Face exactly.

THE SUFFRAGETTE LEADER

This is Mrs. Pethick Lawrence, leader of the Suffragettes, whose disturbances resulted in the arrest of more than 200 of them in London this week. Mrs. Lawrence is editor of the publication, "Votes for Women," which sounded the call for the demonstration. She was sentenced to imprisonment.

has been able to hold, as it has during the height of the marketing season and British operators who predicted first a break as soon as October commitments were out of the way, and then as a result of financial obligations due this month, have not seen any result from their theories. Some of our well posted southern friends now tell us that the south financially is able to hold—but we have still to see the test of holders which will be afforded by the usual disposition to secure funds for over the holidays; and again as the farmers begin to reap their crop work during the later winter and early spring. The south with its big holdings continues to dominate the situation, and if holders continue their present policy the prospect would seem to be for a dragging market around the present level of prices. Unless future winning returns indicate that the trade is seriously over-estimating the crop, the big surplus supply should constitute an effective obstacle to sustained advance. This, in itself, would seem a logical argument against any effort to bull the market, and with little or nothing, apparently, to be gained on the bull side, the policy of selling on sharp advances is still favored by a possibility of increased southern offerings, as any sign of weakening among spot holders would hardly fail to exert a material influence on future. The December situation here appears to be gradually working out with adjustment from the south increasing, and with the concentrated long interest reducing. This action of the revision committee last Wednesday seems to have given quite general satisfaction, and while it is too early to form any opinion as to its ultimate effect in reference to determining the relative value of contracts as compared with middling cotton, it evidently has not been found out of line with present conditions.

CHINESE WOMEN SOLVED IT

A woman missionary in China was taking tea with a mandarin's eight wives. The Chinese ladies examined her clothing, her hair, her teeth and so on, but her feet especially amazed them.

"Why," cried one, "you can walk and run as well as a man."

"Yes, to be sure," cried the missionary. "Can you ride a horse and swim, too?"

"Yes."

"Then you must be as strong as a man."

"I am."

"And you wouldn't let a man beat you—not even if he was your husband—would you?"

"Indeed I wouldn't," the missionary said.

The mandarin's eight wives looked at one another, nodding their heads. Then the eldest said softly:

"Now I understand why the foreign devil never has more than one wife. He is afraid!"—Tientsin (China) News.

There is an agreeable refreshing sensation and feeling of exhilaration. The skin soon becomes firmer and more youthful looking, flabbiness and all wrinkles are immediately affected.
