"ALL MY FAULT" SAYS FRED. GOSS

He Pleads for Mercy for His Paramour.

A Remarkable Story of Unhappy Married Life Told in Police Court This Morning.

Frederick Goss, who is charged by his wife with adultery and for whom the police have been on the look out for several days, walked quietly into the central police station late yesterday afternoon and gave himself up. After all other business had been disposed of in the police court this morning Goss and Bessie Patience Hutchings, with whom Goss has been living in a high street, were brought into court.

The charge was read to Goss, who is a tall well built man about 37 years of age. He asked his honor if he might state all the facts in connection with his case as he considered the circumstances extenuating. His speech was a remarkable story told in a remarkable way, impartial it seemed, except that at intervals he dwelt strongly on the fact that his real wife had driven him from home with curses and a hatchet. Of the woman who was the bench at his side, who was the mother of the children of his later years and who broke forth into occasional sobs and tears even at time being so over-come as to walk up and down crying hysterically, he had nothing but good words to say, she was a good house-keeper, a good wife and mother and if anyone was to suffer he wanted to shoulder the entire blame.

Goss commenced his story by a reference to the bank failures in Newfoundland some years ago. At that time he had a house, some property and a fishing schooner. With the financial depression he found it impossible to continue his fishing operations. He finally lost his schooner and then things not being as pleasant as they might be, he decided to leave the island and go to the States to seek his fortune.

Before going he put nine barrels of flour in the house and a quantity of other provisions. He left the property so his wife could do as she wished with it and gave her a small piece of money, each of his children $20 in gold.

He worked in the United States and Nova Scotia at various places. He made three trips home, always taking with him money. One son was working and all was well. When he came back when he went back his wife chased him from the house, telling him to get out and he left.

Pointing to the Hutchings woman, he said: "It was then I decided that girl. We had a sort of marriage, perhaps not legal, but she thought it so. If I did wrong I am willing to abide by the mercy of the law, be it before Judge Ritchie or any other judge. The world knows not what I previously suffered. I made a wife of that girl and she has been a good wife."

Mr. Goss then went on to tell of his moving here from Nova Scotia. Here he worked on the new C. R. terminus and when that work was completed he went to Boston to see his wife and children, having been informed that they had moved there from Newfoundland. He wanted to see his wife about some of his money which he had sent and had a great longing to see his children. Altogether he made three trips to Boston. On the first trip his wife gave him $32. The idea was that he and the second boy, who was to put one hundred dollars in the house and a small piece of property in the country where all would have a home. Two weeks ago he came back to St. John. He was true that his wife gave him any money on this occasion. While there he boarded with her family. It was on this trip in consequence of a visit from his last winter, who assured him that if he would come and live with her he could spend his days in "walking around" and would always have a dollar in his pocket. He did not see her for a long time. He was paid his board, and even when coming away, having told his daughter, he would visit a parish once in three years, he did not hold it, but made it a point to visit every year or once in two years at least.

The Synod then adjourned. Before the Synod session the executive committee held a meeting and transacted routine business, re-appointing the old committees for the ensuing year.

The Synod will meet next year in St. John.

TWO YOUNG MEN REPORTED DROWNED AT GRAND BAY.

James Malcolm, of This City, and George Usher, of Grand Bay, the Victims — Efforts to Resuscitate.

For about six hours frantic friends have been working over the bodies of two young men who were drawn from waters of the St. John river shortly after nine o'clock this morning. At three o'clock, though no signs of life were apparent and hope had about all gone, the efforts at resuscitation were still being continued. The young men are James Malcolm, third son of Andrew Malcolm, of St. John, and George Usher, of Grand Bay, a lad well known in this city.

This city was never asked to mourn a young life than that which went out when James Malcolm, third son of Andrew Malcolm, was, together with a companion, George Usher, of Grand Bay, drowned in the St. John river this morning.

According to the facts at hand, Malcolm, who as a ministerial student, had pastoral charge of the Grand Bay Presbyterian church during the summer months, started shortly before nine o'clock this morning to bathe at Vaie's Cove, about three quarters of a mile this side of Grand Bay. With him was George Usher, the son of William Usher, of Grand Bay standing near watched them, made out to a raft anchored a short distance out in the cove and dived, almost together. The boy waited for them to re-appear. They must be making a very long dive he thought. Still he waited and they did not come up. Minutes passed and, frightened, the boy gave the alarm.

Neighbors who hurried to the scene were inclined to doubt the boy's story until they saw the two heads of the young men protruding from the water. A glimmer of white showed on the bottom six feet down. He came and, plunging in, drew the body of one of the young men to the surface. While frantic efforts at resuscitation were being made the search was continued and after very little delay the other was brought up. A few feet away from the first body were apparently dead the attempts at resuscitation were continued.

DIOCESAN SYNOD.

The Closing Session Held at Fredericton This Morning — Will Meet in St. John Next Year.

FREDERICTON, N. B., July 8.—The synod concluded its session this morning. Dean Partridge and A. C. Fairweather were elected as governors of the King's College and Justice Hamilton trustee of Edgemoor School, Windsor. A special committee on the Clergy W. M. Jarvis, H. B. Scofield, A. Fairweather, C. E. L. Jarvis, J. R. Campbell, F. J. G. Knowlton, W. E. Smith was re-elected treasurer at $600 salary and traveling expenses. Canon Newman secretary at $200 salary and travelling expenses.

The usual votes of thanks were passed. In moving a vote of thanks to the Bishop, Justice Hamilton spoke of the kind and impartial manner in which His Lordship had presided. All were delighted to see him once more restored to health and hoped that his health would continue good so that in future he may be able to visit his people and attend to his arduous duties.

The Bishop made a feeling reply, that he rather regretted that he had not been able to visit the synod in the past. He said he had suffered much in the past from illness, but he felt now quite restored and that in the future he would be able to devote more time to the great service of the church. Though the canon only required him to visit a parish once in three years, he did not hold it, but made it a point to visit every year or once in two years at least.

The Synod then adjourned. Before the Synod session the executive committee held a meeting and transacted routine business, re-appointing the old committees for the ensuing year.

The Synod will meet next year in St. John.

and at the time of going to press were still going on. Meanwhile the bitter news was sent to Andrew Malcolm in this city, and to Fairville. Two of the former's other sons at once started for Grand Bay to make arrangements for the bringing of their brother's body to the city.

The cause of the accident is unexplained, as both young men were good swimmers, the only theory is that they must have struck their heads on a bottom as they dove and so have been stunned. Such an occurrence has been a not infrequent cause of drowning. A brilliant young Kings' College graduate, Mr. Ancient, lost his life in a similar way in Halifax a couple of years ago.

James Malcolm, who was in his twenty-third year, was well and popularly known in this city. He has taken his arts degree from Dalhousie University and has been taking his theological course at Fine Hill College, Halifax, preparatory to entrance upon the Presbyterian ministry. He has always prominently associated himself with athletics both at home and college. For some time he was captain of the football team at Dalhousie. Since the closing of Dalhousie University he has been filling a pastorate at Grand Bay.

As soon as word reached the city this morning of the fatality, the three brothers of the unfortunate young man, Douglas, John and Donald, hastened to Grand Bay. The last telegram from them was to the effect that James was still living and that every effort was being made to resuscitate him. The telegram, however, did not hold out much hopes of recovery.

George Usher is a nephew of Mrs. Wellington Green, Winter street. He was living with her for four years and only left for his home in Grand Bay yesterday. He has just completed his school and is now preparing for a course of medical study. His death is the fourth in the Usher family in a short time.

BRYAN'S VICTORY.

The Democrat's Refuse to Accept Gold Standard as Part of Their Platform.

ST. LOUIS, July 8.—When the National Democratic convention re-assembled on the third day's session today, it was hoped by the leaders that work might be concluded today, and a final adjournment taken.

They remained to be accomplished the adoption of a platform and the nomination of candidates for president and vice-president. It was appreciated that this might require three sessions, the last running into the day of the party platform and a number of conferences were held to consider the question of a candidate for the second place on the ticket. But the feature of the early hours of the day was the knocking out by the committee on resolutions of the gold plank, which had been put in the platform. The exciting contests which marked the session of the committee throughout the night and the action on the gold plank was the talk of the morning hours. As the delegates argued their first inquiry as to what the resolutions committee had done. W. J. Bryan, they learned, not only scored in the fight on the money plank, but secured a modification of the tariff plank. When it was learned that the gold plank had been voted out, it was anticipated that the fight over the platform would be waged with greater vigor than had been counted upon, as there was promise of stirring that would mark a climax.

RUSSIANS WIN AT PORT ARTHUR

Jap Defeat in Naval Battle Reported.

700 Japs Killed and Wounded in Night Attack — Baltic Fleet Will Sail.

JAPS LOSE HEAVILY.

LIAO YANG, Thursday, June 7.—In the recent night attack at Hoi Yan, the Japanese lost 200 killed and 500 wounded.

JAPANESE PLANS.

LIAO YANG, July 7.—General Kuroki, talking to a Russian officer who had been taken prisoner, said the Japanese intend to take possession of southern Manchuria, establishing themselves at Port Arthur and Yin Row (the port of New Chwang) which is the port of the Japanese navy. The cause of the accident is unexplained, as both young men were good swimmers, the only theory is that they must have struck their heads on a bottom as they dove and so have been stunned. Such an occurrence has been a not infrequent cause of drowning. A brilliant young Kings' College graduate, Mr. Ancient, lost his life in a similar way in Halifax a couple of years ago.

KUROKI'S ADVANCE.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 8, 1.30 p. m.—A special despatch from New Chwang dated yesterday, says General Kuroki is advancing all along the line and adds that a persistent rumor is current there to the effect that a naval engagement has occurred at Port Arthur in which twenty-one Japanese warships participated, resulting in a Russian victory.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 8, 1.30 p. m.—It is reported in a special despatch from Liao Yang under yesterday's date that a persistent rumor is current there to the effect that a naval engagement has occurred at Port Arthur in which twenty-one Japanese warships participated, resulting in a Russian victory. A similar report was current at Liao Yang, July 5, the location of the engagement then being given as northward of Gensan, Korea.

BALTIC FLEET WILL SAIL.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 8, 1.30 p. m.—Advice are that the Baltic squadron will sail from Cronstadt July 28 under sealed orders. Complete mystery surrounds its destination. It is said that the orders for the division will be opened at five day intervals.

Whether the warships are bound at once for the far east may depend on naval developments at the seat of war, but it seems unlikely that the division will start on its long journey until the other ships are ready. It is understood the division will include the armored cruiser Admiral Maklinoff, the battleship Osilia and Alexander III, the protected cruiser Aurora and possibly the battleship Navarin. The transport Kamotatka. Great stocks of charts were put on board the Admiral Maklinoff, the Osilia and the Aurora yesterday. The general naval situation with the Port Arthur squadron ready for sorties at will and the Vladivostok squadron embarrassing the Japanese transport plans, compelling the constant presence of Vice-Admiral Kamimura in the Sea of Korea, considered to have much improved. There is elation everywhere over the latest successful cruise of the latter.
