

IN PULPIT AND PEW

PRESBYTERIAN

At least four of the presbyteries of Maritime Synod will hold quarterly sessions on Tuesday, September 12, at Miramichi, St. John, Inverness and Wallace.

Arrangements are well started for the entertainment of delegates to the Maritime Synod in the town of Truro, N. S., which holds its first session on Tuesday evening, October 3, in First Presbyterian Church. J. D. MacKay is secretary of the local committee, and ministers and elders expecting to attend are requested to forward their names not later than September 23rd. The Women's Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, eastern section, will hold annual meeting in St. John, N. B., September 27-28. To this annual meeting come the officers of the society, and delegates both from the presbyteries and from the auxiliaries. The first test of the bachelors within the bounds is entitled to send its president, secretary and treasurer of young people's work, and secretary of the 370 auxiliaries and 234 mission bands is entitled to send its president or a delegate. The attendance at the annual meeting held in New Glasgow, N. S., a year ago was 224. The board of management, which is composed of the officers of the society and the presidents of auxiliaries, will meet for business on the evening preceding the meeting of the society. Mrs. A. W. Thomson of Pictou is president. Miss Beattie Wall is of Halifax, recording secretary and Mrs. D. Blackwood, Halifax, treasurer. The meetings will be held in St. David's Church.

Many of his former friends both in the ministry and in the congregations which he served, are expected to be present. He will mourn the tragic death of Rev. E. B. Rankine of Whitekirk, Scotland. He and his brother, Professor Rankine of Glasgow University, were both drowned while bathing, August 21st. Mr. Rankine was a native of Scotland, but exercised his ministry for several years in Nova Scotia, his pastorates being St. John's Church, Stellarton and Falmouth Street Church, Sydney, preceding in this latter charge Dr. W. H. Smith, late of Fredericton, N. B. His term of service in Sydney extended from 1882 to 1903. He was a man of many early attainments and sterling character. He leaves a widow, formerly Miss Jennie McIntosh of New Glasgow, N. S.

"Doing my bit" is the theme of an attractive "order of service" prepared for use in the churches of the Maritime Synod. The order of service for the last Sabbath of September, which has come to be popularly regarded as "Relief Day." The programme is divided into two main parts: (1) an order of worship, (2) a programme of work. Besides the usual order of service, the service is replete with helpful suggestions as to how scholars, young and old may "do their bit" in the church and the community day by day. There are now nearly 500,000 scholars, teachers and mothers in over 3,000 Sunday Schools, and religious instruction and over 55,000 members of over 1,900 young people's societies throughout the church.

Many instances of a commendatory nature have been made in the editorial columns of both the religious and secular press during the past few years of the recent assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada to enter with the Methodist and Congregational churches into the United Church of Canada. Journals of note on both sides of the Atlantic have paid their tribute to this action, which is a forward move in the social and religious life of Canada. Much evidence has been given of general satisfaction with the decision throughout Canadian Presbyterianism itself. It will be remembered, however, that there were some members of the assembly who could not see their way to agree with the decision of the majority and lodged their protest against its action. It is now announced that there is to be a convocation of these and others of like mind with them throughout the church to be held in Toronto, beginning on October 17 and to continue for three days, to discuss the situation and consider what further steps, if any, may be taken to oppose the action of the assembly. Some activity has been shown along this line in Toronto, and in Vancouver, where local committees have been formed as rally centres for the cause. Rev. Andrew Robertson, D.D., of St. James Square Church, is chairman, and Rev. J. W. McNamara is secretary of the local committee in Toronto.

Among the matters to be considered by the presbytery of St. John at its regular meeting next Tuesday, will be a call from the congregation of St. Paul's Church, Fredericton, extended to Rev. J. S. Sutherland of St. Andrew's Church, St. John's, Nfld. The congregation has been vacant since June last, and it is hoped that the call thus given will issue in a settlement at an early date. Mr. Sutherland has been six years in his present charge, and holds a well-merited place of leadership in the church at large. St. Paul's church offers a splendid field of service and influence. Dr. W. H. Smith, its former pastor, is now in St. John's Church, Vancouver. Rev. R. H. Staver of Norton, dispensed the Communion of the Lord's Supper last Sabbath in the mission fields of Salina, Barnesville and Golden Grove. The attendance at each of the three services was large and appreciative interest was manifest. At the Salina service three new communicants were received and fourteen children baptized, while at Golden Grove three new communicants were received and one child baptized. F. H. Anderson and Angus Gillis, student missionaries in their respective fields, will shortly return to college, after a faithful summer's work.

Rev. J. W. Woodside of Chalmers

Church, Toronto, has with his wife been a visitor among friends in Campbellton, N. B.

Rev. and Mrs. T. P. Drumm and family of Moncton, spent a fortnight at Old Orchard Beach, Me., in August. Rev. W. A. Ross, general secretary of the S. S. Association, has been called to his home in Pictou County, N. S., because of the serious illness of his father.

Rev. Frederick McNeill of Grandville, Vt., U. S. A., was a recent visitor to St. John, N. B.

Rev. G. A. Sutherland of Kennington, P. E. I., has accepted a call to Wilkie, Sask., and will leave his present congregation at the end of September.

Rev. John Hardwick of St. Matthew's Church, St. John, and Rev. A. J. Langlois of Lorneville, exchanged pulpits last Sabbath.

Rev. Norman McQueen of Somerville, Mass., occupied the pulpit of St. David's Church, St. John, last Sabbath. He has recently visited his former home in Cape Breton.

Rev. Andrew Burrows, D.D., conducted services in Hampton, Hammond River and Rothesay last Sabbath.

Rev. F. S. Dowling of St. Andrew's Church, St. John, addressed the young people's society of St. John's Church, Moncton, on Tuesday evening.

METHODIST

In the annual report of the Central Church, Moncton, the pastor says: "We have ended another year's work with a gratifying evidence of success. Our congregations have been well sustained. The liberality of the people has increased. Every department of the church's activities has fully sustained the high standard of other years. The building of our new church is affording to many an opportunity for liberal sacrifice, which is not only highly commendable, but will react in good influence upon all our people."

Miss Ella M. Stanley, daughter of Rev. E. S. Stanley of New England Southern Conference, has been appointed instructor in French and English at Mount Allison Ladies' College, Sackville. Miss Stanley graduated from Oberlin, took master's degree at Columbia and studied for a time abroad. She taught for a time in some of the Methodist Episcopal schools in the United States.

The Lord Mayor of London, England, Sir Charles Wakefield, a leading Methodist, has invited representatives of all the churches from the Archbishop of Canterbury to the Head of the Salvation Army, to assemble in Conference with a view to bringing about a broad basis, and has suggested that "the two foundation commandments of the Christian religion are to love God, and to love to our fellow men."

Rev. T. J. Delnatte will occupy the pulpit of the Carleton Methodist Church, next Sunday, and possibly another. Rev. John W. Wadman, D.D., is expected in the city soon, and his many friends will be glad to see him, and listen to his eloquence again.

The Rev. Henry Penna, who has been visiting Halifax and other places, is in the city for a few days, and will early next week leave for the West, on an extended trip.

Dr. S. D. Chown has been attending the Chautauqua Assembly, and has written a very interesting article in the "American Mind," in this interesting feature in history. "I attended a meeting of the Women's Peace Party, and saw an opportunity of contributing to the mixture of opinion by expressing the present robust Canadian view. . . . The present infinite tangle of circumstances makes it necessary for a finite mind to cut the gordian knot as best he may. For myself it is enough to know that Christ as I perceive Him, would not stand with limp hands if a ruthless soldier should attempt to outrage His holy mother as women of Belgium were violated. To Him all motherhood is sacred; nor would He retreat and give place to the armed burglar, breaking with murderous intent into His home; nor would He witness without an effort to prevent it, the destruction of the civil and religious liberty which His teaching has enthroned in our British Empire. His manhood is with Him in the world, and I believe Canada is right in this war."

BAPTIST

Dr. A. C. Dixon has celebrated the fifth anniversary of his pastorate of the Metropolitan Tabernacle, London. The work has never been more prosperous. Indeed, it is more prosperous than ever before since the days of Mr. Spurgeon. The great charities of the Tabernacle are suffering because of the war strain and the absence of many supporters who are at the front. The Pastor's College is in great need of $7,500. Friends in America who have been blessed by Mr. Spurgeon's or Dr. Dixon's ministry would do a noble deed by sending a check to Dr. Dixon for the Pastors' College.

The Northern Baptist convention at the Minneapolis meeting adopted the following resolution:—Resolved, That as a denomination which has always been recruited from the working and middle classes of society, and holding in our membership large numbers of those who toil for a livelihood; recognizing also the fact that the labor question is one that can be settled on the basis of democracy and common justice, which have always been guiding principles of our denominational life, we hereby express our belief in the following applications of these principles: (1) The right of labor to organize; (2) The right of labor to deal with capital on the basis of collective bargaining, reserving the right of every man to sell his labor as he will; (3) The right of labor to an increasing share in the profits of the labor; (4) The right of labor to the best and latest form of welfare work; (5) The right of labor to the various kinds of compensation and social insurance which have now passed in other countries and in some states of our Union beyond the experimental state into social duties; (6) The right of capital and labor alike to all the best kinds of publicity, arbitration and social helpfulness.

In his address of welcome to the Northern convention of Minneapolis Dr. Crandall said: "We welcome you as sharers of a common faith and heirs with us of an inspiring legacy of loyalty to religious democracy and devotion to Jesus Christ. We can neither forget nor content ourselves with the unselfish service of the fathers. With gratitude we recall their heroic fight in behalf of religious liberty, and their insistence upon the lordship of Jesus Christ. From learning our responsibility, their sacrificial faithfulness makes clear our duty and sets before us an inspiring standard of spiritual attainment. 'New occasions teach new duties,' and we recall the past that we may find strength for present tasks. We are reminded of the loyalty of those who have gone before us. The world has not outgrown its need for the testimony which it has been the privilege of Baptists to give. So long as, in the name of religion, men or creeds are placed between a human soul and God, so long as magic displaces personal faith, so long will our mission as a denomination be unaccompanied."

It cannot be too much emphasized that the proposals of Dr. J. H. Shakespear as expounded at Bradford are not for an organic union, but for a federation which will leave to each constituent body full autonomy. These are days when nations, commercial organizations and armies have discovered that they can only move to victory through mutual consultation and cooperation, and the demand for a similar alliance amongst the churches is rapidly becoming irresistible.

Dr. Clifford, preaching at Westbourne Park Chapel on Sunday, August 6, on the teachings of the second year of the great war, said we were in the third year in a more confident and hopeful mood. The tide had turned, and we were winning. We had still a gigantic task before us, but we should hold on until victory came. The growing and increasing sense of personal responsibility had been shown in the splendid rally of our young manhood freely, gladly, and heroically to serve the great cause for which we were fighting, and by the heroic patriotism of the womanhood of the country.

The Springfield Republican thus describes one of Dr. Woolfink's sermons at Northfield: "Dr. Cornelius Woolfink delivered the second of a course of inspiring lectures on 'The Law of Sin.' He said that in the spiritual life we are in a civil war, going on. It is the law of self-interest, and it must be overcome if there is to be salvation. But to accomplish this some other law, some more potent force, must be found which will set itself against the law of sin and overcome it. There is such a law dormant in us which merely needs to be quickened by the process theologically known as regeneration or conversion. So we have two antagonistic forces—the flesh and the spirit. Which of these will win out is the crux of the matter. But give it a fair chance and the law of the Spirit will rescue us from the law of sin and evil."

On a July Sunday certain of the smaller suburban churches of Kansas City, Mo., had a great baptismal service at the First church. About 150 candidates were led down into the water by the several pastors.

AMON A. WILSON, Sheriff.

The service lasted three hours, and was a service of great rejoicing. Mr. Feller, exiled from Russia, has been for some time past in the United States. At a recent meeting he remarked that he had seen many wonderful things in America, but one of the most wonderful was to see a policeman keeping order for the Baptists. In his country the police were generally arresting Baptists and putting them in prison. And it was also very wonderful to him to see a judge welcoming a Baptist convention to his city. At home if the judges had anything to do with the Baptists, it was to try them and condemn them to imprisonment.

President E. Y. Mullins says: "Baptist freedom is material which can be used in the making of a great variety of things. It can be fashioned into a rocking chair with a cushion in it. It can be made into a razor-edge for doctrinal hair-splitting. It can be shaped into a reaper for the gathering in of the golden grain for the Kingdom. It can be made into a trusty sword for winning conquests of righteousness. It can be converted into a whip with spikes in the end of it for use in making miserable the brethren whom the denomination selects to lead in its great enterprises. The use a man makes of his Baptist freedom will depend on the kind of religion he carries around with him, on whether it is the genuine article or for present tasteless purposes."

Rev. M. F. McCutcheon, pastor of the First Baptist church, Montreal, has been spending his vacation in and near this city. One Sunday he preached at Main street, and another Sunday at the Central church. As a former pastor of the old Brussels street church he made many friends here who greatly enjoyed the privilege of listening to him again. Although but a young man, he is filling an important place in the Baptist work in Montreal, and is doing so with much success. An every-member canvass of the church, completed shortly before the pastor began his vacation, secured pledges aggregating about $3,400 for the work of the year. Of this nearly $1,700 was for missionary purposes.
