

British parliament, and likewise upon persons who have come from other foreign countries, and upon the reduced officers and discharged soldiers of foreign corps late in His Majesty's service.

RESOLVED, That the bill was intended by this House to carry into complete effect the gracious intentions of His Majesty, as communicated to this House by His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor in his messages of the 15th and 22d of November, and if passed into a law, would have completely secured those different descriptions of persons in all the rights, privileges and immunities of British subjects, and for ever prevented them from being exposed to the inconvenience of having them called in question.

RESOLVED, That the amendments sent up by the Commons' House of Assembly to the said bill, are, in the opinion of this House, at variance with the laws and established policy of Great Britain, as well as of the United States; and therefore if passed into a law by this legislature, would afford no relief to many of those persons who were born in the United States, and who have come into and settled in this province.

RESOLVED, That this House, still anxious, to carry into effect the messages of His Excellency of the 15th and 22d of November, is willing to concur with
