two months after Christmas, so it is to be hoped we will have more Literature at our meetings now. But as to having a final concert that is an impossibility as there is an utter lack of talent among the scholars.

Mr Forsyth did propose having a lecturer from Rochester University, Prof. Fairchild.
But of course nobody made a motion and the matter had to be dropped. However I will speak to Mr Forsyth again and see if we cannot have the Professor come

Dear Willie (alias unicorn)

No doubt you expected me to answer your letter sooner ^{last} what with "the old twenty" and Simpson's Latin Prose I have not had a moments time before this evening. You said something about us getting up a final entertainment but what what with the pack of babies of which our Society is composed this term the undertaking would be "non fieri prodest".
At our last Literary, how many pieces do you think we had on the programme?
