

	PAGE
VII. INDIVIDUAL MAN	55

Respect for one's self. Legitimate and illegitimate pride. Realising what one is worth. Human dignity. The soul worth more than the whole world. Government of one's self. From lack of discipline to discipline. Moderation. Force of character.

VIII. SOCIETY AND ITS LAW. SOLIDARITY . .	62
---	----

The family tie. The national tie. True and false patriotism. Human solidarity. "I am a man, and nothing human is foreign to me."

IX. RESULTS OF SOLIDARITY. OBEDIENCE .	70
--	----

Might one do without it? Who invented it? The latest comers need to ask their way. Our natural guides. Why, then, is it so difficult to obey? Personal willingness. Education consists in directing, not in suppressing. Have we a right to ask why? Yes, certainly, but there are cases where we must obey without understanding. An example. Honour thy father and thy mother. Do