

ed, be inclined to blame Billy, "his cruel situation," when narrated by himself, and in such language too, commands the pity of his former friends—their indignation is at once appeased when further on he states in all the fullness of mortified pride,

"I resigned all control, and power and opinion
In the paper I'd edited for such a long time."
all the best feelings of the human heart are with him. Poor, poor Billy! he makes it appear that although he is made to host false colors, his real flag is "true blue."
JEFFERY.

To the old Ballad Tune of
"Oh! Billy Taylor was a leisk young sailor."

Billy Kimpston was a vagabond old fiddler,
Full of anecdote and full of glee;
But Billy he sold his waly-able paper
To the present Dynasty.

Fiddle tol de ra,
Fiddle tol de ra,
Right fol fiddle ol de de.

All his friends they blamed Billy
For an act so scandalously base;
But Billy cared not one brass farthing—
No blush came into his jolly black face.

Fiddle tol de ra,
Fiddle tol de ra,
Right fol fiddle ol de de.

Oh Billy Kimpston, Billy Billy Kimpston,
Why did you trifle with the public so—
What for did you sell your waly-able paper—
What for did you act so shockingly low?

Fiddle tol de ra,
Fiddle tol de ra,
Right fol fiddle ol de de.

Ah dear Public, said Billy Billy Kimpston,
Do not run me so wery wery hard—
If you but know'd my cruel situation,
You'd come to tender at my playing such a card.

Fiddle tol de ra,
Fiddle tol de ra,
Right fol fiddle ol de de.

Know them, I pray, that the Baron so potent—
He that rules over us with such splendor & might,
Did ordain and decree by an Act of his Council,
That my paper should be open for his Darby to write.

Fiddle tol de ra,
Fiddle tol de ra,
Right fol fiddle ol de de.

And when I found that no good could result from
A half and half style, such as Flaxop's and mine,
I resigned all control, and power and opinion
In the paper I'd edited for such a long time

MORISON'S UNIVERSAL MEDICINE.

NOTICE.
THE subscribers, general Agents for Morison's Pills, have appointed WILLIAM WHITTAKER, Sub-Agent for the Upper Town, No. 27. St. John Street.
LEGG & Co.
That the public may be able to form some idea of Morison's Pills by their great consumption, the following calculation was made by Mr. WING, Clerk to the Stannery Office, Somerset House, in a period of six years, (part only of the time that Morison's Pills have been before the public), the number of stamps delivered for that medicine amounted to three million, nine hundred, and one thousand.

The object in placing the foregoing before the public is to deduce therefrom the following powerful argument in favour of Mr. Morison's system and to which the public attention is directed, namely, that it was only by trying an innocuous purgative medicine to such an extent that the truth of the Hygeian system could possibly have been established. It is clear that all the medical men in England, or the world, put together, have not tried a system of vegetable purgation to the extent and in manner prescribed by the Hygeists. How, therefore, can they (much less individually) know any thing about the extent of its properties?
