War Records Wanted.

The officer in command Canadian War Records has asked us to make known that it is desired to compile complete history in photograph of the Canadians' share in the war in the same way that all other belligerent countries are compiling similar records.

It is particularly desired to obtain photographs of all officers, N. C. O.'s and men who have served or are now serving in the Overseas Military Forces of Canada, and it is requested that on appropriate columns.

All officers and other ranks serving overseas may find it difficult to send in their photographs and their relatives are therefore especially appealed to, to send in their photographs for them.

By preference the photographs should be unmounted and printed on board paper in order to ensure permanence. Each photograph should be accompanied by a concise record not exceeding two or three hundred words, of the subject's military career, including date of enlistment, promotions, distinctions and so on, as this will greatly assist in obtaining a full and accurate record of all concerned.

In addition it is desired to collect all photographs, dealing with the mobilization, training and departure of troops, together with pictures of interesting reviews, sports, presentations, etc. Any photograph of this nature is regarded as a document of historical importance, and it is hoped that the possessors of all such photos

A Soldier's Letter.

The following are portions of two letters recently received at his home in Greenwich, from Pte. Kenneth G. Fraser, 135th Batt., formerly of the 10th, Wolfville platoon:

DEAR HOMEPOLE—Here I am in remote Scotland. This is my second year in Edinburgh, and I must tell you something about my trip. My first morning I went on parade as usual and was going on a train just after dawn when the mid-day corporation was the last door and I'd me there was a pass at Co's office for me starting at 5 o'clock that morning. As we were having pay parade the day and my first day was over half gone before I got my pass. I went on parade and got my own pass. Then as I did not want to go on pass with too small an amount, I paraded before the paymaster again and asked for an advance. He broke his heart and gave me another pass.

Next I went up to Co's office to get a warrant which would allow me to travel half fare, and while there I 'jailed' them to change the date of my pass to Tuesday morning so I could have the full time, but they told me to go on that afternoon and gave me two days' extension instead.

I left Witley Camp about 3.30 and got to Milford at 4 o'clock. The next train was a half hour late, so it was about 7 o'clock when we arrived at Waterloo Station, London. Here we took the tube (underground) to King's Cross and had only gone a short distance when some prison was all through the night. I do not know whether there were many casualties or not. I am very glad that the Atlantic separates you from the Hun.

I like Edinburgh fine. The people are very hospitable, more so than the English I think, and I seem to take pretty well, with my kilt and my good old Scotch name.

Witley Camp, Oct. 7
I believe this is the first I have written you since getting back from Scotland. My pass was cut at midnight Saturday, so of course I left Edinburgh in the morning.

Camp before that, but we encountered another air raid, the trains were held up, consequently I had to start in London all night and did not make camp until Sunday morning. I was up before the Co's commander for being late, but when I explained how it happened I was dismissed and everything was 'jake' with me after all.

The raid on London Saturday night was worse than that of Monday. I was at Waterloo station waiting for a train when it took place. Two bombs struck quite near, one came in the open end of the station and the other struck the elevated railway just outside, but there was no one near enough to be hurt. Some people had brought lunches and came into the tubes before dark, and when the raid came on the tubes were soon crowded again.

With frightened people it was a very painful sight. Women were fainting and little children crying and clinging to their mothers. I got a small bit of chocolate from one of our sergeants. When the raid slackened I went down into the station again and found the floors covered with children lying around sleeping. I stayed there until one o'clock, then, as they told me there would be no trains going until morning, I went out to a Y. M. C. A. and got a bed. I took the first train in the morning leaving there at 8.35.

A Canadian Highlander certainly takes well with the Scotch people. I did enjoy my trip to Edinburgh that winter. I received the number of pages of historical interest. Was all through the old castles, as good as the home care. I'm which is situated on a high rocky point, and is a fine view of the city.

I never expected to be in a hard and was pretty well before we came to the exchange. Some of the fellows sent them out to work around the camp, but I could do a better job as I had the 45. I saw a bunch of fellows in a room as the other day, she had missed the holes in some of them. It seemed to me that they were a very good bunch. You know about how she would do it. Now it is nearly time for 'lighting out' and my bed is not made yet, so must close.

If you find you all well and happy, as ever your loving son and brother.

Oh! My! That Smells Good!
And, madam, you should just smell the fragrance of crushed coffee after it is brewed. And the flavor of it! Well, you never tasted ground coffee with a flavor just like Red Rose Coffee. Coffee critics, those who have travelled far and wide and tasted coffees in various climates, tell us they have never tasted more delicious coffee. Some have even said—but we will refrain from printing such high praise. We prefer you to try Red Rose Crushed Coffee without revealing anything further as to its quality. We don't want to take all the edge off the surprise in store for you when you try it. And the same price it was three years ago.

Red Rose Coffee

In all the principal sights, it is impossible to make you see them in a letter anyway. There were Holywood Palace, the Museum, the Zoological Garden, the Admiralty, a lot of Monuments, etc., etc.

You asked about my socks, mother. I will be very glad to get those that were given you by the Port Williams Red Cross to send me, it is very kind of you to remember me—and all the boys will appreciate it. You spoke of sending the leg home to be re-ordered. I have none to send at present but may have later on. We got used with socks and when they got bad we were to exchange them for new ones, but they are not nearly so good as the home care. I'm pretty good at mending socks for a Canadian and was pretty well before we came to the exchange. Some of the fellows sent them out to work around the camp, but I could do a better job as I had the 45. I saw a bunch of fellows in a room as the other day, she had missed the holes in some of them. It seemed to me that they were a very good bunch. You know about how she would do it. Now it is nearly time for 'lighting out' and my bed is not made yet, so must close.

'We Are the Millions.'
The nation is made up of you and me. We are the millions. Whenever you say 'they ought to do the thing you community ought to see accomplished for its certain good, you point the finger at yourself as one who says 'You are the man'. The power of our country and of our city is created, for good or for evil, by making common cause—under an inspired and unselfish leadership. It comes in whatever shape we have in one basket and put that basket in the hands of those who care—Philadelphia Ledger.

Used for Shaving.
Many men are troubled with razor cuts caused by shaving. The application of Dr. Chase's Ointment after the shave soon cures the trouble and it after each shave you keep the skin soft and prevent irritation and soreness. Because of its anti-septic quality this ointment prevents bad cases. Barber's Balm.

Here, boys, take these flowers to Miss Fannie Homey, room 8. My, six, you're the fifth gentleman who's sent her flowers today. 'What's that, you grinning duff? What's that you say? W—who sent her the other?'
K. G. Fraser
Oh, they didn't send any name, they all said:
'She will know where they came from.'
'Well, here, take my card and tell her these are from the same one who sent the other four boxes.'

Nerves of the Somach

Were Weak and Inactive as Result of Nervous Prostration—Lost Twenty Pounds—Had to Take Sleeping Powders to Get Any Rest.

Many people never realize that the movement and action of every organ of the human body is dependent on the energy supplied by the nervous system.

When the nervous system gets run down there is weakness throughout the entire body. You feel tired and languid and your stomach and other digestive organs are similarly affected. Appetite falls, digestion is poor, you do not get the good of what you eat and gradually grow weaker and thinner.

This process can only be stopped by such treatment as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, which goes directly to create new nerve force and thereby to invigorate the whole human body.

Mrs. Geo. E. Davidson, 45 Davidson Street, St. Catharines, Ont., writes: 'My husband had an attack of nervous prostration, and although he doctored for some time and tried the latest other medicines, he could not get relief. He had to resort to sleeping powders given him by the doctor to make him sleep. The greater part of the trouble seemed to be with the nerves of his stomach. He began to lose weight, and kept on going down until he had lost twenty pounds. We had read advertisements in the paper and noticed that it seemed to be doing a lot of good for people troubled with nervousness, so my husband decided to try it. He found relief almost immediately. The results of the treatment until he had taken about twelve or thirteen boxes. The results were most satisfactory. He is now enjoying good health, sleeps well, and has gained back nearly all the weight he had lost. He also uses Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills occasionally, and thinks also used this latter medicine for his back and liver troubles, and was completely cured of these complaints. We think a great deal of Dr. Chase's medicines, and cannot speak too highly of them.'

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 68 cents for box a full treatment of 12 boxes, $7.75, at all dealers or Edmondson, 127 St. St. East, Toronto, Ont. Do not be misled by cheap imitations. A substitute is talked into accepting a substitute. Imitations only disappoint.

Minard's Linctus Cures Dandruff.

Be Ready for Emergencies.

The best way is to always keep a bottle of Dr. Chase's Bypass of Linseed and Turpentine in the house, ready for emergencies. Then when coughs or colds come suddenly they can be promptly cured before they have time to reach an acute and dangerous stage. To meet this requirement we have put the syrup up in family size bottles which contain nearly three times as much as the 25 cent bottle and sell at 60 cent.

A woman, very careful of her health, asked the late Hamilton W. Mabie, one day, to recommend to her a really good novel.

'Why not try 'A Kentuck Cardinal' suggested Mr. Mabie.

'No,' replied the woman, 'I don't care for theological works.'

'But,' said Mr. Mabie, 'this cardinal was a bird.'
