

Wild Horse Race Stampede Event

Moose Jaw Will be the Scene of Some Large Events July 11th to 24th

Moose Jaw, Sask., July 3.—The wild horse race, one of the most thrilling events of cowboy life, will be one of the main features at the Stampede here, July 11th to 14th.

The horses that will be used in this race are wild range horses of from eight to ten years old, that have never felt the deterring weight of a bridle. Each rider is allowed a helper, who ties a single rope to the horse's head while the rider slips on the saddle and mounts. At the signal to go the bars are let down, and the riders make off as best they can on their plunging, snorting, furious beasts toward the finish line, 350 yards away, where they must pass between two men mounted one hundred feet apart. Unbroken range horses never go in a straight line on their first ride, nor do they stay on terra firma for more than a second at a time. The riders do not always stay on the horses either, and the sight of the melee of plunging, bucking horses, and the marvellously skilful riders driving them inexorably to the finish line is a sight that will be long remembered.

Grape Juice Left Uncorked Turns Into Liquor

Amusing Episode When "Dry" Officials Taste Forbidden Fruit Unsuspectingly

Winnipeg, July 3.—It has remained for Winnipeg men to discover the secret of William Jennings Bryan's advocacy of grape juice, and it is darkly hinted that the astute Mr. Bryan used to leave the cork off the grape juice bottle.

It is said he once found his valet putting the cork back in the grape juice bottle on the buffet, and reproved him for it.

"Always leave the cork off," said Mr. Bryan with a mysterious smile, "because that is a sign of hospitality. When my friends come here, the uncorked bottle is an invitation to drink. I believe in having the latchkey out all the time."

The gullible valet swallowed the story—and when Mr. Bryan left the room he swallowed a mouthful of grapejuice. He felt better and livelier immediately afterwards, but even then he didn't tumble to the game.

But Rev. J. N. McLaren's experts are shrewder men. They bought a bottle of grape juice and tested it by chemical analysis. They found it contained no alcohol. So the sale of grapejuice has been permitted.

After the analysis had been made, the experts put the bottle on a shelf—and left the cork off. It was quite accidental.

Friday was a hot day, and while Mr. MacLean and his assistants were discussing plans, they decided to have a tippie of the grapejuice. They finished up the bottle.

An analysis was made of the few drops of grapejuice left in the bottle, and it was found to be reeking with alcohol. Inquiries were made, and it was found that grapejuice, if left uncorked for six weeks, would ferment and produce alcohol in such quantity that one pint would provide at least one good jolt.

So the prohibition commissioner is wondering if grapejuice should go on the prohibited list. He doesn't think so, because there is no alcohol in it when it is sold.

Meanwhile, another one of Mr. Bryan's so-called admirable qualities has been shot to pieces.

ORANGEMEN ATTEND DIVINE SERVICE: SPECIAL SERMON

Vigorous denunciation of ritual as against the acceptance of the bible in itself as God's holy word, was the main feature of the sermon by Rev. Arnold Bennett, pastor of Emmanuel Baptist church, to his fellow-Orangemen at the First Baptist church Sunday afternoon. The preacher, wearing his insignia of the Order, devoted nearly the whole of his forty minute address to emphasizing the fact that it was not necessary to worship God through form or ceremony or through an earthly mediator. These were days, he said, when they should contend most earnestly for the faith of Christ crucified and against the inroads of heretical teachings. He believed, he said, that if the great masses of Roman Catholics had the bible presented to them in proper and simple form by their teachers the scales would fall from their eyes and they would see themselves to have been the devotees and dupes of a system which was contrary to God's teaching and His divine law. The preacher said there were three doctrines which must be remembered. The first was God's supremacy over the whole world. Martyrs at the stake met a noble death because they believed in His supremacy over the doctrines of Roman Catholicism. The ritual of Roman Catholicism passed away in time but God's word remained for ever. The bible had always been represented as the Protestant school of faith as against ritual and heretical teaching of the Roman Catholics. He challenged his friends, the Catholics, to show him any place in the bible where anything to the contrary was shown. He declared further that while Roman Catholics professed to revere the holy book yet in their secret places they were taught only to look upon the bible as they were instructed by their teachers. The greatness of England was not in her material strength, but, as Queen Victoria had, once said, her greatness lay in her reverence for the bible. Such men as Wycliffe, Tyndall and Coverdale went to the stake for the sake of the bible and today they were thrusting men into the most bloody carnage in the world's history because the principles and teachings of the bible were being trampled upon. The second doctrine was the finished work of Jesus upon the cross and the third doctrine was His complete atonement for the sins of the world. That atonement had done away completely with any need for an earthly mediator because confession of sin needed no intermediary and no priest had the power to forgive sin any more than an ordinary man. There was not a case on record where any man had been refused forgiveness when he had asked for it, and if God's love cleansed all sin there was none left for the priest to take away.

The preacher urged Orangemen to stand by their principles and be truly Christian because all their principles and Orangemen without Christianity was useless.

There were the four Brandon lodges, Wheat City, Brandon City, Emmanuel and Prairie Lilly on parade, together with the Black Preceptory, and the Ladies' Esther and Unity Lodges. About a score of brethren from the Alexander Lodge were also in attendance. A striking feature was the absence of the Orange Young Britons in their neat white uniform, the way having taken over eighty per cent of the members of this lodge. The 99th band headed the procession from the Orange hall to the church. About one hundred adult Orangemen have enlisted from Brandon in addition to the Young Britons who are now wearing the khaki.

Dominion Has Whole Division Of Artillery

Are Fully Equipped and Will be in a Position to do Strenuous Training at Petawawa

Ottawa, July 3.—There is an entire division of artillery at Petawawa, four brigades with four batteries and an ammunition column in each. They make up the Fourth divisional artillery, equipped with guns, horses and in a position to do strenuous training, which, according to reports, is about as vigorous as any troops in training have to undergo in Canada. The young officers are on the job from 7.30 in the morning until ten o'clock at night, active service conditions. The batteries are starting with "live" shells this week. The training of this division will be extended to a point not reached by the other batteries going overseas, so that it will be in a position to proceed to France very soon after it reaches England.

A hundred and fifty-one Canadians have so far enlisted in the auxiliary motorboat patrol service of the British navy. The number includes 102 sub-lieutenants and seventeen chief motorboat men. The next party which will leave shortly consists of the following:

Sub-lieutenants: A. E. Mahdy, Ottawa, in charge; B. D. Clemm, Toronto; A. D. Patterson, Winnipeg; H. M. Scott, Fort William; R. E. Smythies, Toronto; Charles Evans, Toronto; H. N. Barry, Toronto; J. P. Perry, Fort William; S. J. Duro, Fort William; G. C. Davidson, I. T. Harcourt, W. T. Beatty, Toronto; E. O. Brock, Winnipeg; S. T. Hoyatt, Winnipeg.

Chief motorboat men: R. D. MacKenzie, New Westminster.

Motorboat men: Charles Corrigan, Hamilton; C. McEwen, Carleton Place; A. M. Searle, Skeena River, B.C.

Two hundred and fifty men were wanted and the applications have been so numerous there will be no difficulty in getting them. The problem is mainly one of selection.

To Look After Convalescents Returning Home

New Hospital Unit to Include Ten Divisions One for Each Military District

Ottawa, July 3.—Details of the new hospital unit to which reference was made, are now announced. The new command will be a duly established branch of the Canadian expeditionary force, but will confine its work chiefly to the care of convalescents on their arrival in Canada. This work, has been under the Military Hospitals Commission, but it has grown to such an extent, and will be so greatly increased as a result of the recent heavy casualties in the Ypres region, as to call for special provision. The new unit has been constituted by order in Council for purposes of administration, discipline and command. It will include ten divisions, one for each military division in Canada. In each hospital or convalescent home there will be an officer and subordinate, having direction of its affairs, subject to the general jurisdiction of the central commission in Ottawa.

The new unit will be in command of Lieut.-Col. Sharples, of Quebec, who has been in charge of the depot for returned soldiers there. The unit will co-operate with the army medical service in the arrangement and discipline of the various institutions and for the purpose of medical attendance on the men. It is expected that the work of this new organization will have very beneficial results in preventing cases of hardship and distress among returned soldiers.

Dr. Liebknecht Sent To Jail

Berlin, July 3.—Dr. Karl Liebknecht, the Socialist leader, has been sentenced to thirty months penal servitude and dismissal from the army for attempted high treason, gross insubordination and resistance to the authorities.

The court adopted the view that Dr. Liebknecht was guided by fanaticism and not by unpatriotic feeling, and therefore imposed the lowest penalty on him. Dr. Liebknecht is entitled to appeal from the sentence.

Dr. Liebknecht, whose criticisms of the Government in speeches in the Reichstag previously had led to his expulsion from the Socialist party in that body, was arrested on May 1st during a peace demonstration in Berlin, and since has been held in custody. The Reichstag having on May 11th by a vote of 229 to 111 declined to order his release. He has been accused not only of taking part in but of arranging the demonstration, at which it is alleged cries of "Down with the war" and "Down with the Kaiser" were raised by the excited demonstrators. A report on his arrest, made to the Reichstag, contained these charges, and in detailing the circumstances of the incident asserted that he resisted the police, but finally was knocked down and overpowered.

May Explain Light Sentence
Parliamentary immunity from Dr. Liebknecht was claimed, but not allowed. It was announced that he had denied that he was guilty of treason, but had admitted taking part in the demonstration. It was at first understood that he was to be brought before a court-martial—he being a soldier as well as a legislator—on the charge of high treason, conviction on which would have carried with it the death penalty, but recently it was published that the accusation had been modified to attempted treason in war time. Four Berlin newspapers published the following from the semi-official Wolff Bureau:

"In the course of a demonstration last evening for Deputy Liebknecht a rather large crowd collected at Potsdamer Platz (Berlin). Some twenty persons were taken into custody to establish their identity. There were no further incidents."

Of Interest to Women

The brooklet came from the mountain,
As sang the bard of old,
Running with feet of silver
Over the sands of gold.

Far away in the briny ocean
There rolled a turbulent wave,
Now singing along the sea-beach,
Now howling along the cave.

And the brooklet has found the billow,
Though they flowed so far apart,
And has filled with its freshness and sweetness
That turbulent, bitter heart.

—Henry W. Longfellow.
