Synopsis of Canadian North-west Land Regulations.

ANY person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter-section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district. Entry by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions, by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader. Duties—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister. In certain conditions a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter-section alongside his homestead. Price $200 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including the time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate fifty acres extra. A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $200 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect a house worth $200.00.

"Was the bear on the track?" "No; the train had to go into the woods after him."—Louisville Courier-Journal. It's a Toss-Up. "I've just heard of a new charm to tell whether any one loves you, and if so, who it is," whispered Elsie. "What is it?" queried Sophie, absently fingering her new diamond ring. "Well, you take four or five chestnuts, name them each after some man you know, and then put them on the stove, and the first one that pops is the one that loves you." "H'm," said Sophie. "I know a better way than that." "Don't you?" "Yes, indeed. By my plan you take one particular man, place him on the sofa in the parlor, sit close to him with the light a little low, and look into his eyes. And then, if he doesn't pop, you'll know it's time to change the man on the sofa."—Woman's Home Companion. Studies in Zoology. (New York Press.) Maude, who lives on a New Jersey farm, got hold of her older sister's history book and began to read the history of the Reformation. Soon she stopped and looked at her father, a dairyman. "Papa," she asked "what is a Papal bull?" The old man scratched his forehead a moment. "I never seen none o' them there kind," he said after a long pause. "But I guess they're Italian. I never heard tell of a Papal bull in these parts." "Perhaps they're extinct," remarked Maude's mother, with a learned look, "like the Dinna Sons." How He Did It. "Rambo, how did you manage to break yourself of the drink habit?" "Well, I joined a church, two temperance societies, and an anti-treating club and told my wife I'd sworn off. I did all that, and then—" "Yes, what did you do then?" "I thought that after going as far as that it was up to me to make good and so I just quit." Suspicious Circumstance. BARN RAISING.

Lieut.-Governor Gibson in a New Role at Oneida.

Keen Competition by Teams—Two Men Were Hurt.

One of the largest barn raisings ever held in historical Oneida was that of Mr. James Gibson on Wednesday last. Mr. Gibson had the misfortune in June of last year to have his buildings totally destroyed by lightning. On Wednesday last was witnessed the erection of a grand new structure. In the neighborhood of two hundred men were present to assist in the work, and among the conspicuous personalities on the building during the entire afternoon was His Honor Lieut.-Gov. Gibson, who, with his son, Hope, came out from Toronto especially for the event. Considerable excitement prevailed throughout the day and especially during the afternoon, when the two sides captained respectively by Messrs. Thos. Herod and Gerald Fagan, commenced the work of raising the several beams. This occupied the most of the afternoon. Mr. Fagan and his host of followers carried off the palm of victory for having completed the first side. Numerous and favorable were the comments heard for the manner in which the contractor, Mr. Robt. McDonald and his men, had executed the work of framing the structure.

During the course of the afternoon Messrs. Andy McAuley and James Yule met with painful accidents; the former receiving a severe scalp wound and the latter a smashed finger.

At 7 o'clock all adjourned to the lawn where a most dainty repast was enjoyed. Mrs. and the Misses Gibson were assisted by thirty young ladies of the neighborhood.

FOR OFFICE MEN.

Austin Woman Writes "Business Commandments" to Friend.

(Chicago Tribune.)

If you have a young friend embarking in business and wish to give him the advice of your maturity, draw up a set of "business commandments" and send them with compliments.

He will not ask offence, if he is made of the right stuff. At least that is what Mrs. O. A. Vold, of Austin, said yesterday, and she spoke from experience.

Mrs. Vold lives, who lives at 5700 Ontario street, wished to give good counsel to a young friend of the family, so she arranged the "business commandments," signed and framed them, then sent her gift. The commandments now adorn the walls of the young man's office.

AUSTIN WOMAN'S COMMANDMENTS They are as follows:

FIRST. Thou shalt not wait for something to turn up. Pull off your coat and go to work that thou may'st prosper in thy affairs.

SECOND. Thou shalt not be content to go about thy business looking untidy, for thou should'st know that thy personal appearance is better than a letter of recommendation.

THIRD. Thou shalt not try to make excuses nor shalt thou say to those that chide thee, "I didn't think."

FOURTH. Thou shalt not wait to be told what thou shalt do, nor in what manner thou shalt do it, for thus may thy days be long in the job which fortune has given thee.

FIFTH. Thou shalt not fail to maintain thy integrity, nor shalt thou be guilty of anything that will lessen thy respect for thyself.

SIXTH. Thou shalt not covet the other fellow's job, nor his salary, nor the position which he hath gained by his own hard labor.

SEVENTH. Thou shalt not fail to live within thy income, nor shalt thou contract any debts when thou can't not see thy way clear to pay them.

EIGHTH. Thou shalt not fail to bow thy own horn, for he who is afraid to blow his own horn at the proper occasion findeth nobody standing ready to blow it for him.

NINTH. Thou shalt not hesitate to say "no" when thou meanest "no," nor shalt thou fail to remember that there are occasions when it is unsafe to find thyself by hasty judgment.

TENTH. Thou shalt give every man a square deal. This is the last and great commandment, and there is no other like unto it; upon this commandment dependeth all the law and the profits of the business world.

SAYS IT WAS THE EASIEST WAY. "It was the best way to help him," said Mrs. Vold. "I took the easiest method of showing him the proper road a business man should travel. The pitfalls awaiting a young man are so numerous to-day that a little timely advice may save him much trouble."

Dog Which Helped His Friend.

Thomas Jones, who owns a big ranch on San Juan island, lost a collie dog last fall for nearly a month and for several days searched the woods about his place zealously for the animal without success. One day he tossed a bone to another collie. Instead of gnawing it he picked it up and started for the woods. He kept turning his head, apparently to see if he was followed, and Jones concluded to follow him. The dog trotted along for about a mile and stopped at the edge of an abandoned well. He dropped the bone over the edge of the well. Jones got a ladder, climbed down, and found the dog that had been lost. There was only about two inches of water in the well, but the animal would have starved to death had it not been for the other. The lost dog was in good condition, and as it had been missing twenty-four days the other animal must have kept it supplied with food for nearly a month.—London Telegraph.

With the marine season practically just opened, there have been 45 deaths from accidents on the Great Lakes since the boats began to move.

W. A. Kerr, M. A., Toronto, and Professor McEachern, of Queen's, have been appointed to the staff of Alberta University.
