BY MRS. MARY E. HEWITT. Oh, what were the pride of the rich man's gold Or the worth of each untilled rod, Were it not for the rough, hard-handed peer Who toil for their daily food.

Whatever of labor the rich man needs. From the poor man's hand must come-From the cradle rare of the new born heir, To the cofin and the scultured tumb.

The poor man swayeth the settler's axe, Till the forests far retire ; And the city springs on its phonix wings O'er the brands of the log-house fire.

He bandeth the earth with iron roads, And the steam fed courser guides : And fearlessly he drives the steeds of the sea Wherever the rich man rides. He tills the plain till the ricened grain

Is sale in the garner stored, .
And with rifle and spare he hunteth the fare-That smokes on the rich man's board. He twineth the costly robes of pride,

And cleaves from the clod the marble god That stands in the rich man's home. The gauds of beauty, the work of art, Whatever your wealth hath bought-

Ney-the very gold that your coffers hold The poor mun's hand hath wrought. Then health to the rude and thrifty poor,

They 'mid the turmoil, earn the wages of toil; As your fathers did before. And think the reward of labor is health, That wealth is industry's friend, That change is earth's law, and soon the see-saw May rise at the poor man's end.

THE SONS OF TOIL. No dread of toil have we or ours : We know our worth and weigh our powers, The more we work the more we win. Success to trade !

Success to spade ! And to the corn that's coming in. And joy to him who, o'er his task, Remembers toil is Nature's plan ; Who, working, thinks, And never sinks

Who asks for humblest wealth, Enough for competence and health, And leisure when his work is done, To read his book By chimney nook

Or stroll at setting of the sun; Who toils, as every man should toil For fair reward, erect and tree; These are the men,-The best of men,-These are the men we mean to be.

INCITING TO CRIMB .-- The Toronto Pariot of Thursday last contained the follow-ing piece of brutality:—
"One rather bigoted personage hopes, that if he [McKenzie] goes to Toronto he will be tarred and feathered; but another, of more liberal feelings, would prefer his being ducked in a horse pond, as more En-glish and less personal. For our part, we cannot see why Trenson should not be held as an excuse for any crime that can disgrace human nature in Upper, as well as Lower Canada. Robiery, arion, murder, are neity terms enough, but call it Treason!—come -that alters the case amazingly-chopping a man to death, bound hand and foot under a cart, as poor Weir was murdered-poking at him in his dying agonies, as if he were a man to death, bound hand and foot under earl, as pool Weir was summedered—pology at him in his dying agonies, as if he were a coward wolf, makes one shuder: but term the cowardly cuffins who go murdered—pology and his many the pology and the po assassination is a virtue. Few of the Irish newspapers that were lately suppressed by the English Govarnment, had exhibited such abominations or contemplated such crimes as has the Tory press of Canada during the past month. Marxi's newspaper, during the scenes of horror that fellowed the French Revolution of 17:9, written in lettors of blood, never exhibited grosser brutality than marks the extract we have unde from the Toronto Patriot.—Examer.
