QUEEN ELIZABETH died 1603, aged 70. She was the daughter of Henry VIII. and Anne Boleyn. Her early years were spent in study; she ascended the throne in 1558 and reigned till her death. Her great strength lay in her choice of advisers and her reign was one of the most famous in English history. Her greatest fault was her vanity.
NEW ZEALAND discovered 1642.
They pass best over the world who trip over it quickly; for it is but a bog—if we stop we sink.

Man Died on S.S. Bonaventure

Messrs. A. Harvey & Co. received a message from Capt. Parsons, of the Bonaventure, last midnight, conveying the intelligence that one of the crew, Henry Pridham, of Petty Harbor, had died yesterday morning. No particulars of the sad event are at hand, but upon receipt of the message, Messrs. Harvey & Co. wired Captain Parsons asking for same and stating that they presumed the body will be brought here. Rev. Fr. Tierney, P.P. of Petty Harbor, has been informed of the sad occurrence, and will notify the friends of the deceased. The deceased was 39 years old, married, and leaves a wife, four children, mother, two sisters and three brothers to mourn their sad loss. The Telegram unites in the general sympathy extended.

A Baby's Face.

How nice baby's skin is now; not a red mark or abrasion anywhere to be seen.

"Yes, I was noticing. His face used to be so spotty that I often wondered if it were possible to do anything for him. How did you manage to cure the trouble?"

"Simply enough after all. A few applications of that wonderful new ointment Zylex, and the steady use since of Zylex Soap was all that was needed, that made the little chap right."

Zylex (50c.) and Zylex Soap (25c.) can be had from your druggist. mar16.

One Kind of Express Wagon.

Last winter, one night the Music-maker quartet was to appear in a Southern town. They were to arrive there late, and wanted to wait no time in getting ready for the evening's performance. So they wired ahead to "have an express wagon" at the station for them.

They arrived in a bad squall, and looked about for the vehicle for their trunks and instruments. None was seen.

Finally an old, bearded man came up, and said:

"Are you the fellows that's to give the lecture?"

"We're the Music-maker's quartet, yes. Where's the wagon?"

"I bring it," he said, and trundled on from behind the station a child's toy express wagon.

"What does this mean?" said Mr. Hough. "What are we to haul our baggage in?"

"Well," said the old man, querulously, "you just said 'I bring an express wagon, and nothing' about what kind."

It always strikes a lyric worker as bitterly amusing, after he has risked his life and health and forgot all about his comfort by travelling for twenty-four hours or so in the face of all sorts of bad weather to reach a town, to find that a large number of the regular audience, living a few blocks at most from the place of assembly, stayed away because it threatened rain.—Strickland Gillilan, in Woman's World for April.

United League Services.

At Gower Street Church the United League Services will continue this week. The address this Monday evening will be given by Rev. Dr. Curtis. Service of song and praise will begin at a quarter to eight o'clock; new hymnal "Reverend Songs" will be used. Offerings this week on Tuesday and Thursday evenings.

DIED.

On Sunday morning, John Clarke, aged 60 years, leaving a loving wife and one brother to mourn their sad loss. Funeral to-morrow, Tuesday, at 2.30 p.m. from his late residence, No. 10 Sebastian Street.—R. I. P.

This morning, Miss Emma Delaney, aged 58 years; funeral on Wednesday, at 2.30 p.m. from the residence of Mrs. Howe, King's Bridge.

Last night, after a short illness, Edward J. Rawlins, aged 57 years, leaving a widow, four sons and two daughters to mourn their loss. Funeral to-morrow, Tuesday, at 2.30 p.m. from his late residence, 29 Queen's Road.

From the Manger to the Cross.

This evening citizens will have an opportunity of witnessing the wonderful motion picture of the life of the Saviour, entitled: "From the Manger to the Cross." It is a marvellous undertaking and required the greatest care. The cost was enormous. The scenes are authentic locations in Palestine and Egypt. It has been shown in several of the large cities of America and the Old Country as well and everywhere it has attracted thousands who have been greatly impressed. It contains thousands of photographs. No one should miss this great film. Clergymen of all denominations, Catholic and Protestant, have written to the Press and the Company in praise of the picture. It will be shown at the Casino all this week. Mr. Kieley was very fortunate in getting it for St. John's, especially during the Lenten season when it is in great demand everywhere.

Entertainment at Carbonear.

Some weeks ago the C. C. C. Band of Carbonear gave a very successful entertainment in St. Patrick's Hall, of that town. On Easter Thursday the Corps will come before the footlights and endeavour to please an appreciative audience. Should they receive the same patronage as the Band it will surely repay them for their efforts. The entertainment will consist of chorus, character songs, song for the little fellows, recitations, etc., and the glorious finale: "Phelon O'Toole's Courtship," a humorous Irish sketch. Those who attend will laugh till next Easter.

Mr. Water McCarthy

Sings at The Nickel.

Mr. Walter McCarthy arrived in the city on Saturday, and his hosts of friends will be pleased to learn that he will sing at The Nickel Theatre, commencing Easter Monday night. Mr. McCarthy has had wonderful success in America, having sung in high class opera, while he was greatly in demand in the music halls of Boston. Newfoundlanders were delighted to hear of his success abroad and will, no doubt, turn out in large numbers to hear him.

Miss Gardner, the ragtime singer, who was here last year, and Joe Ross, the drummer, will also appear at The Nickel on Easter Monday night.

Fine Cornet Solo.

During the service last night at the Methodist College Hall, a very fine cornet solo was given by Mr. R. J. Vincent, choir cornet soloist of St. James's Methodist Church, Montreal. Mr. Vincent played The Lost Chord. His piping and clean legato playing was all that could be desired, while his phrasing and interpretation of this famous song was the admiration of everybody present. Mr. Vincent is a pupil of the well known Cornet Soloist of the Coldstream Guards, Sergeant Hawkins.

Sealing Outlook.

The outlook for the sealing voyage is by no means cheering, so far as the reports go there is only about half a voyage in sight to-day. On the front, the seals on board and panned appear to be about 90,000; and there appears to be about 25,000 to 30,000 in the Gulf. So far, this is not half of the average annual catch for the past ten years. These catches were, according to Mr. J. L. Noonan:—

1904	284,473
1905	177,100
1906	341,835
1907	245,051
1908	213,863
1909	269,302
1910	333,349
1911	304,591
1912	175,130
1913	272,592

The reports for the next week will be watched with anxiety in the hope that it will be possible for the sealing steamers to make an average catch.

In view of the extra taxation which has been imposed, it will be a bad look-out, if the sealing fishery is not an average one. The country will need every cent which can be earned to enable people to live and to respond to the extraordinary demands being made on them under the new tariff.

On The Watch Tower.

In its latest issue, the Plaindealer insinuates that the Evening Telegram looks on the Government with no kindly eye because we are publishing the Unclimbed Letter List, and because "it will be our privilege to tender congratulations to Sheriff Lloyd before the next General Election, if not a little sooner." In regard to the former, the Government took away the letter list from us on our refusal to publish an Apology of the Fishermen's Advocate. We published that list and criticized the Government and maintained our independence. The fact of publishing it or not had and has no influence on our political views or conduct. We published it then and we publish it now just in the way we publish any advertising matter, but that does not influence either our views or our conduct. That we have shown in the past, and we are ready to prove it again either at the present or in the future. As to the suggestion that the editor is looking to the Government for the Sheriffship, or for any other office, we can tell the Plaindealer that Mr. W. F. Lloyd is not looking to the Government or the Opposition for any permanent office. Mr. W. F. Lloyd is a member of the Opposition in the House of Assembly and has no intention whatever of resigning his seat there. His views on the action of the Government in regard to the delay in filling the portfolios and their resort to the Legislative Council for seats for the appointments, his views on the waste and extravagance, on the deficits, overdrafts and the increased taxation have been expressed in no uncertain tone, both in the House of Assembly, in the columns of the Evening Telegram, and on the public platform, and he sees no reason whatever to change them, and has no intention of changing them. The future is full of peril, as was foreshadowed in the Manifesto of Sir Robert Bond, and we are on the watch-tower, watching events more closely than ever we did.

DIVORCE.

On another page of this issue, our readers will find the announcement of a new daily serial novel story upon a subject which is of such importance to the public that it would be difficult to over-estimate it. That question is Divorce. Few of us realize the alarming prevalence of this expression of an hysteria which has spotted our civilization. Few of us know that the United States ranks FIRST among all civilized nations in percentage of divorce—save only Japan. When one out of every twelve marriages in America ends in the Divorce Courts, as happens now, a condition has been reached which deserves the careful consideration not only of the scholar, the statesman, the clergy, but more important still—the consideration of every man and woman who has his or her, and the nation's interest, at heart.

We believe that the best means of presenting and portraying in a vivid, impressive manner the facts and the many varied factors which enter into Divorce is through the serial novel form. To this end we have contracted for the rights to Helen Hessong
