A Silver Lining.

Twelve months ago today we received the most disagreeable set-back in the naval history of the war, when Rear Admiral Craddock was defeated off Coronel and the Good Hope and Monmouth by the gunfire of a superior German squadron. The German squadron sullied the honours of victory by leaving the sailors of these doomed ships to perish without an effort to save any of them. But the dark cloud soon passed away, the pressure of the Japanese and Australian fleet made the Pacific impossible waters for the victorious German squadron, and by the time it had rounded the Horn and made the Falklands, a supreme British squadron was waiting for it, and Von Spec's squadron was destroyed. Since that time the naval prowess of the Entente Allies has been such that it has become too dangerous for German cruisers to put to sea, and the Atlantic, Pacific and Indian Oceans are much freer from hostile ships and safer for commerce than even in the great days of Nelson, and now on the eve of the anniversary of Von Spec's victory, we have news from a Dutch source that Von Tirpitz, the head of the German Navy and its maker is in disgrace with the Kaiser. The passing of the dark cloud of twelve months ago was due to great reserve of British naval strength, which gave it eventually its place in the sun. A similar parallel holds in regard to the Balkans. The intervention of the Bulgarians on the side of Germany was a dark cloud, so was the refusal of Greece to abide by the treaty calling her to the aid of Serbia. But after all, the reserve power of the Entente Allies is so much greater than that of the Central Powers, that the sun must eventually shine on it and the dark Balkan cloud pass away.

Fit to Fight Again

News was received this morning by the Colonial Secretary from the Mid. Record Office, London, that 1303, Pte. Chesley Mercer has been discharged from the hospital fit for service. On Saturday his parents at Spencer St. in the city received a letter from him in which he wrote: "Just a few lines to let you know that I am now in the hospital, wounded in the right shoulder. We went in the firing line on the 19th, and I was wounded on the 20th. I had a shrapnel bullet in my shoulder, but will be all right in a week or two. There are four more chaps here, too. Fred and Ken were all right the last time I saw them."

The British Theatre.

Patrons of this popular theatre are assured of an enjoyable entertainment this evening. The grand 3 act photo-play, "Helping Mother" featuring Lois Webber and Phillips Smalley, together with the popular "Trey O' Hearts," will be sure to please. As Miss Ruth Emblem's engagement has now finished there will be a cornet solo this evening instead of a song. At the evening performance selections will be given by the five-piece orchestra under the direction of Mr. A. H. Allen.

Temperance Meeting.

A temperance meeting in connection with the Sunday School of Cochrane Street Church was held yesterday afternoon. It was quite evident from the addresses given by Rev. C. A. Whitmarsh, Mr. G. F. Grimes, M.H.A. and the Hon. H. J. B. Woods, that the speakers honestly believed in the education of the rising generation. A platform meeting was held in the evening, the Pastor, the Rev. C. A. Whitmarsh, M.A., presided. Able and convincing addresses were given by Messrs. W. White and Arthur Mews.

"LOOKED THE PART"

Men must look right and be right to command success. Clear eyes, clear skin and clear brain mean money to the man who possesses them. Dull eyes, sluggish brain and a pimply, blotchy skin are a serious handicap. O'Mara's Hypophosphites will remove pimples and blotches, brighten the eye and increase vital power by giving you pure blood and good circulation. Price $1.00.

We recommend it because we know what it contains.

GREAT WEEK OF SURPRISES AT ROSSLEYS.

As this is the farewell week of the most marvellous act ever seen here, there will be lots of surprises for the patrons as the artists have a great number of clever novelties to show yet. There is a Western drama in two parts, "The Passengers of the Forest," a screaming funny Keystone comedy, a Mutual Weekly and other great pictures.

MINARD'S LINIMENT CURES COLDS, &c.

As France Has Done.

The obviously and indubitably best thing for the British to do is to organize their defences against hostile air craft that none of them will dare to cross or even to approach the English coast line. The French seem to have protected Paris in this way, for it is a long time, now, since German aviators have assailed that city, short and easy as is the journey to it, and presumably desirous as the Germans are to treat it as they do London.—New York Times.

To the Spending People

"One cannot but wish that those persons who are spending money so freely and so gaily at the present time should be placed under the necessity of answering the questions of how the country's great national expenditures are to be met in the absence of private economies," says the Statist.

Those Machine Guns.

One of the first wounded officers who arrived in Paris from the recent fighting in Flanders said to Mr. Lincoln Eyre, the Paris correspondent of the New York World: "Silencing the German machine-guns was our hardest job. There seemed to be literally thousands of these venomous weapons tearing away at us."

AFTER HALLOWEEN.

I'll have to prop my reeling brain. I wonder if I'm strictly sane? Not in the winecup do I look; my drink is from the babbling brook that courses by my humble home; it's long since I have blown the foam from brimming flagons at the bar, or pulled the cork from jug or jar. I go not where Bacchante sings, and yet, alas, I'm seeing things. Is that a cow in yonder tree, or have my eyes gone back on me? Since when did cows begin to perch in yonder elm beside the church? And there's a horse that makes me blink; its form is blue, its tail is pink; when steeds chromatic drift along, I'm almost sure there's something wrong. Mark that old rooster on the fence—no feathers are in evidence. When Brama roosters are as bare of plumage as a Bartlett pear, methinks the world is in the ditch; some warlock runs it, or a witch. I'll have to have an expert look for microbes in that babbling brook. When water makes him see such freaks, some other drink the wise man seeks. These dire phantasms I must foil—I'll fill myself with luscious oil.

The Eastern Trust Company.

A few reasons why an estate can be better administered by the Eastern Trust Company than by a personal executor or administrator:-

1. The Company affords the estate absolute security; it has a paid-up capital of $931,000.00, and a reserve fund of $229,300.00.
2. It has a long experience in the work of administering estates; it is incorporated for this business of acting as a trustee, and, unlike many other trust companies, it does no other.
3. Its existence is perpetual. Your estate, in the event of the death of a personal executor or administrator, must look around for a substitute, and the work of administration is impeded during that time, and the new executor is unfamiliar with the policy of his predecessor, and confusion results. This company's existence is perpetual, and there is a continuity of policy in its administration that the death of its officers does not break.
4. It possesses the confidence of governments, universities and prominent charities and administrators their funds.
5. A number of other advantages which will appear in due course.
