

Gibbons' Great Courage.
LONG LEAD OVER BILLY MIKE, WHEN HE LOST ON ACCIDENTAL FOUL.

New York, Oct. 14.—Anyone of the crowd that filled Madison Square Garden last night and saw Tommy Gibbons last night, lost on a foul to Billy Mike, his fellow-townsmen, in the tenth round of their bout that was a green, looked upon the sort of a fighting man is rarely called upon to show, but a few of them knew better.

Only a few of that howling crowd saw a uniformed messenger boy creep to Gibbons' corner during the seventh round and cautiously getting beneath the guard and catching the fight into the hand of Eddie Gibbons' manager. Gibbons' manager got out of the corner of his eye.

When Tommy came to his corner at the end of the seventh round, he sank down on his stool and asked Kane: "What does it say?"

"That does what say," countered the manager, his face flushing.

"All right," answered Gibbons, "I know."

Tommy kept on slamming away, hitting cleverly, craftily, feinting his opponent into leads that led only to punishment until a twist of fate in the eighth round caused Gibbons' right fist to fall into Mike's belt, and Mike to fall upon the floor and the battle to end.

"Read it, Tom," he said. "Let's see your dress. I'm awfully sorry."

"All right," said Gibbons, the two eyes, battered fighter, tears streaming down his face. "I know what you mean."

Those who crowded the arena didn't know. They had seen fighters lose on fouls before, but they had never seen one cry—even when he had lost his fighting reputation. They did not know about the telegram that told the death of Tom's father in St. Paul, Minn., a further proof of his fighting luck. He had been ill for a long time. He was 72 years of age.

In the nine rounds that had preceded the foul Gibbons emulated the noted fighter of his brother, Mike. Gibbons had landed ten blows to Mike's one, yet the latter was not greatly weakened. At times the crowd gasped at Mike's utter inability to place his fists on Gibbons' body.

When the tenth round came both men played for the stomach and as Gibbons brought his right down Mike stepped forward and the blow struck Billy in the groin.

He dropped helpless to the floor, writhing in agony, but Ed McPartland, the referee, was so amazed that it was some time before he helped him to his corner.

When the judges' decision was announced, the crowd roared its disapproval.

Gibbons later said that the blow was foul, but that it was an accident. "I don't think that it was hard enough to hurt him much, and I could not avoid it as he lurched when we came together," the loser said.
