"Incidentally, do you notice what difficulty Mr. Drayton is having in locating a riding? He is like a disembodied spirit floating from place to place.

Mr. Murphy denied the allegation prevalent in certain ridings that the Conservatives were responsible for women suffrage. It was the Liberals, he said, who gave the earlier privileges to the women and subsequently any proposal for full suffrage that was ever introduced in the House until 1917 by the Liberal party was rejected by the Tories. The women, he said, are therefore owing no special debt of gratitude to the Meighen government on this subject. Why I Ask the Support of the— Electors of East Middlesex

By Major Duncan Graham Ross, M. C.

N ACCEPTING the Liberal nomination for the east riding of Middlesex, I am heartily in accord with the policies of true Liberalism as laid down at the Liberal convention in Ottawa in 1919, when the Hon. William Lyon Mackenzie King was chosen as our leader.

I am confident that a fair and just application of the policies then outlined will mitigate our many problems, alleviate the burdens of the taxpayer, and pave the way for the necessary enact-ment of a wider policy of revenue production. production.

I enter the contest fully aware of the intense gravity of the many problems that will have to be faced by the government that is returned on Dec. 6. We stand, at this moment confronted by a national debt which has already reached the appalling figure of more than two billions of dollars, and which as yet shows no sign of and which as yet shows no sign of and which as yet snows no sign of abatement.

Probably one of the gravest questions that will confront the next administration is that which involves the Canadian National Rallroads. Some twenty-two thousand miles of road are now controlled by the government, and even when in 1920 a deficit of $73,000,000 was admitted for one year's operation, members of the last administration intimated that the worst was "yet to that the worst was "yet to provision for the disabled soldier

It must ever be realized, ever by our opposition, that the vet-erans did not serve, suffer and sacrifice for themselves alone, but for their country. The debt owing them is a national one, and while it never can be paid in full, some further measures of relief can be devised which would undoubtedly receive the spontaneous and patriotic indorsation of the nation regardless of party affili-I recognize full well the fact

All these, and more, of Canada's natural resources must be utilized by Canadians for Can-ada and fostered by a sane and reasonable administration to eliminate the stupendous debt which mounts daily and restore again that "golden era of prosperity" which characterized this Canada of ours during the Laurier administration.

In appealing to the electors of East Middlesex, I come only as one of yourselves, a resident of Lucan, not only as a soldier who fought with thousands of others for his country overseas, but as a true Canadian as well, who believes in the ultimate pros-perity of the country under the and democratic principles of Liberalism.
