Vancouver, May 11.—There is more trouble on the steamer Manauense. The entire crew struck to-day owing to wages, as alleged, not being paid promptly.

Another world's sculling championship meeting was held to-day. As a result, a petition is in circulation asking the council to donate $2,500 for the race and other sports on July 1.

Christopher Baxter, an employee of Sheasgreen & Co., while attempting to imitate the workmen at the C. P. R. buildings in blasting rock, exploded prematurely a quantity of powder in the yard of his father's residence. His face is badly marked and he has sustained painful injuries.

The Women's Council has appointed a special committee to consider the question of establishing a training home for nurses in Vancouver. Miss Faith Fenwick, the eastern journalist who acted as delegate for Vancouver at a meeting of the grand council at Ottawa, read a very interesting report of those proceedings.

A verdict of accidental drowning was returned by the coroner's jury in the case of Frank Smith, found drowned and deceased and his sister arrived in Vancouver a short time ago and rented rooms over a store. They were seen to be in very humble circumstances and deceased was having a hard time. He met his death while attempting to secure firewood from False creek for his home.

In the case of Mrs. Bond, whose dead body was found on the floor of her lodgings by her orphaned daughter, a coroner's jury returned a verdict of death from natural causes.

A session of the board of trade last night was almost entirely taken up in debating the wisdom or otherwise of the Dominion government shipping supplies to the North in American bottoms.

Many Chinese in Vancouver are fretting over the regulations under the San Jose scale. It is preventing the importation of trees and plants from anywhere outside of Eastern Canada. It is said that numerous Chinese plants have been sent back by their owners as although healthy, the Dominion government inspector refused to pass them.

TROOPS FOR THE YUKON

This afternoon to see the arrival of the Yukon contingent of Canadian troops numbering about 200. Long before the time of the expected arrival the station platform was packed with the crowd and every point of vantage on the overlooking station was taken up. Shortly after 1:20 the special train of many coaches carrying troops, arrived up at the station. Several policemen cleared the station platform and the men who are to preserve order in the drill shed. The representatives of the forming up. After a few preliminaries they were formed into marching order and preceded by the battalion band, marched the principal streets to the drill shed. Lt. Col. Peters, D.O.C.; Major Jones, superintendent of stores; Col. Worsnop, Major Gordon, A.D.C.; Townley, and a number of other officers and privates welcomed Lt. Col. Evans and his force to the city. The men will stop in the drill shed, but the representatives of the town. On Friday evening they will be entertained by the local battalion at a smoker. The troops were highly praised for their appearance and the fact that they had their kit on their backs including canvas and leather bags and two small snail bags. The troops will be taken north on the Islander which is due here at the end of the week.

THE STIKINE MURDER.

Malcolm McLean, the Yukon police officer, formerly of Vancouver, has written to his brother, who captured the alleged murderer, Jos. C. Claus, while they were exciting chase lasting two days and a half. I travelled night and day with an Indian and dogs, taking no rest, and covered the ground the alleged murderer took six days to cover." Claus did not give himself up or confess the murder as reported. He was found in his pocket the purses of the murdered Canadians Burns and Hendricks, who it is thought were killed by Claus while they slept near Glenora. The representative of the Yukon police, who was with Claus, "broken with an axe. The murderer was frightened away while attempting to sink the bodies in the river. Claus is a native of Belgium, having come to Canada ten years ago. He has a child and wife in Wellington, B.C. He lived on a farm in Nanoose Bay for some time. He worked for some years at Vaie colliery in Nova Scotia. Claus will be brought to Vancouver or Victoria for trial.

MR. FORSTER'S CONSTITUENTS.

Mr. Forster's rejection at the hands of the opposition caucus of the Deita division causes comment here. It is by some asserted that the rejection of the proposal that the hon. member should again be asked to stand for the division in the opposition interest, is in part due to the introduction of a religious issue, amongst considerations leading to a choice of a candidate. Mr. Oliver, who has been nominated in Mr. Forster's stead, is a man of loud voice and many words, but is not likely to prove so capable a candidate as the man whom he has superseded. He has, it is understood, long been seeking to stand in the place of Mr. Forster. The division of opposition opinion, caused by the rejection of Mr. Forster's candidature, should considerably better the chances of the government or independent candidate for the division who may, it is said, be either Beeve Benson, a well esteemed and popular man.

The movement to secure subscriptions and donations towards the home mission fund of the New Westminster diocese is, under the lead of Archdeacon Pentreath, proving unexpectedly successful. Already the congregation of Christ church, Vancouver, has raised $340 for the fund and good contributions are also expected from the three other Anglican parishes of Vancouver. One of the next steps will probably be the re-opening of the church at Barkerville and a renewal of work in the long abandoned sphere of Carleton where the services of an Anglican clergyman have long been needed.

FATALITY AT ROSSLAND

Miner Formerly of Nanaimo Falls Two Hundred Feet Down Virginia Shaft.

Overcome by Gas the Unlucky Man Lost His Grasp on the Hoisting Cable.

Rossland, May 11.—A fatal accident occurred at the Virginia mine early this morning. The night shift had just gone to work when it was discovered at the bottom of the 300 foot shaft that there was considerable powder gas, resulting from blasting earlier in the night.

One of the men, William James, began to feel faint and decided to go to the surface for a breath of fresh air. He was accompanied by another miner. Both stood on the edge of the bucket as they were hoisted up the shaft. When the bucket had been raised 200 feet and was within 100 feet of the surface James, overcome by dizziness and lost his grip on the cable. As he fell his partner tried to save him, but without success and James dropped 200 feet to the bottom of the shaft. The unfortunate man dashed against the sides of the shaft several times and the bottom with his head. His body was a mangled mass of bones and flesh.

James had been working four months on this part of the mine and had been land upwards of a year. He was thirty-two years of age and married. He worked in the coal mines of Nanaimo before coming to Rossland.

LUXFER PRISMS.

In this enterprising age business men find that it pays to have the latest and best in goods or store equipment. Welter Bros are up-to-date, and are on the lookout for every improvement that will make perfect business premises in their new building. They have set up a new device for improving the light in their carrying department on test at their Post street warehouses, with a view to using it in their new building. Luxfer prisms, as they are called, are composed of sections of glass, cut in a series of parallel lines, having a series of prisms on the other surface. When these are glazed in the upper part of a window they carry the light horizontally across the longest warehouses and fill the room with clear and diffused daylight, even on the darkest days. The Luxfer Prism Co., Ltd., of Toronto, is Mr. F. W. Barrett, who is stopping at the Driand, and will furnish estimates to anyone interested in having a dark store or a dark office it will be worth your while to visit Welter Bros. and see the Luxfer prism exhibit.

A DRUNKEN ROW.

James Hawkins Was Stabbed in a House on Cook Street—Robert Nolan Accused.

The man who early yesterday morning awoke Mr. Nolan to say that he was stabbed, turned out to be James Hawkins. At first he refused to say who had inflicted the wounds and where the trouble had taken place. The police, however, found out that it had occurred in a house on Cook street occupied by a woman, Louisa Whitehead. The woman and two men, Robert Nolan and Henry Bradley, found on the premises were placed under arrest, the men charged with assault and battery.

If the story of the woman can be believed, and it seems straight forward, it is the guilty man. She says that herself, Nolan, Bradley and Hawkins had been drinking during the night and Nolan tried to pull Hawkins off a bed. The latter, however, refused to get up and "carried the crowd" as the woman put it. Nolan thereupon went into the kitchen and obtaining a butcher knife stabbed Hawkins in the breast and back. The wounded man stumbled out of the house, presumably to go to a doctor and being weakened by the loss of blood and frightened, went to Mr. Gutman's house which he had to pass for help. As soon as he had left the Cook street house Bradley, Nolan and Bradley went into their drunken stupor from which they were awakened by the police.

Hawkins' wounds are not serious, but his insanity being proved he was committed to be detained during the attorney-general's pleasure. A charge of unlawfully wounding found by the jury, a case of common assault only, and conviction for prison breaking were the other incidents of the day's assize.

DALTON MCCARTHY, M.P.

The Eminent Canadian Lawyer and Politician Succumbs to His Injuries.

Brief Review of Busy and Exciting Career of This Remarkable Man.

Toronto Preparing Great Demonstration of Respect for Her Distinguished Citizen.

Toronto, May 11.—Dalton McCarthy, Q.C., M.P., died to-night about 9 o'clock from the effects of the accident on Sunday last when he was thrown from his rig against a telegraph pole. Mr. McCarthy has hovered between life and death ever since. Members of the family were around him but he had been unconscious some hours before death. Mr. McCarthy was driving to the Union station to take the train to Ottawa when the accident occurred. The greatest regret is felt in Toronto where he was personally popular apart from the distinction he had won in his profession and politics. The funeral takes place on Saturday and will not be made a marked occasion of respect to the deceased.

The following sketch of the career of the deceased member of parliament is from Morgan's "Canadian Men and Women of the Time": Dalton McCarthy, Q.C., statesman, belongs to an ancient Irish family. He is the son of the late D'Alton McCarthy, solicitor, by his wife, Charisza Hope Mitchell, an Englishwoman of the name of Blackrock, near Dublin, Ireland, October 10, 1838. His early studies were conducted in his native country. He was accompanied by his parents to Canada, and was placed at the Barrie Grammar school, where he completed his education. He then went to the University of Toronto on the practice of his profession in partnership with his father and the late D'Arcy Boulton, Q.C., and speedily attained distinction in the law. He was elected a member of the Law Society, 1871, and was created a Q.C. in the following year by the Hon. D'Arcy Boulton, Q.C. He was named an honorable member of the Law Faculty of Toronto University, and was elected a member of the Executive Council of the Dominion in 1879. He removed from Barrie to Toronto, and there established the firm that goes by his name, and has long ranked amongst the foremost doing business within the Dominion.

"Apart from his everyday work, Mr. McCarthy was engaged in a large number of peculiar inter and importance, including a large number of appeals to the Privy Council in England. As a jurist he was distinguished by his superior in Canada. "His style," says one of his biographers, "is sharp and incisive, his glance keen and searching, his sunken eyes gleaming with intelligence and lucidity. While not as subtle as Christopher Robinson, or as powerful as Edward Blake, he is not far behind either of them." Mr. McCarthy was first returned to parliament December 14, 1876, at a by-election held in the riding of the name of the member of the Conservative party. He was re-elected in 1878, and in 1880, and in 1882, and in 1884, and in 1886, and in 1888, and in 1890, and in 1892, and in 1894, and in 1896, and in 1898. He was a member of the Executive Council of the Dominion in 1879, and in 1880, and in 1881, and in 1882, and in 1883, and in 1884, and in 1885, and in 1886, and in 1887, and in 1888, and in 1889, and in 1890, and in 1891, and in 1892, and in 1893, and in 1894, and in 1895, and in 1896, and in 1897, and in 1898, and in 1899, and in 1900. He was a member of the Privy Council in 1880, and in 1881, and in 1882, and in 1883, and in 1884, and in 1885, and in 1886, and in 1887, and in 1888, and in 1889, and in 1890, and in 1891, and in 1892, and in 1893, and in 1894, and in 1895, and in 1896, and in 1897, and in 1898, and in 1899, and in 1900. He was a member of the House of Commons in 1880, and in 1881, and in 1882, and in 1883, and in 1884, and in 1885, and in 1886, and in 1887, and in 1888, and in 1889, and in 1890, and in 1891, and in 1892, and in 1893, and in 1894, and in 1895, and in 1896, and in 1897, and in 1898, and in 1899, and in 1900. He was a member of the Senate in 1880, and in 1881, and in 1882, and in 1883, and in 1884, and in 1885, and in 1886, and in 1887, and in 1888, and in 1889, and in 1890, and in 1891, and in 1892, and in 1893, and in 1894, and in 1895, and in 1896, and in 1897, and in 1898, and in 1899, and in 1900.
