UTTERLY HELPLESS FROM ST. VITUS DANCE

The Sufferer Restored to Health
Through the Use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

St. Vitus dance is a disease of the nerves brought on by a morbid condition of the blood. It is a common disease with children, and attacks girls more frequently than boys. Irritability is frequently one of the first signs noted. The child frets, it is quarrelsome, and does not sleep well. The jerky movements that characterize the disease come a little later. The patient becomes pale, languid, and often constipated. The limbs and sometimes the whole body jerks spasmodically, and in severe cases the power of speech is affected. Such a child should be kept quiet, given a nutritious diet, removed out of doors as much as possible, and above all things given a course of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to build up the blood and restore the shattered nerves. Without this treatment the trouble may become chronic and the patient a life-long sufferer. The value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in cases of this kind is shown by the following statement by Mr. Frank Scriven, Acton, Ont., who says: "In January, 1917, when I resided at Milton, Ont., my daughter Gertrude, then aged fourteen, had a bad attack of rheumatic fever, which left as its after effects a severe attack of St. Vitus dance. For weeks she was confined to her bed under the doctor's care. She was entirely helpless, being unable to even hold a spoon to feed herself. For a time she lost the power of speech almost entirely, and only with great difficulty made herself understood. The twitching of her muscles was so bad it was painful to see her. After a long time and taking a lot of medicine, she seemed to improve. But she did not seem to get along as she ought to. In November, 1917, we removed to Acton, and in January, 1918, she was again confined to her bed with St. Vitus dance. She was again in a terrible state and quite helpless. She was under a doctor's care and while there was an improvement she was still very nervous, did not look well and was always tired. In May, 1918, we decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and see what they would do for her. She took them regularly according to directions, and after taking several boxes there was a decided improvement. After a further use of the Pills she is now as healthy a girl as you would wish to see. She is fat, with a fine, healthy color and is strong and lively. The neighbors to whom she is well known remark on the wonderful change in her appearance since taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Both her mother and myself are convinced that the pills have done her a world of good as she is far healthier than we at one time thought she ever would be."

For all trouble due to poor blood and weak nerves there is no other medicine can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. You can get these pills from any dealer in medicine, or by mail, post paid, at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

GINGHAMS FOR PALM BEACH

Fabric Favored for Morning Wear
Where Weather Does Not Demand
Heavier Frocks.

Ginghams prevail at Palm Beach for morning wear. One of the prettiest seen recently was of medium size blue and white check, buttoned up the back with pearl buttons and sashed with gingham, the ends tying in the back, apron fashion. The long sleeves had cuffs of sheer white lawn, hemstitched in blue thread, and the collar, of the same material, was round in the front and came to two points in the back on either side of the buttons.

Two small pockets in the front of the skirt were also trimmed with white. With this was worn an attractive blue straw hat, with a wide brim, and on the large crown were several flowers in yellow and old rose, made from threads of wool yarn cut at the ends.

Friend Wife Laughed

I was motoring along one of our country roads in my trusty little bus with friend wife, who was carrying a most unwelcome bit of grouch, when I pulled alongside of a large, lazy sedan with a man trying to fix it.

"Trouble?" I asked.

"Some," was the laconic answer.

"What power car is it?"

"Forty-horse," came the answer.

"What seems to be the matter with it?"

"Well, from the way she acts, I should say that thirty-nine of the horses were dead."

This must have been the funniest of experiences, for my wife actually laughed—right out loud.—Exchange.

New Insurance Idea

To stimulate marriage several insurance companies in Great Britain are now issuing what is called marriage insurance. It provides for payment of $2,500 at the expiration of 25 years or earlier, at death of the assured, and, in addition, $500 in respect of each of five children born after the date of the policy who attain the age of twelve years, payable by five installments of $100 each on the twelfth and four succeeding birthdays.

A. BROWN & CO.

"THE STORE THAT SATISFIES"

Suppose The Guide-Advocate ceased publication

JUST suppose this community was left without a local newspaper! What would become of its local pride? Watford would just be a name on a railway time-table or a post-office guide. Men and women might die, or marry, or go away, or suffer accidents, or entertain friends, and you would hear about it all only through gossip. Farm sales and other announcements of interest to this particular part of the wide, wide world would have no publicity. Our local merchants would have no cheap and quick way of telling you what they provide for you. Our churches and schools and other institutions would have no medium of news or appeal. And this whole community would slip back and be the sport of joke-smiths.

Would city papers take the place of The Guide-Advocate?
You know they would not.

The point of it all is this: You have read many times lately of the great scarcity and exorbitant high price of newsprint. It's a very serious time for newspaper publishers. Your home weekly is really hit harder than the big metropolitan dailies. Throughout the country scores of newspapers have given up the fight; dozens more will inevitably follow. In Lambton County alone, seven local weeklies have passed out just since the war. The only solution is—we must have more revenue to cover these ever-increasing expenses.

We are forced to raise The Guide-Advocate subscription to $2.00 a year to assist us over this crisis in the newsprint situation. We are playing fairly and generously with all our subscribers, and we ask for your co-operation and support. We are giving all the opportunity of renewing for next year before July 1st at the old rate. Those who have not yet paid for this year may take advantage of the same offer before July 1st.

The Guide-Advocate enjoys the distinction of being one of the best town weeklies in Ontario. Scores of our brother publishers compliment us on our good service to Watford and vicinity. And we believe all our subscribers will back us up and help us through the difficulty. $2.00 is not a high price for a good home newspaper. In United States most town weeklies are $3.00 and $3.50.
