The day being very fine, a large number of persons assembled to witness the proceedings and the general feeling was one of gratification at this attempt made by the Society to excite a spirit of emulation among the agriculturists of that section of the County, and it is to be hoped that the feeling of interest in the Society's operations which has been caused by this step will continue, and increase until every person residing in the County and engaged in the cultivation of the soil, will enrol their names upon the Society's books and endeavour to extend and increase its usefulness.
