Of Long Felicity, Brief Word 289

She will not approve these last few pages. She will demand their erasure, declaring them extravagant and an offence against the reticence of true art.

But not one line will I expunge, for they are true.

THE END.

y of day by e in Yvonne hile passion

realizes the ch responds

I had half . But one, effect that ever caused true. The ed its falsewas little e any germ ie, then the it must be life cannot dent faith is ie the more Many times life seemed m to where ls over her my own art its with the dominance , ought to