

BUTTER

Finest September and October butter is in good demand and merchants will do well to keep their receipts moving this way. We can guarantee as good results as can be obtained elsewhere, besides giving prompt returns and remittances.

EGGS

Fresh stock doing well. Our trade is demanding a large quantity. Don't wait for a large shipment, whenever you have two or more cases, send them along to our address.

CHEESE

We can offer you the selections of our Manitoba factories in September cheese. We have been most careful in selecting fine goods this season. Every box inspected by our own buyer. If you favor us with your orders for your winter requirements, you will certainly be pleased with the goods.

Lessening Expense in Production.

In this age of progress and advancement in the production of manufactured articles, the interests of the consumer are often lost sight of in the efforts to secure large profits. Such was not the case in the consolidation that was effected under the title of United Factories, Limited, which is operating Boeck's Toronto Factories, Ryan's London Factories and Cane's Newmarket Factories. The products of these factories enter into the needs of the everyday consumer perhaps more directly than most lines of manufacture. The object of the consolidation was to lessen expense in management and production, which will reflect directly in the reduction of prices of such universal household necessities as breakfast breads and woodenware, which are their specialties. The United Factories, Limited, are putting on the market the very best and most reliable goods that money, skill and large manufacturing facilities can produce, and at prices that are even less than second or third-rate domestic or foreign goods are ordinarily purchased at. It is therefore in the interest of all consumers to ask for and insist upon having goods produced by the United Factories.

G. W. Baldwin, tur buyer, left Winnipeg last week for a few weeks' vacation to St. Paul.
