The Funk & Wagnalls Standard Dictionary.

"The greatest achievement of Modern Times." Everywhere conceded to be the masterwork of the century, the latest and positively the greatest new dictionary of the English language. It is the work of over 240 of the most eminent scholars and specialists of the world, over 100 of the foremost colleges and universities were represented on its editorial staff, and more than $900,000 were expended in its production before a single copy was ready for the market. It has 75,000 more vocabulary terms than any other dictionary. Never was any book welcomed by such an outburst of enthusiastic praise from the press and public of the entire world as that which greeted the Standard Dictionary. Already it is everywhere the accepted standard of authority, and is unanimously pronounced the handsomest and most perfect dictionary ever made. It is unapproachable as a Christmas gift.

THERE ARE THOUSANDS OF OPINIONS LIKE THE FOLLOWING:

THE ST. JAMES'S BUDGET (weekly edition of the St. James's Gazette), London, says: "The Standard Dictionary should be the pride of Literary America, as it is the admiration of Literary England."

THE NEW YORK HERALD says: "We are free to pronounce it the most satisfactory dictionary yet printed. . . . This is high praise, to be sure, but it is well merited."

THE JOURNAL OF EDUCATION says: "It will make the world its debtor, and all who write must praise it evermore. It challenges criticism and commands admiration."

PROF. A. G. WILKINSON, Principal Examiner since 1889 in U. S. Patent Office: "The most perfect dictionary ever made in any language, and I have them and consult them in six different languages almost daily. The high authority of this dictionary is one of its most important features. I should give it preference on all disputed points."

PROF. SAYCE, of Oxford University, England, the Eminent Philologist, says: "The Standard Dictionary is truly magnificent, and worthy of the great continent which has produced it. It is more than complete. . . . It is certain to supersede all other existing dictionaries of the English language."
