Baseball Toronto Defeats Providence Before 23,000 Cheering Fans

Turf O. J. C. Official Entries For Eleven Stake Events

Note and Comment

It was indeed a proud day for the president. A crowd of over 23,000, that included 22,467 paid admissions, saw Collins' clam-diggers of Providence on opening day at the island. The weather was ideal, the visiting players expressing surprise at the summer-like day and the green foliage everywhere that were unknown quantities when they left Rhode Island.

The Island Stadium never looked better, and the thousands who overflowed into the outfield looked as happy as larks on the green sward. Dicky Rudolph was at all times master of emy got two on with no one out in the Leafs. the fifth, they were not dangerous, the star twirler striking out Peterson at the psychological moment.

The new big leaguers, Keeler, Jor dan, Bradley and Phelps, all made good with the fans, three of them by clever fielding, and the backstop coming up with a two-base hit and the bases full. While the new-comers fail. ed to get generally into the hit column, their business would indicate that they would deliver the goods even if there were no past performances. It's a treat to see Keeler step into the ball, tho the wonder is how he works with his hands midway up on the bat.

Mullen had a great day in the field. Vaughn did not play up to his road

After all, it's McCaffery and his as sociates who are to be congratulated. Mine host was here, there and everywhere, always returning a genial smile to the throng that passed the president's box, and wearing gloves thruout the ordeal.

Sporting Editor Perrin of The Providence Journal is here with the Greys. He says Rochester was nothing short of lucky in getting away with their four games. He expects their toam to stay well up in the race, as Collins has collected a fine lot of youngsters. They, however, miss Jakey Atz from the infield. He broke a finger on opening day, and Nill has been working since at second-base.

The firemen have organized their baseball club, with these officers: Honorary president, Chief Thompson; honorary vice-president, Deputy Chief Noble; president, District Chief Villers; manager, Steve Lesslie. They have all the oldeplayers, and several new ones, and promise to treat, their old-time rivals, the police, to a surprise on Friday at Ketchum Park.
