The Nursery Mother's Authority There are many who claim that a mother's authority over her children is a thing of the past, that parental discipline exists no longer and that children do as they please. Surely this is a very dark view of the case. I do not think that children hear about and read about were seemingly more obedient and consulted their parents' wishes for a much longer period than the children of today, but that obedience was instilled by fear. These days there is a healthy companionship between parents and children, that was not dreamed of a generation ago. The pessimist insists that the "chum" theory is based on a genuine understanding. There is still a godly amount of authority in it; but I confess in many cases there might be more. Mothers who lack this authority are the last ones to recognize the fact. The children are quick enough to know it. The development, keeping and increasing of the mother's authority over the child is one of the most important things we have to deal with. It is based on instilling the habit of obedience in children. Along with the exercise of authority there must be a growth of confidence on the child's part in the wisdom and loving kindness of the mother's decisions. The result of this growth is the real comradeship that every parent and child longs to enjoy. Yesterday we spoke of explaining to a child the reason for decisions, so that he might understand their justice, and not lose faith in his judge. Common sense must be brought into play to decide just when these explanations should be made. When a child is sore with disappointment, an attempted explanation would probably lead to discussion—perhaps not kind. In some moods children are much more approachable than in others. Above all, consider what your attitude means to your child. Take into account this viewpoint. The more mistaken it is, the harder you will need to work to change it. But win him over to your side if you would retain your influence.

Elinor Murray OCTOBER 26 IF THIS IS YOUR BIRTHDAY You will grieve over some love affair. Take care that you are not the only party of the wrong. Your year will be full of annoyances and will profit you little, unless you can draw strength from your experiences. In this case you will look back without regret. Those born today will have many difficulties and disappointments but they are born to succeed and will learn to laugh at trouble from sheer familiarity with it. They will have the power of seeing beyond it.

No Need Being Old or Wrinkled Before 75 Lillian Russell says any woman who has wrinkles before she's 75 is herself responsible for them. Sunshine and fresh air she considers more valuable as complexion preservers than nostrums and cosmetics. The chief objection to cosmetics is that at best they only temporarily cover up defects. There are certain true aids to Nature which may be applied with directly opposite effect. Ordinary mercerized wax, for instance, actually removes a bad or odious complexion, by gradually, almost imperceptibly, peeling off the worn-out outer skin. Just one ounce, procurable at any drug store, will soon unveil an entirely new and natural complexion, with an exquisite girlish color. Of course cutaneous blemishes like pimples, freckles, fine lines, moth patches, liver spots, disappear with the discarded skin. To prevent or remove wrinkles, a face bath, which also produces natural results, is made by dissolving an ounce of saxolite in a half-pint witch hazel. It's wonderfully effective.

Bernhardt Writes for Sunday World

Another big feature has been secured by The Toronto Sunday World, namely, a series of articles written by Madame Sarah Bernhardt, the greatest actress in the history of the stage. These articles written by the Divine Sarah herself come to The World from Paris, absolutely unchanged, and needless to say, this arrangement has involved an enormous amount of expense. The Toronto Sunday World has secured the Canadian rights for this feature, which will appear in only a few papers in the States and Canada.

Madame Bernhardt writes on all sorts of topics of interest to women and draws largely from her wide experience as a woman and artist in her articles. This is easily the biggest and most costly feature that ever appeared in a Canadian newspaper. An article will appear every week in The Sunday World, beginning next Sunday. Don't miss a single issue.

NON-CATHOLIC LECTURES

Conclude Sunday at St. Peter's and Start Monday at St. Paul's.

The Paulist Fathers will conclude their non-Catholic lectures in St. Peter's Church tomorrow with special sermons morning and evening. At the high mass, "The Necessity of Prayer" will be the theme, and in the evening Father Conway will lecture on "Why I Am a Catholic."

Mr. and Mrs. William Molson Macpherson of Quebec are visiting St. Catharines, Ont., and are staying at the Welland.
