Stengel's Homer Finishes It

In the last inning, Wednesday, Casey Stengel, centerfielder, and veteran of many a hard-fought campaign, poled a mighty home run to deep center. The camera caught him coming into the plate, bringing home the run that meant a Giant victory.

A HOME RUN WALLOP BY STENGEL GIVES GIANTS THIRD SERIES GAME

National League Team Wins 1-0 Victory With Lone Tally in 7th.

A mighty clout from Casey Stengel's bat gave the Giants a 1 to 0 victory over the Yankees yesterday in the third game of the world's series. This was the second time that Casey came across with a circuit drive and turned the tide of victory in favor of the National League champions. Up to that fatal inning, the seventh, Sam Jones was turning the hard-hitting Giants back, not one reaching second base. On the other hand, Neft, McGraw's port-guard, was holding the Yankees well in hand and although he was in danger a couple of times sensational fielding saved the day.

The greatest throng that ever paid its way into a baseball arena, 65,000 frenzied fans who were massed in the gigantic enclosure, while 30,000 were swarming about the entrances outside, saw Stengel deliver the blow that gave John McGraw and his warriors a 2 to 1 advantage in the most stirring baseball drama of all time. All world's series records for attendance and gate receipts were shattered by that vast gathering in baseball's greatest amphitheatre. The actual paid attendance was 62,430 besides 3,000 who did not go through the turnstiles, while the total receipts were $201,072, putting the three game figures beyond $800,000 and practically assuring for 1923, the first million dollar championship in history.

Records Are Broken.

The paid attendance broke the former record of 60,381, established during a double-header at the stadium late in the regular season while the gathering as a whole had but one superior in size, that of approximately 70,000 that witnessed the dedication of the big structure last spring.

Groh threw out Schang at first. No runs, no hits, no errors.

A Record-Breaker

Attendance and receipts at yesterday's game at the Yankee Stadium broke all records for world series baseball. The official figures showed 62,430 paid admissions, with receipts $201,072. The baseball commission's share of the receipts will be $30,160.80, and that of the players' pool $102,546.72. The Yankees and the Giants will each receive $34,183.24 as their share of the day's receipts. The play in yesterday's game was followed with increasing interest at the boards around the city and the machine at the Pythian Castle. Stengel's home run clout aroused the greatest enthusiasm. The big question today is "Will the base be the count with Casey?" It looks like Shawkey for the Yanks and Scott for the Giants.
