In the case of immigrants under eighteen the sum of $125 is required, while parents must possess $50 for each child under the age of five years.

These regulations are waived in favor of farm laborers and house servants and in favor of persons traveling to join their families. Entry of persons not in possession of a valid passport issued by the governments of their respective countries is prohibited. These passports must be presented within one year of their issue, and if not British passports must be viced by a British diplomatic or consular officer. This regulation is not intended to apply to British subjects coming to Canada either directly or indirectly from the United Kingdom, the United States or any of the self-governing dominions or to a citizen of the United States or to persons who have been resident in the United States for at least one year.

FARMER, FEARING LAW, IS SEVERELY BEATEN. Gang Wanted His Permission to Store Liquor on His Farm.

Windsor, Sept. 16.—Fear for the law cost Hiemen Kingham, a farmer, living on Reaume road, Sandwich West, a severe beating according to the story he told the Windsor police. He said he was attacked by several men, when he refused to allow them to store a load of liquor on his farm.

Kingham appeared at the station badly battered. Both eyes were nearly closed, and his scalp was cut with blows from a heavy instrument with which he was struck from behind.

He said the men appeared and tried to bargain with him for a place to store a quantity of liquor. Knowing the severity of the law in those caught in such business, he refused their offers of money. They then became angry and assaulted him, he said. He could not tell the exact number of men in the gang, but thought he knew where one of them lived.

MOTHERS! WATCH YOUR TEETHING BABIES THOUSANDS OF THEM DIE EVERY SUMMER

When the baby starts to cut its teeth, then is the time the poor mother is under the stress of great anxiety. The child's bowels become loose, and diarrhoea, dysentery, colic, cramps and many other bowel complaints manifest themselves; the gums become swollen, cankers form in the mouth, and in many cases the child wastes to a shadow, and very often the termination is fatal.

On the first indication of any looseness of the bowels, give a few doses of DR. FOWLER'S EXTRACT OF WILD STRAWBERRY and thus, perhaps, save your baby's life.

For the past 76 years "Dr. Fowler's" has been used by mothers for teething babies so you do not experiment with a new and untried remedy which might be dangerous to your darling's health. Price 50c a bottle, put up by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

LUMBERING WILL BE LIGHT THIS WINTER

Prospects for Employment in Woods are Not Bright, Says Sussex Paper—Some Concerns Will Carry On if Possible.

(Sussex Record) One of the things that has done much to insure unemployment in New Brunswick during the coming winter is the lack of demand for lumber. The lumber market took a bad slump about a year ago and since that time the call for lumber has been a very distant one. Many things have tended to kill the demand for lumber, but possibly the greatest drawback has been the excessive cost of building and the lack of ready money. Wages are still high at many points and it is impossible to construct a building with any hope of getting a remunerative return on the investment. Consequently persons who might entertain thoughts of building whether for themselves or for the purpose of investment are loath to engage in any enterprises of that character. Right here in Sussex there is a big scarcity of houses and a constant demand for suitable residences. However, there is not apt to be any great rush in building until such time as the building costs are somewhere near where a man investing his money can get interest on it. Of course, this is not only true of Sussex but it is true of other places. Gradually this condition is changing and sooner or later there will be a revival of activities in the building line and then lumber will move more rapidly.

However, the present conditions are what confront the public and hundreds of millions of feet of lumber are stored in the province which cannot be sold at the present moment. This lumber was all manufactured on the peak of the market when wages were at the highest and when the cost of selling lumber at present prices in view of the high cost of production is a mighty unprofitable transaction and the lumber concerns will have to make a big loss in getting rid of their stocks. Many of the largest lumber concerns are tied up for the want of working capital having borrowed all their money and these financial institutions care to lend in view of the declining prices on forest products. It is, therefore, a difficult matter for any lumber concern to finance operation during the coming winter and the outlook is that the largest lumber operations in the province will do very little at the lumber game. The small individual operator who makes a cut of a few hundred thousand feet will also be off the market because in such a small quantity of lumber the great deal of unemployment will result from this lack of activity. During the past few seasons there were many small cuts of pulp wood and these small operations gave employment, in the aggregate, to a very large number of men. However, with little of the pulp wood cut last year disposed of in Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Ontario and Quebec, the likelihood of any extensive pulp operations this winter is extremely remote. There has been some lumber moved of late but the extent of that business is not sufficient to create optimism. It would seem that the bulk of the business to be done this year would be by lumber concerns who will have to do enough to keep their regular hands going. Every big lumber concern has a certain number of tenants and men which must be employed year after year in order to have them available would be a direct loss. At the same time if they are employed it will be necessary to engage other hands as well and in that way it is possible and quite probable that there will be more or less business done in a quiet way. Some of the concerns are in a tight way along this line but at the present moment they are not prepared to definitely state just what they will do. There are some lumber concerns who may let contracts on the understanding that the contractor will stake himself. In past years it has been the policy of the big lumber companies to issue supplies and carry the contractor. During 1921 and 1922 the situation will probably be reversed and the contractor will be asked to look after himself until such time as the lumber can be marketed, taking a lean on the logs he cuts. If this plan is adopted it might result in considerable more business being done. Many of the contractors have their outfit which cost them considerable money and to have it idle during the winter would be a great loss to them. It is, therefore, quite likely that some such arrangement will be made whereby contracts worked out it should open up an outlet for labor which at the present time is not definitely fixed. In addition to the operations of the lumber companies it is understood that at least some lumbering will be done where the sale of logs is assured. Of course these minor operations will be done practically within the owner's own forces and will represent but a small portion of the cut of the province. Within the next few weeks some more definite announcement may be made in regard to the outlook. It is to be hoped that wherever possible lumber operations will be carried on in order to relieve the unemployment which must be in evidence this winter. All the work possible will be needed in order to tide over the period between now and the spring.
