

The Use Of

It is, may be a mistake one, but I believe it, and believe it now, and shall continue to do so until I see a satisfactory evidence to the contrary.

As anything more shameful than this ever printed? The above declaration of Farrer shows that the man is utterly without moral sense, and that he has grown so accustomed to rilly a bad cause by bad arguments that he is become incapable of distinguishing right from wrong.

Let us take that illustration which will fit the case exactly. Suppose Mr. Farrer to be a domestic, let us say a butler, in a gentleman's family, and suppose the master of the house to be found some morning murdered.

Let us further suppose that a paper is found further upon that paper is found containing a plan of the house and giving advice to the robbers to be able to escape on the plan that is entering it, and also full instructions in regard to the best way to effect the murder and robbery.

THE OLD FLAG, THE OLD POLICY, THE OLD LEADER.

Here are two different opinions from the same source, and the public can choose for themselves which opinion is the more reasonable.

From the Telegraph of Dec. 19th, 1887. 'Nothing but a vast and common-sense union with Mr. Ellis is to be counted it will probably be found that the Telegraph's opinion of 1887 was the correct one.'

From the Telegraph of Feb. 12th, 1891. 'Mr. Ellis is again the candidate for the city, with the avowed object of re-election by an increased majority.'

The Fifth of March, 1891. 'The battle of the 5th of March was a glorious day for the cause. Gladly we will for it.'

No fair-minded reader shall see us from the right. We are not a party. We are a people. We are a nation. We are a people. We are a nation. We are a people. We are a nation.

There are some people of whom one never tires, no matter how often one sees them nor how long one knows them. They are so sympathetic that they are perpetual cheer and variety that makes them delightful companions.

FARRER'S TREASON. The case of Farrer, the editor of the Toronto Globe, has attracted a degree of interest far beyond the merits of the case.

HOW THE TREASON OF ELLIS CAN BE PUNISHED. Mr. Ellis has been allowed to write in the lead among them, as he himself admits, points out how Canada may be coerced into annexation.

A GLOBE LIE HAILED. The Globe of last evening contains the following statement: 'Mr. Geo. H. Waring, who has a half-promotion of the position of boiler inspector, is proving his devotion to the ward.'

HOW ELLIS KEEPS HIS OATH. Mr. John V. Ellis has taken the oath of allegiance many times, as an officer of Militia, as a member of the Legislature, as a member of the House of Commons.
