Chicago, Ill., Tuesday, Feb. 11.—R. H. Ashton, Regional Director of Railroads for the Northwest, in his annual report for the year ended December 31, 1918, made public today, shows that a total saving of $34,233.28 was effected in the operating expenses of the lines under his control as a result of the unification and economies due to government operation.

Director Ashton pointed out that the unification of terminals, passenger and freight stations was closed.

"By the elimination of unnecessary passenger trains," says the report, "23,280,400 miles were saved last year, a reduction in operating cost of about $1 per train mile.

Revolutionary Syndicalism.
Springfield Republican: "The conduct of these disturbers is evidently directed not toward the redress of specific wrongs but toward the speed of the world system by direct action; that is, it is revolutionary syndicalism, or I. W. W.ism. But this destructive philosophy has repeatedly proved its weakness as the inspirer of sustained effort, and it appears altogether probable that the rank and file, and real leadership of British labor are in a great majority against it."

NEWS AND GOSSIP OF WALL STREET

Hornblower and Weeks' Forecast.

"The developments of the last two months were predictable only last fall because they were economically inevitable," says the Stock Exchange firm of Hornblower & Weeks, whose forecasts recently have been remarkably accurate. "That the price of steel products, coppers and other commodities (including ocean tonnage and labor in that term) will go lower is always psychological, and that is why it is possible to start with in the next ten days a substantial movement even though the processes of adjustment are not completed. The stock will probably get down again in April and May, but they are not apt to get as low as they will be this week, and meanwhile the interest 'spring rise' should be well worth trying for."

General Motors Contract.

"Much confusion and no little anxiety were perceptible in the market circles yesterday over the question of General Motors' debenture 'B' contracts. Yesterday was delivery day for the stock under those agreements. The sellers, however, were undecided whether to deduct the amount of a dividend declared on the stock on January 15. As a result that contract was not completed. The committee on Arbitration is likely to be provided with another little job. The stock was issued to the latter's assets. The dividend declared was paid to the General Motors Company to the United Motors. The only question was were the men who have to deliver the stock under contract owners of it on the day the dividend was declared. They can think that over in view of the date on which it was listed on the Stock Exchange and issued."

BANKERS DIFFER ON TERMS FIXED FOR 5TH LIBERTY LOAN

Many Think Five Year Bond Should be Issued.

New York, Feb. 11.—When Carter Glass, Secretary of the Treasury, arrives here next Friday to talk over the terms of the Fifth Liberty Loan with the bankers, it is expected that the government will sell in April, he will find that bankers are far from being in a unit on what those terms should be. Their views are so much at variance that it is almost impossible to find any two who express the same opinion.

The feeling is general that a five year bond should be issued, but even on this point sentiment is divided. Some bankers think that the entire issue should mature in five years, while others favor a bond with two different bonds, one bearing a longer maturity than the other.

In the matter of interest rates, some bankers believe that a five per cent. bearing 4 1/2 per cent. partly tax exempt would prove a greater success. Others argue for a higher interest rate. They draw attention to the fact that outstanding Liberty Bonds are better than a 4 1/2 per cent. basis. Third Liberty 4 1/2's, 12 feet, are close to a 5 per cent. basis, taking the coupon rate and the maturity into consideration. Another suggestion is that part of the new issue should be taxable and part tax exempt. The high rate of interest, while part tax exempt, would be a 4 per cent. tax exempt, while by fixing the lower rate it would save half of 1 per cent. in interest a year, which on $6,000,000 would amount to $30,000,000. In this way it would be able to average down its annual interest charges. Each 3 1/2 per cent. bond sold would be 30 per cent. less at a higher rate.

The demand for 3 1/2 per cent. bonds outstanding is large because of their tax exempt feature. The only reason they are selling under par, investment bankers say, is because of the fear that another tax exempt bond bearing a high interest rate, may be issued. Rich men will be hard hit by the new revenue act. On incomes of a million dollars a year, the total income taxes are cut down by 50 per cent. In this circumstance it is said another 3 1/2 per cent. tax exempt issue would find enormous investment demand.

Anarchial Strikes.

Brooklyn Eagle: "In the somewhat confused news that the world has received of serious disturbances caused by strikes in various parts of Great Britain—disturbances that are unquestionably compelling the attention of a puzzled government—most of the strikes have not been ordered or countenanced by the bodies that are being supposed to command such loyalty. In a special sense these are anarchial strikes, and because of their irregularity are the greater menace."

Revolutionary Syndicalism.

Springfield Republican: "The conduct of these disturbers is evidently directed not toward the redress of specific wrongs but toward the speed of the world system by direct action; that is, it is revolutionary syndicalism, or I. W. W.ism. But this destructive philosophy has repeatedly proved its weakness as the inspirer of sustained effort, and it appears altogether probable that the rank and file, and real leadership of British labor are in a great majority against it."

GOOD OLD PALS NOW AT THE BERNE CONFERENCE

Atmosphere of Convention Has Changed, and Chief Object is to Make an Impression on the Peace Congress at Paris.

By Ralph Courtney.
(Special Cable to The N. Y. Tribune from The St. John Standard.)
(Copyright, 1919, New York Tribune, Inc.)

Berne, Feb. 12.—The ice now broken between the Allied and German socialists, American socialists, who are taking part in the social labor congress, but hold a watching brief, regard this movement toward conciliation with misgiving. Most of the other socialists here, however, welcome these signs as the necessary prelude of peace.

"Things happen in the international late atmosphere of Berne," which would be impossible in London or Paris or New York. I saw a so-called loyal Frenchman offer his hand today to an Austrian socialist. "I attacked you this afternoon," said the Austrian socialist apologetically. "Never mind," answered the Frenchman, "you had your reasons."

The first great change noticed in the atmosphere of the assembly when the British delegate, Stuart Burnham, arose and declared that the British labor party had been profoundly impressed by the speeches of the Germans, Kurt Hilsner and Kautsky. Burnham, who represents the left wing of the British delegation, directed the attention of the congress to Paris, saying:

"Our real work here is to influence the Peace Conference in Paris. In eyes, all hearts, all soul and all voices should be turned to Paris every hour and every minute of this week. We are perfectly right in attacking Paris. This congress can do everything to put the league in its proper place, in its proper aspect of power and authority."

"If the League of Nations goes, with it goes the international Labor Charter and all hope of the peace and progress of the world."

Another remarkable example of socialist oratory was the speech of the Austrian minimalist, Fritz Adler, who said:

"I have no national point of view to place between you, because I have no nationality. Thomas and Renardel are perfectly right in attacking the German majority socialists for helping in the war. Just as we are perfectly right in attacking the Thomas and Renardel of all countries, my party has never been at war with the minority socialists of France and England."

The entire delegations find difficulty in dealing with speeches which contain criticism in such a sweeping and unqualified manner. The French delegation declared that total disarmament was the only basis of any scheme of world settlement which admitted the possibility under any circumstances of an ultimate recourse to arms. The committee led to it. The committee unanimously favored a League of Nations which alone had the right to maintain the delicate force and balance of power, and to enforce complete disarmament, re-estimate frontiers and enforce other decisions by economic pressure, to secure sounder peace. The committee also favored the internationalization of waterways, international distribution of food and raw materials, and the control of production and the breakdown by the League of Nations of national tariff systems.

The committee further declared against open or covert annexations, and expressed itself in favor of "the undisputed right of nations to decide their own fate, and to which state they belong."

TROTSKY RAISES HUGE ARMY FOR WORLD CRUSADE

Two Million Picked Men Reported Ready to Plant Red Flag All Over Europe.

By Elias Tobolski.
(Special Cable to The N. Y. Tribune from The St. John Standard.)

Weimar, Feb. 10.—With Lenin seemingly dissenting and opposing the idea of sending by means of arms to spread Bolshevism into Germany and the rest of Europe, Trotsky is vigorously proceeding with the formation and arming of a huge army, a process which can find a parallel only in the fanatical armies of the dark ages.

Every soldier in Trotsky's army is "a soldier of the spirit," according to a statement made to The Tribune correspondent by the well-known Berlin correspondent, Edward Ericks, who has just returned from Russia, where he spent three weeks in Petrograd, Moscow and Riga, arranging for care and transportation of Russian civilian and war prisoners still in Germany, Ericks said:

"Trotsky's army is entirely composed of volunteers. The soldiers are most carefully chosen, only those faithful to the Bolshevik ideas being accepted. The army is estimated as numbering the two million figure, and is showing wonderful discipline and devotion. The Pullow iron works are working at top speed making millions.

The noted engineer, Krassin, formerly with Siemens and Scherbert Electrical Works in Berlin, has been engaged by the Lenin government to promote Russian industries and compare Krassin with the Pullow works. He told me that production at the Pullow works has been quadrupled in the last six months, and that the Pullow works are well supplied with artillery and could take Finland any day and reestablish the Soviet government there, but Trotsky is keeping the armies from taking Finland because that may involve a conflict with the Finnish population. The Bolshevik government deems it inadvisable to proceed to Finland before having taken the Ukraine.

A Bolshevik government has been set up alongside the Ukrainian government and the people are flocking to the Bolshevik cause. The Bolshevik government, told me that in three months the Ukraine would be completely Bolshevik controlled.

Lenine Opposes Trotsky.

When asked whether Trotsky was preparing a big army to invade Germany, as the Berlin papers claim, Ericks said:

"The question of using the army to start a world-wide Bolshevik war is dividing Russia. Lenin is against Russia's sending by means of arms to spread Bolshevism into Germany and the rest of Europe, but Trotsky is vigorously proceeding with the formation and arming of a huge army, a process which can find a parallel only in the fanatical armies of the dark ages."

Softening a Stone.

An Irishman was engaged at stone breaking on the roadside, but not being used to the work, did not make much progress. A friend who chanced to pass as Pat was vigorously belaboring a large stone, tried to show him how the delicate art of hammering broke the stone with ease.

Said Pat: "Sure now, and it be alive for ye to break the stone after I have broken it with me for the last half hour."—London Answers.

A Plucky Chap.

"Well," said Uncle Si Bruggins, after a solo by a fashionable church choir tenor, "it that ain't the rudest thing I ever saw. Just as soon as that young man began to sing every other member of the choir stopped. But he went through with it, and I must say I admire his spunk."—Boston Transcript.

LIBERTY BONDS AT NEW LOW LEVEL

Continued Selling in Anticipation of Fifth Loan Forces Prices Down.

New York, Feb. 11.—Liberty bonds dropped to a new low level for the year under continued selling in anticipation of the Fifth Liberty Loan. The fourth 4 1/2's touched 39.90, which is the lowest price at which they have ever sold.

The market was full of buying orders. Investment demand for the fourth 4 1/2's at current levels was described as "enormous." These are scale down buying orders. Many of them had been placed just under the 4 1/2 level and were executed yesterday.

The 3 1/2 per cent. were moderately easy, but bond men said that there is little selling of these. Such selling as is reported is due to recent talk of issuing a tax exempt 4 per cent. bond.

Second Liberty bonds were soft. Nothing further is heard about suggestion that the conversion privilege on these bonds be renewed. This discourages persons who bought them on previous declines in anticipation of action by Congress to that effect.

Foreign bonds were firm, but dull.

The sale of Mexican five per cent. government bonds at 61 attracted attention. The last previous sale of these was made at 70 on January 13 last. Last Saturday a sale of Mexican government four per cent. bonds was made at 50.

Railroad bonds were irregular. A strong issue was Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul convertible 4 1/2 per cent. 5 1/2 per cent. bonds sold by the Illinois Central Railroad to bankers had been re-sold to the public. The issue bankers said, was over-subscribed.

COST OF LIVING HIGH IN JAN.

The average cost last month was $13.81 as compared with $13.65 in December, 1918, $12.42 in January, 1919, and $7.75 in January, 1914.
