Grime of Murder, Beginning to Realize His Position.

Braman, who heretofore appeared nonconcerned in the matter, broke down completely and cried like an infant, when his counsel, Urban J. Sweeney, visited him in his cell at the jail yesterday morning about 10 o'clock. His eyes stood out in his head when he heard that his rictim had died; he became white and livid, stared for a while in utter amazement at his counsel and then collapsed on the bench and cried until Mr. Sweeney left the cell. This was the first Dr. Williams Co., Brockville, Ont.
