Dear Mr. McDonald:

Sorry just to have your letters today. Have been racing through a mass of correspondence. I cannot understand why literature has not reached our candidates. No doubt it has by this time. Six copies of the speakers' hand-book has gone to each candidate as nominated and a further supply is given to the provincial headquarters in each province. I am giving special instructions to see that all our literature gets to our candidates immediately. Steps have been taken to give the most earnest co-operation in Saskatchewan. This is not as easy of achievement as people imagine. I am on my way West now.

Yours very truly,

D.H. McDonald, Esq.,
Fort Qu'Appelle,
Sask.
