QUEEN'S GETS THE CHAMPION-SHIP.

As Varsity was not in the race for the championship anyway, the weather bureau ordered any old kind of weath-er for the game on Saturday. The result was that the match was played in a drizzling rain on a snow-covered field, which made good playing difficult and often dangerous. Despite this fact, the game was one of the best of the season, and those whose interest in the teams incited them to brave the inclemency of the weather forgot all their discomforts in the excitement of the game. The result is doubly satisfactory, since it not only compensates for the defeat of the blue and white in the Varsity-McGill athletic games. but it also gives a direct contradiction to the aspersions cast upon the Varsity team in certain newspaper arti-cles which predicted that the game would be given to McGill. The Varsity team, is now, as it always has been, an aggregation of gentlemen who would scorn to use underhand methods, whether on the winning or the losing side.

Another thing which may be said of them is that throughout the entire season not one has been guilty of dirty tactics during the game, a notice-able contrast to the conduct of Seifert necessary time notice. Mr. Dalton of of McGill, whose slugging and kicking propensities were the cause of his being ruled off twice on Saturday.

Considering the nature of the weath- those present thought that if this er and the slippery condition of the field and of the ball, the game was very fast and the kicking especially good. Baldwin was back in his place again and did good work.

Brown and Aylesworth never played better than they did on Saturday, and much of the credit of the victory lies striking out of clause 7 of the regulato them. Biggs bucked the line in great tions of the game, as it conflicted with style, McCollum and Armstrong made a rule in another part of the contitu-several brilliant runs, while Harri-son's tackling saved the game more structing the Executive of 1901 to buy than once. An objection by Mr. Fisher was raised that it was unfair to make members of affiliated colleges pay their fees before attending meet-ings, while students at University Col-ONE POINT lege coment. lege could attend without such pay-

Mr. F. M. Chapman then put a some what puzzling query, "What is an af-fliated college?" No one knew for certain. Mr. McLaren consequently moved that his report be withdrawn. A further part of the report re the constitution dealt with the topics that should not be discussed at the society's meetings-no contraverted point of religion; secondly, no Canadian politics. An objection was raised to the second point. It was urged that a vital question to us as an university was whether we should remain under the Provincial Government's control or not. Thus been decided, however, that the dinner this cause should be struck out that prohibited such a discussion. After all the intricate discussion raising of points, in which even the movers of the report were bewildered. the motion was referred back.

The Dinner Committee, of which Mr. Kylie is convenor, made its report. The convenor moved that it be held on December 4. The question was then asked if Mr. Kylie thought the Students' Union building could be secured for that night. He replied he thought it goode on the committee to look after could not. We would advise those reporting on committees to know what is necessary about their reports before they come society. For the instance it would have been well for a man reporting on affiliated colleges to know precisely what an affil-iated college is. Again, it would not the society's business to the bring verge of farce if a convenor would not move a date and then show in the next the wage-earner. breath such date to be inexpedien.
