

Eleventh.—That all Orders of the day, which by reason of any adjournment, shall not have been proceeded upon, shall be considered only as postponed to the next day on which the House shall sit.

Twelfth.—That when a question is under debate, no motion shall be received in the House, unless for the purpose of amending, committing or postponing it to a certain day, or for the order of the day, or to adjourn.

Thirteenth.—That an Order Book be kept by the Clerk, in which Member's desirous of introducing any subject to the consideration of the House, unconnected with any measure actually in progress, shall be required to enter notice thereof specifying the day on which the same shall be brought forward, giving at least One day's notice—not to extend to questions of privilege.

Fourteenth.—That any motion, with leave of this House, may be withdrawn at any time before amendment or decision.

Fifteenth.—That after the question hath been entirely put by the President, no Member is to speak upon the question before voting.

Sixteenth.—That after a question is put, and the House hath voted thereon, no Member shall depart out of his place, until the House hath entered upon some other business.

Seventeenth.—That in voting, the contents shall rise in their places, and the non-contents continue to sit.

Eighteenth.—That in all Messages from the Assembly to this House, with a Bill or otherwise, the same cannot be received unless the object of it be expressed verbally, as hath hitherto been the practice.

Nineteenth.—As it might deeply intrench on the privileges of this House, for any Member to answer an accusation in the House of Assembly, either in person, or by sending his answer in writing, or by his Counsel there—it is ordered, that no Member of this House shall either go down to the House of Assembly, or send his answer in writing, or appear by Counsel, to answer any accusation there, upon penalty of being committed to the Serjeant at Arms, or to prison, during the pleasure of this House.

Twentieth.—For our meeting with any of the Lower House, either upon occasion of Messages, which they send up to us, or upon Conference, when they come up to us, the manner is thus—When notice is given to the House, by the Serjeant at Arms, that a Message or Deputation is sent to us by the House of Assembly, they attend until the House is prepared to receive them; then we being seated, send for them; on their coming up to the middle of the Bar, the President rises, and goes down to the Bar, and receives their Message uncovered; the Message is then read and delivered to the President, by one of the Members of the deputation; on their retiring, the President resumes the Chair, and standing uncovered, reports the Message for the information of the Members; the House then resumes the business it had before it.

Twenty-first.—That each Member of this House has a right to require, that the question or motion in discussion be read for his information, at any time of the debate.

Twenty-second.—Bills are seldom opposed at the first reading, but are generally committed, upon motion, at the second reading, at which time the principle is usually debated.
