

THE SUN Life Assurance Company OF CANADA.

Mr. R. JUNKIN, General Agent, Brockville, Ont., July 24th, 1888. Dear Sir - It is with pleasure that I acknowledge the receipt of $200.00...

R. JUNKIN, A. JAMES, General Agent, Brockville, Agent at Farmersville.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

Colin J. Atkinson, Barrister, Solicitor, &c. Dr. Cornoll & Cornell, Farmersville, Dr. Hart, Graduate Royal College, Queen's University...

J. P. Lamb, L.D.S., Dentist, Painless Extractions of Teeth. After more than 20 years experience...

HOTELS, The Ontario House, NEWBORO, A FIRST CLASS HOTEL...

The Gamble House, FARMERSVILLE, THIS FINE NEW BRICK HOTEL HAS BEEN RECENTLY FURNISHED...

MONEY TO LOAN, WE HAVE INSTRUCTIONS TO PLACE A LARGE SUM OF MONIES TO LOAN...

FOR SALE, A MEDIUM SIZED SAFE, made by Goldie & McHugh, Galt St. Works...

PAINTING, GRAINING, KALSOMING, Paper Hanging & Glazing, WORK WARRANTED...

ROOMS TO LET, OVER BILFORDS TAILOR SHOP, Farmersville, Apply to W.M. PARISH...

ESTABLISHED 1844, Allan Turner & Co., Wholesale and Retail Chemists and Druggists...

Have the largest and best assorted stock in the United Counties...

Drugs, Chemicals, Patent Medicines, Dye Stuffs, Paints, Oils, Window Glass, etc.

A Call upon us will satisfy you that our Prices are the Lowest AND THE QUALITY THE BEST...

The Leading SHOE HOUSE, KING STREET, BROCKVILLE.

Geo. S. Young, CASH! WANTED 40,000 DEACON AND CALF SKINS...

HIGHEST CASH PRICE AT THE BROCKVILLE TANNERY. A. G. McCRADY SONS, FOR SALE...

HOUSE AND LOT on Field at Farmersville, House 12x20 ft., with kitchen 10x12 ft. Centrally located...

W.M. SCOTT, WATCHMAKER AND JEWELLER, HAS OPENED OUT IN THE WEST END OF Mol's & Ackland's GROCERY, FARMERSVILLE.

ALL KINDS OF Watch, Jewelry and Clock Repairing, Work guaranteed or Money refunded.

GO TO BASS & TACKABERRY For Fine and Fashionable Custom Tailoring.

FRESH STOCK ALWAYS ON HAND TO SELECT FROM, AND SATISFACTION GUARANTEED - PRICES EXCEEDINGLY LOW.

Remember the Place, 2 Doors East of COURT HOUSE AVENUE, BROCKVILLE.

F.S. - You can always depend on getting Latest New York Cut.

A.M. CHASSELS The Old Reliable TAILORING HOUSE.

Gentlemen who wish to have their suits made up in THE LATEST STYLES PERFECTLY FIT AND WORK-MANSHIP.

A.M. CHASSELS, FARMERSVILLE. ALL WORK WARRANTED. Farmers, Stop and Read!

JOEL JUDSON, AGENT FOR ALL THE LEADING MANUFACTURERS, LEEDS AGRICULTURAL WAREHOUSE, BROCKVILLE.

The following Machines always in stock: Milwaukee Junior Binder, Threshing Machines (Clinton), New Model Mower (Frost & Wood), Old Warrior Mower (Morrishburg), New Warrior Mower (London), Secders (Mann's and Wisner's), Hay Rakes, Hay Forks, Ploughs, Cultivators, Sulky Ploughs.

Chatham Waggon, St. Catharines Road Cart, Belleville and Gananoque carriages. REPAIRS for all kinds of Machinery always on hand.

Office and Warehouses: MENSHIE & MCKENZIE'S OFFICE, Main St., Brockville, 20-21. JOEL JUDSON.

FREE, SUGAR AND SODA WATER, BOTTLED FOR THE TRADE, by the FINEST and PUREST material, and supplied in the most perfect manner...

FREE, SALT, BRIS. FINE SALT, BAGS COARSE SALT. We have just received a carload of salt, all of which will be as cheap as any can buy in Brockville.

J. THOMPSON, Farmersville. W. BIRKS, Next Door to Central Hotel, BROCKVILLE.

New Fall Suitings, Overcoatings, Trouserings, Gents' Furnishings. All Bought in Best Markets, and to be sold at Bottom Prices. A CALL SOLICITED.

A. C. BARNETT'S, WHOLESALE STOCK IS NOW COMPLETE IN ALL ITS BRANCHES. WE CLAIM TO HAVE THE BEST, AND WE ARE BACKED BY AN UNEQUALLED AND UNSURPASSED DISPLAY OF...

Boots and Shoes, Meccasinis, Rubbers, Crepe-soles, &c. Complete extensive lines of NEWEST AND MOST FASHIONABLE LADIES' BOOTS, GENTS' BOOTS, CHILDREN'S SHOES, BABIES' SHOES, &c.

OUR PRICES ARE LOW! No one can sell you respectable goods cheaper, and besides this consideration we offer TO CASH CUSTOMERS.

THE GREATEST INDUCEMENT EVER HEARD OF, WE WILL REPAIR FREE OF CHARGE all the rips that may occur in boots bought from us. Remember, this offer is for cash customers only, no trading your boots for credit.

Boots and Shoes Made to Order on Short Notice. Repairs Neatly and Promptly Done. A. C. BARNETT, 46-8 Main St., Farmersville.

PURCHASE YOUR COAL, In Your Own Town. ARCH. JAMES, MY AGENT AT FARMERSVILLE.

WILL TAKE ORDERS FOR COAL AT THE LOWEST CURRENT PRICES. ALL KINDS OF STEAM AND BLACKSMITH COAL CONSTANTLY Kept in Stock at Farmersville.

See Mr. James and find out what he can do in the way of price and quality. By so doing you will save time and money. W. T. McCULLOUGH, Water St., Brockville.

STOLEN, ON THE 18TH SEPTEMBER last a grey mastiff dog, answering to the name 'Vic', with black head, white tipped tail and some on right front leg, was stolen from the premises of Farmersville. Any information of her will be liberally rewarded for his recovery. JAS. H. S. MACKAY, 47-48 L'Esclapart, Nov. 26th, 1888.

Robt. Wright & Co. BROCKVILLE'S One Cash Price Dry Goods House.

TWO STORES: Main St., opp. Buell St., and Cor. of Main and Perth Sts. H. Y. FAHR, Manager West End Branch. Telephone, 188 A - Rose Block. Telephone, 188 B - Branch Store.

WINCEYS, WINCEYS. 5 cts, 8 cts., 10 cts., 12 1/2 cts. per yard. BLANKETS, BLANKETS. Do not fail to see our great bargain line of All Wool White Blankets.

Bargains in Canadian Knitting Yarns. Boy's Extra Heavy and Extra long Knitted All Wool Black Stockings.

Towels 3c. each upwards. Ribbed Hose, Knitted of the best English Finishing Yarn, and Knitted with double knees. Size for 6 Years 29c. per pair.

R. W. & CO. TUESDAY, Nov. 27. R. W. & CO. OUR STORE FOR EMBROIDERED BACK LADIES' KID GLOVES. Our Store for Fine French Kid Gloves.

25 Cts. YARD. All Wool Plaids for Girl's Dresses. Beautiful Bright Plaids now 25 cents per yard.

NUMEROUS BARGAINS! We are now offering Numerous Bargains in Plain Colors and Striped Dress Goods. All New Colorings.

SEALED IMITATION PELT. STAIN LAMB, BEAVER CLOTH, JERSEY CLOTHS, ETC., AT BARGAIN PRICES.

FOR STYLISH MILLINERY. VISIT ROBT. WRIGHT & CO'S SHOW ROOMS, MAIN ST. OPPOSITE BUELL ST.

LEADERS OF LOW CASH PRICES, DIRECT IMPORTERS OF STAPLE AND FANCY DRY GOODS.

ROBERT WRIGHT & CO'S. LEWIS & PATTERSON, KING ST. 205 KING ST. BROCKVILLE.

Ladies and Children's Underwear in Merino, Lamb's Wool, Scotch Wool, Union Cotton, etc. Trade brightens up in this department. Years ago the old weather bridge, which was a laughing matter, is now a bridge of logs together which rested on the water and mud, rising and lowering with the water of the lake.

A short distance from the head of the lake we came to the little hamlet of the Fermo, containing about a dozen houses. From here to Bedford station the face of the country is very rough and is almost entirely covered with a growth of stunted underbrush.

The axe of the lumberman and the frequent brush fires have depleted the country of all the valuable timber, which from the looks of the stumps in some localities must have been very large and dense.

Bedford station was reached at about 12 o'clock. Near the station a plain little sign told the weary and hungry travellers that the Hattie McLean had been turned over to the Fermo, and was open for business.

On going in to make enquiries we found a middle aged maiden lady, who although tall and thin, was entirely covered with a growth of stunted underbrush. She said cheerily, "Everything about the house was scrupulously neat and clean and the dinner was one that many of our country hotels need not have been ashamed to offer to their guests."

At 8 1/2 we boarded the K. & P. train in Sawant. When at Snow Road Crossing we saw our man Josiah on the platform and were told by him that one of his horses had tired out and that it would be necessary for us to go on and try and get a team to come and take part of his load. Here was a contingency that we had not provided for, but as the train only halted a couple of minutes we could do nothing better than to go on and try and get a team for a team at our getting off place. L'Avant station was reached about five o'clock and leaving our two companions the machine agent and myself started for an eight mile tramp towards where we hoped to be able to get a team to go to the assistance of Josiah. Our way lay over an old colonization road, and we plodded along, through the mud, up hill and down dale, and just as the shades of the cabin of a Frenchman who was willing to take his team and go to our Josiah's assistance. A difficulty here arose, should we wait until morning. Our fear was that the men with the team might turn off the travelled road and camp for the night, and that our relay might unintentionally pass them in the darkness.

While we were debating the question a light appeared in the distance, which proved to be from a lantern carried by our teamsters, who were slowly groping their way towards the common rendezvous. The Frenchman offering to make all welcome a real backwoods supper. During the evening a number of the neighbors dropped in, and hearing that we were on a hunting expedition, each strove to tell the biggest story about his own hunting exploits. The number of animals some of them had killed was astounding, while their stories of hair-breadth escapes were sufficient to strike terror to the heart of the novice. Indeed, some of the party had almost concluded to turn back in the morning, until Josiah struck an attitude and told of some of his adventures with bears and other large game, in which he always came out our right hand man. We gained courage and resolved to do or die in the attempt. The Frenchman had three or four boxes, good looking daughters, and in addition the French society was augmented by a tall, slender, uncertain age who came in to spend the evening. Chris being the only bachelor of the party, all our efforts were directed towards making a match between him and the tall, slender, but he was bashful, and all the commissary-general's efforts proved unavailing.

Daylight found us hitched up on the road. We were still a dozen or fifteen miles from the hunting grounds, and we were compelled to "hoof it" all the way. To an ordinary backwoods man the distance before us would have been a mere trifle; but to us, just out of the office, the prospect was anything but encouraging. Before half the distance was covered the chief historian's feet were blistered and his shoulders sore with the weight of the rifle. But rather than encounter the jeers of the rest of the party he kept his own counsel and trudged along. About noon we reached the end of the travelled road, and were at the "Jumping off" place. A heavy snow storm commenced to fall and we were obliged to remain in a settlers house all night.

The remainder of our party met us here, and bright and early the next morning a start was made for the final destination, some four miles further on. Only those who have had similar experiences can form any conception of that four mile trip. Brush and logs had to be cut and thrown out of the way. Many times it was necessary to direct our waggon and rest the team going up the hills. Some places the track sloped sideways at an angle of 45 degrees, making it necessary for us to hold on to the wagon to keep it from tipping over. Hardly places had to be forded, and what made it more disagreeable than anything else was that the snow which fell the day before had lodged on every available bough and at the least jar came tumbling down upon us. The peculiar sensation of having to stoop over and roll a half rotten log out of the way of the wagon and just as you were preparing to lift your heaviest load for a cold fire inside the iron way between your coat collar and the nape of the neck, and slowly meander down your spine, seeking by every available device in your underclothing to find the way back to mother earth.

After five hours of faithful work on the part of all hands, we reached our camping place, a small frame building without door or window. Our kit was soon unpacked and taken inside the Fermo. The window hole boarded up an old door from a stable fastened with a pair of leather hinges, a rough table extemporized out of a couple of boards, a lot of henlock brought upon us in one corner for a bed, and a small sheet iron stove placed in one corner, and our rude but comfortable home for the following two weeks was ready for occupancy. Danvers had cast his eye over the earth ere we had our arrangements completed.

INVESTING LETTERS FROM OUR STAFF OF CORRESPONDENTS. A Budget of News and Gossip - Personal Intelligence - A Little of Everything, well mixed up. ELGIN.

SATURDAY, Nov. 24. - The "Helping Hands" favored us with another of their concerts on Thursday evening last. It was the best we have attended yet. Prof. Lewis of North Augusta, was present and rendered us some very fine music on the cornet and violin. He was assisted by Miss McLean, of the same place.

Mr. A. Hart, the proprietor of the Empire House, received a very valuable present this week in the form of a fine boy. Accept our congratulations, Anthony.

Mrs. W. W. Brown is at present very low with consumption.

FRONT OF YONGE. MONDAY, Nov. 19. - Mr. Samuel Hogaboom, of Caintown, has laid in a large winter stock of general goods.

Mr. Ben. Thomson, of Caintown, before disposing of their farms and going to Manitoba. Mr. Thomson can give a better description of that country than any other man in Ontario.

The late Mrs. D. D. Tennant is nearing completion. Mr. Tennant met with a great loss, but he has found out what a lot of friends he possesses in this and surrounding townships.

Any man who has trained a large family of boys should in our opinion raise his hands against anything like social evil.

Mr. Geo. Towe, through the agent, J. Shennick, of McIntosh, Mills, has purchased a fine tomahawk from Mr. Williamson, of Gananoque. Mr. Williamson, and had it erected to the memory of his brother Matthew, who died some time since. The monument cost about $300, and is a conspicuous position in the Caintown cemetery.

This Reporter from now to the end of 1889 is $1, cash in advance.

SMITH'S FALLS ANNUAL TURKEY FAIR takes place this season on the 19th and 14th of Dec. The Recorder says: "Many found by experience last year that good prices could be obtained at no other place." Our buyers claimed that they paid more for poultry than at any other village in this section.

THE REPORTER, now in its fifth year of publication, is the newsy, spicy organ of the rural population of Leeds County. When first started it was only a very little sheet, 13 by 22 inches, with a circulation of only three hundred. Since then it has been twice enlarged, and now it is a 22-column double royal sheet, with a circulation of nearly eight hundred. The ledger pages are devoted entirely to reading matter, while the two outside pages are filled with local news and live advertisements.

THE REPORTER makes a specialty of County news, and has a well-earned, reliable reputation in nearly every village and hamlet in Leeds. A new feature, introduced a short time ago, is a weekly report of transactions on the Brockville Daily News Board of Trade and at other important close markets. These reports are made up by a man well versed in business matters, and can be relied upon as being correct.

THE ADVERTISEMENTS to be found in the Reporter are those of the most substantial and reliable business men of the county. The Reporter refuses all advertisements of quack nostrums, believing that the space can be better filled by the live announcements of live business men and live advertisements.

THE REPORTER'S JOB ROOMS are complete in all particulars for the printing of all orders of work. Our presses are run by steam power, and we can consequently fill all orders favorably and cheaply. We refer with pride to the printing of the Fair advertised in this sheet, as a sample of our best work. All jobs turned out of this office will be found to compare favorably with that of the best work of the best printing offices. B. LOVERIN, EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR. BOX 24, FARMERSVILLE.

DEER HUNTING IN THE NORTH. DEER HUNTING IN THE NORTH.

DEER HUNTING IN THE NORTH. DEER HUNTING IN THE NORTH.

About three weeks ago the Editor of the Reporter received an invitation to join a party on a deer hunting expedition on the K. & P. Railroad. We wished to get a short relaxation from the cares of office work, and gladly accepted the invitation.

The party were to rendezvous at Eighty, and accordingly on Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 6th, we packed our kit and took passage on the B. & W. for that classic village. When the party all got together they were found to be a jolly, although incongruous, lot of citizens. Allow us to give the personal of the party. First there was the champion fox hunter from the vicinity of Lynn, He, as the oldest one of the party, was placed in command. Next was a horny handed disciplinarian of Valence, Ontario, and we were compelled to his intimate knowledge of the habits of the game we were in search of as well as his ability to tell a good story.

The jolly, rollicking machine agent of the former exploits in the same region, was unanimously dubbed chief commissariat, and upon him devolved the task of seeing that the larder was well supplied with every requisite for the party. The factor publisher of the Reporter was installed as historian of the trip and was ordered to let no event, however trivial, escape his eagle eye.

The "Keeper of the Hounds" from Callow, was put in charge of the baggage, and we were obliged to remain in the scene of action by the shortest and most convenient route. Chris, the Dane, was taken along in the capacity of man of all work, guide and interpreter.

It was packing that was to go overland and to be packed securely, and at three a.m. on Tuesday morning Josiah and Chris took their departure in charge of the team. They were expected to meet the remainder of the party at or near L'Avant station, on the K. & P. R. V. Tuesday evening the rest of the party started on their way west, putting up at the Wardrobe House, the general proprietor of which did all in his power to make our stay a pleasant and agreeable one. A team had been engaged to take the party on to Bedford station, a distance of twenty miles. Just at daybreak the party left Westport passing through one of the best farming sections in the county for the first time in our lives. The fine and considerable distance runs parallel with the West Rideau, a beautiful sheet of water. At the head of this lake we crossed on what is known as the floating ice of the lake.

When the country was first settled, this bridge was made by piling a bridge of logs together which rested on the water and mud, rising and lowering with the water of the lake. A short distance from the head of the lake we came to the little hamlet of the Fermo, containing about a dozen houses. From here to Bedford station the face of the country is very rough and is almost entirely covered with a growth of stunted underbrush.

The axe of the lumberman and the frequent brush fires have depleted the country of all the valuable timber, which from the looks of the stumps in some localities must have been very large and dense.

Bedford station was reached at about 12 o'clock. Near the station a plain little sign told the weary and hungry travellers that the Hattie McLean had been turned over to the Fermo, and was open for business.

On going in to make enquiries we found a middle aged maiden lady, who although tall and thin, was entirely covered with a growth of stunted underbrush. She said cheerily, "Everything about the house was scrupulously neat and clean and the dinner was one that many of our country hotels need not have been ashamed to offer to their guests."

At 8 1/2 we boarded the K. & P. train in Sawant. When at Snow Road Crossing we saw our man Josiah on the platform and were told by him that one of his horses had tired out and that it would be necessary for us to go on and try and get a team to come and take part of his load. Here was a contingency that we had not provided for, but as the train only halted a couple of minutes we could do nothing better than to go on and try and get a team for a team at our getting off place. L'Avant station was reached about five o'clock and leaving our two companions the machine agent and myself started for an eight mile tramp towards where we hoped to be able to get a team to go to the assistance of Josiah. Our way lay over an old colonization road, and we plodded along, through the mud, up hill and down dale, and just as the shades of the cabin of a Frenchman who was willing to take his team and go to our Josiah's assistance. A difficulty here arose, should we wait until morning. Our fear was that the men with the team might turn off the travelled road and camp for the night, and that our relay might unintentionally pass them in the darkness.

While we were debating the question a light appeared in the distance, which proved to be from a lantern carried by our teamsters, who were slowly groping their way towards the common rendezvous. The Frenchman offering to make all welcome a real backwoods supper. During the evening a number of the neighbors dropped in, and hearing that we were on a hunting expedition, each strove to tell the biggest story about his own hunting exploits. The number of animals some of them had killed was astounding, while their stories of hair-breadth escapes were sufficient to strike terror to the heart of the novice. Indeed, some of the party had almost concluded to turn back in the morning, until Josiah struck an attitude and told of some of his adventures with bears and other large game, in which he always came out our right hand man. We gained courage and resolved to do or die in the attempt. The Frenchman had three or four boxes, good looking daughters, and in addition the French society was augmented by a tall, slender, uncertain age who came in to spend the evening. Chris being the only bachelor of the party, all our efforts were directed towards making a match between him and the tall, slender, but he was bashful, and all the commissary-general's efforts proved unavailing.

Daylight found us hitched up on the road. We were still a dozen or fifteen miles from the hunting grounds, and we were compelled to "hoof it" all the way. To an ordinary backwoods man the distance before us would have been a mere trifle; but to us, just out of the office, the prospect was anything but encouraging. Before half the distance was covered the chief historian's feet were blistered and his shoulders sore with the weight of the rifle. But rather than encounter the jeers of the rest of the party he kept his own counsel and trudged along. About noon we reached the end of the travelled road, and were at the "Jumping off" place. A heavy snow storm commenced to fall and we were obliged to remain in a settlers house all night.

The remainder of our party met us here, and bright and early the next morning a start was made for the final destination, some four miles further on. Only those who have had similar experiences can form any conception of that four mile trip. Brush and logs had to be cut and thrown out of the way. Many times it was necessary to direct our waggon and rest the team going up the hills. Some places the track sloped sideways at an angle of 45 degrees, making it necessary for us to hold on to the wagon to keep it from tipping over. Hardly places had to be forded, and what made it more disagreeable than anything else was that the snow which fell the day before had lodged on every available bough and at the least jar came tumbling down upon us. The peculiar sensation of having to stoop over and roll a half rotten log out of the way of the wagon and just as you were preparing to lift your heaviest load for a cold fire inside the iron way between your coat collar and the nape of the neck, and slowly meander down your spine, seeking by every available device in your underclothing to find the way back to mother earth.

After five hours of faithful work on the part of all hands, we reached our camping place, a small frame building without door or window. Our kit was soon unpacked and taken inside the Fermo. The window hole boarded up an old door from a stable fastened with a pair of leather hinges, a rough table extemporized out of a couple of boards, a lot of henlock brought upon us in one corner for a bed, and a small sheet iron stove placed in one corner, and our rude but comfortable home for the following two weeks was ready for occupancy. Danvers had cast his eye over the earth ere we had our arrangements completed.

INVESTING LETTERS FROM OUR STAFF OF CORRESPONDENTS. A Budget of News and Gossip - Personal Intelligence - A Little of Everything, well mixed up. ELGIN.

SATURDAY, Nov. 24. - The "Helping Hands" favored us with another of their concerts on Thursday evening last. It was the best we have attended yet. Prof. Lewis of North Augusta, was present and rendered us some very fine music on the cornet and violin. He was assisted by Miss McLean, of the same place.

Mr. A. Hart, the proprietor of the Empire House, received a very valuable present this week in the form of a fine boy. Accept our congratulations, Anthony.

Mrs. W. W. Brown is at present very low with consumption.

FRONT OF YONGE. MONDAY, Nov. 19. - Mr. Samuel Hogaboom, of Caintown, has laid in a large winter stock of general goods.

Mr. Ben. Thomson, of Caintown, before disposing of their farms and going to Manitoba. Mr. Thomson can give a better description of that country than any other man in Ontario.

The late Mrs. D. D. Tennant is nearing completion. Mr. Tennant met with a great loss, but he has found out what a lot of friends he possesses in this and surrounding townships.

Any man who has trained a large family of boys should in our opinion raise his hands against anything like social evil.

Mr. Geo. Towe, through the agent, J. Shennick, of McIntosh, Mills, has purchased a fine tomahawk from Mr. Williamson, of Gananoque. Mr. Williamson, and had it erected to the memory of his brother Matthew, who died some time since. The monument cost about $300, and is a conspicuous position in the Caintown cemetery.

This Reporter from now to the end of 1889 is $1, cash in advance.

SMITH'S FALLS ANNUAL TURKEY FAIR takes place this season on the 19th and 14th of Dec. The Recorder says: "Many found by experience last year that good prices could be obtained at no other place." Our buyers claimed that they paid more for poultry than at any other village in this section.

THE REPORTER, now in its fifth year of publication, is the newsy, spicy organ of the rural population of Leeds County. When first started it was only a very little sheet, 13 by 22 inches, with a circulation of only three hundred. Since then it has been twice enlarged, and now it is a 22-column double royal sheet, with a circulation of nearly eight hundred. The ledger pages are devoted entirely to reading matter, while the two outside pages are filled with local news and live advertisements.

THE REPORTER makes a specialty of County news, and has a well-earned, reliable reputation in nearly every village and hamlet in Leeds. A new feature, introduced a short time ago, is a weekly report of transactions on the Brockville Daily News Board of Trade and at other important close markets. These reports are made up by a man well versed in business matters, and can be relied upon as being correct.

THE ADVERTISEMENTS to be found in the Reporter are those of the most substantial and reliable business men of the county. The Reporter refuses all advertisements of quack nostrums, believing that the space can be better filled by the live announcements of live business men and live advertisements.

THE REPORTER'S JOB ROOMS are complete in all particulars for the printing of all orders of work. Our presses are run by steam power, and we can consequently fill all orders favorably and cheaply. We refer with pride to the printing of the Fair advertised in this sheet, as a sample of our best work. All jobs turned out of this office will be found to compare favorably with that of the best work of the best printing offices. B. LOVERIN, EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR. BOX 24, FARMERSVILLE.

Understand and by good authority too that Dr. Dixon, of Franklin, has disposed of his horses, medicines and practice to Dr. C. E. Mallory, of Escott. Dr. Dixon thinks this climate not conducive to his good health and is about to spend the winter in Southern California. Dr. Dixon has been very successful and we are sorry to lose him from our midst; but we trust that his success at Dr. Mallory will in every way fill the place of the man who is leaving.

The Sabbath School has begun practice for the Christmas entertainment which we believe is to take place on Christmas night. The entertainment will be held between here and Smith's Falls is said to be a better condition for travel than any time during the summer.

ADDISON. MONDAY, Nov. 26. - Mr. A. Earl and lady passed through our village yesterday, en route to Clark's Crossing, to visit friends in that section.

Mr. Chas. Hayes is going to have the stone dwelling on King St., having secured Freeman's Cottage on Selma St. E.

Mr. H. S. Moffat has greatly improved the appearance of his premises by building a fine, substantial wire fence the whole length of his lot. I wish we had more such enterprising men as Mr. Moffat.

Mr. Edwin M'Vagh, an old resident of this place who has been away during the summer, has returned to spend the winter with his old friends and acquaintances here.

Mr. Wm. Langdon, our fowl fancier, has got some of the finest fowls in this section. He intends importing some choice specimens from the United States in the spring.

Mr. H. Board, of Bloomfield, Ohio, brought the famous horse "T. G." from Mr. A. Church, Brownstown. The purchaser hitherto up the animal to try its speed, but "T. G." having been idle for some time, became unmanageable, and before he could be brought under control smashed the vehicle to pieces.

PHILLIPSVILLE. MONDAY, Nov. 26. - Alford Willows lost his dwelling, kitchen and wood house last Thursday night by fire. About 12 o'clock he was awakened by hearing something fall, got up to see what it was, and found his house on fire. He had just time to save himself and family and a few things out of their bed and dining rooms. The rest of the household goods, with their winter supply of roots, apples and fruit and 100 bushels of potatoes were burned, together with 20 cords of wood, a lot of lumber, a carriage top, 300 sap buckets, sap pans, milk cans, &c. We learn that it is his intention to build a kitchen immediately, as there is no house that he can get for the winter anywhere near his barn.

Miss Hattie Haskins, who has been visiting her sisters in N. Y. State the past summer, has returned home to her mother's. Hattie is looking well. She must have lived on the fat of the land.

Chester Haskins expects his new traction engine and thrasher this week from Toronto. Mr. Haskins has moved his engine and boiler and put them under his grist mill, so as to be away from the frost and make it more convenient for him to attach his grist mill.

George Whitmore is building a large carriage house and stable on his lot. Carpenters from Lynn have the contract. He also intends building a new picket fence on two sides of his lot.

R. P. Burns and J. D'orway have each of them built a wood house at their respective dwellings.

ESCOTT. SATURDAY, Nov. 24. - Mr. J. G. Steacy is again confined to his bed with lung troubles.

The time is drawing near for the marriage of Front of Yonge and Escott. We believe our "Jock" has turned poet. We would like to see some of his composition.

We have heard of persons jumping off the trains out here and there, but always turned around, but last week one of our Italians jumped off and as usual turned over a few times, but what was strange about it was that after he had recovered himself and walked about five rods he again turned over two or three times. Supposed to have been the impetus given by the train.

Good time to get married now boys. You can live cheap. Buy an old cow for $2.50, put her to cook Monday morning and live on soup all the week and then the beef will be ready to chew on for the next month.

Teacher - (