A LONDON CRIMINAL.

THE FOG THIEF AND HOW HE PLIES HIS PECULIAR TRADE.

He Operates Boldly Both in the City, and on the Thames—Carries Off His Plunder From Vans and Cabs Shrouded in the Dense Gloom.

Thousands of thieves long for fog with a great longing. Incredible as it may seem, property worth tens of thousands of pounds is every year stolen from vans and lorries alone in London streets. Quite nine-tenths of this property disappears during fogs.

The leaders of the fog thief gangs usually have some little capital to start with. One of them affects to be a cartage contractor on a small scale. He takes very quiet premises that have a high boarding round and that are not overlooked. If he has plenty of cellars, all the better. He has at least one smart trap and horse and two or sometimes three rogues to go with it.

It is during the late foggy afternoons and early evenings of winter that the hauls are made. Streets with warehouses—and not shops that are lighted brilliantly and early—on each side and that are often congested with traffic are mostly chosen. The small and smart though dingy and inconspicuous looking trap plunges into the thick of the traffic. It soon, in the gloom and murk, places itself immediately behind a van or lorry piled with packages of various kinds.

The men in the quick trap are all on the alert. One of them, a man chosen for his immense physical strength, goes to the head of the pony on some pretext. He soon has a package down from the van in front. He is provided with sharp cutting instruments, and he has a powerful piece of strap with a hook at one end. If there is a boy sitting behind the van, the men in the trap contrive to get him down by diverting his attention. Even with a view to distracting the possible attention of carters, the thieves generally get up an altercation, or "barney," among themselves or with others. They are men of colossal impudence and powers of abuse, and all attention becomes riveted upon them. In one case not far from Farringdon street last December they carried off one parcel of furs worth £700, the value being temporarily blinded, as alleged, by a lad with the thieves blowing some snuff into his face from a pea shooter and then disappearing.

One of the most notorious of these fog thieves was a little young fellow who crept along the back of a pony to its head, American jockey fashion, and hooked what he could from out of the van in front. The great hauls of these men are when they follow cabs and private carriages from a railway station. In such cases they generally use two traps and horses. A cab is marked that has apparently valuable luggage on the top. This is followed till some dark street is reached where the way is narrow or congested; then the driver of one of the traps, that has a very swift pony harnessed to it, deliberately drives across the head of the cab or carriage horse.

Of course there is an angry altercation, and while this is going on the thieves on the other trap have got into the immediate rear of the luggage-laden vehicle. One of the thieves goes along his horse's back and lifts the luggage down.

One of the hauls effected last winter in this way worth £8,000 and was the property of Mr. de Silva, Argentine millionaire. The robbery took place not far from St. Pancras' church just before the shops were lighted up.

As the summer sun brings forth myriads of living creatures, so does a Thames fog bring out upon the dark and apparently deserted river a vast horde of thieves. At least a dozen of the wharf and lighter owners complain of losing from their respective wharves as much as from one to six hundred pounds' worth of coal alone every year. The reader can learn at any riverside house frequented by tough men that there are scores, literally scores, of bargees on the river that have never bought a pennyworth of coal for great numbers of years. The Thames police would tell that same reader that men have retired on competence who have been reported to have made their whole fortune out of coal stolen with impunity of the river.

The police are helpless over the vast expanse of river and in the labyrinthine backwaters. If they raid one of the pirate boats in the gloom and darkness, the spoil is turned out to the bottom of the river in a trice. If this sort of thing can be done to such an extent with a commodity like coal, it may be imagined what befalls other valuable property on wharves or in lighters.

The fraudulent picker up of the river blesses the fog. The picker up is a man who notices that certain barges with valuable cargoes are moored in such a way that, if they broke loose, they would entail vast expense. The picker up sees that these barges do break loose. That part of his work he does in dead secret. And then, making plenty of noise about it at this stage, he rescues from danger the very barges that he has set adrift and sends in a heavy salvage claim.

Acids That Are Death to Cholera.

The acid of lemons and oranges is fatal to the cholera bacillus. Even if placed upon the rinds of the fruit the germs will not survive longer than a day.—Ladies' Home Journal.

MATRON AND MAID.

Mrs. Annie Eastman of Elmira, N. Y., is the first woman to fill a Congregationalist pulpit. She is a native of Peoria, Ill., and was educated at Oberlin.

Mme. Schumann-Heink, the famous grand opera dramatic contralto, supports by her singing an invalid husband and pays for the education of her eight children.

Mrs. Anna Morris Holstein, widow of Major William Hayman Holstein and a famous army nurse, died at her home in Red Hill, Pa., recently. She was 78 years old.

The death in Belair, Md., recently of Miss Rebecca Woolsey releases $58,000 for the use of the county in improving roads, that sum having been bequeathed by William Woolsey, in 1888, subject to his sister's life estate.

Mrs. George Borden of Newark, Ind., whose husband has just committed suicide, has had eight husbands. Two died natural deaths within a year after their marriage, three obtained divorces and three committed suicide.

A strange coincidence in the recent death of Mrs. Calvin S. Brice was the fact that she passed away in New York on the same day of the year and at the same hour on the second anniversary of the death of her husband, Senator Brice of Ohio.

Mrs. Kendal explains why she and her husband have always acted together by the statement that it was because of a vow made to her father. Mrs. Kendal's father, when his daughter wanted to marry an actor, insisted that they should always act together.

Miss Elfrida Cockerell, who is frequently alluded to as "the other Miss Cockerell," is no relation to the fair maker of necklaces. She is the daughter of Howard Cockerell, who married as his second wife Mrs. Hayward, who lost her first husband in the war of the rebellion.

Mrs. Peggy Crow of Mason City, Md., is said to be the oldest woman in this country who is self supporting. Although 100 years old, Mrs. Crow, it is said, does not look more than 65. She does her own housework and earns a comfortable living with her needle, depending entirely upon her own hands for her home and living.

New York is not the only city in the United States in need of better government. According to prominent residents of Philadelphia the City of Brotherly Love is in as bad a plight as any and wicked Gotham.—Baltimore Sun.

Last year Philadelphia spent over $2,000,000 in street improvements and has just appropriated $1,000,000 more for the purpose. When the people of St. Louis are ready to face the cost a similar advance can be made here.

JEWELRY JOTTINGS.

Barrettes afford a pleasing variation in their clasps. The long and large, open, oval shapes seem decided favorites.

The latest long chain for muffs and longettes takes on a more massive character with enameled plaques alternating with chain.

Finest gold or silver mesh purses, which can hold at most two silver dimes, are among trinkets that may be attached to the chain.

Chain purses seem to cap the very pinnacle of fashion. The long, old fashioned knitted purses, with gold slip rings and tassels of gold or stones, are the latest departure in this line.

In ornamental buttons Russian enamel plays an important part. Very beautiful sets of six buttons are provided, as are others in silver or gilt of antique or "new art" styles.

THE DOMINIE.

The highest church steeple in the world is that of the Cathedral of Antwerp—479 feet.

The Right Rev. Dr. William E. McLure has been 25 years bishop of the Episcopal diocese of Chicago.

The oldest living Jew in Great Britain is Rev. G. D. Grundy, vicar of Hey, who was presented in 1838 and is now 74.

Rowland D. Edwards, the English evangelist, will work in this country for several months and until February will make Chicago his headquarters. He is a lawyer by profession and a member of the largest law firm of his kind in England.

ANIMAL LIFE.

A goat gives a quart of milk daily and lives ten years.

Birds are blessed with large appetites. The robin can easily devour two-thirds of its weight in earthworms in a day.

Most monkeys have a liking for land crabs, and the beasts when in their natural element in the jungle will often travel for miles to some marshy region in search of a crustacean meal.

CITY COUNCILS.

NIGHT COUGHS

Don't you dread to have night come? The children cough so hard. And how many things have you tried? A great many, certainly. They don't seem to reach just the place. But you can reach it exactly by using Vapo-Cresolene.

You put a little Cresolene in the vaporizer cup, light the lamp beneath, and let the children breathe-in the vapor. The throat is soothed, all inflammation is allayed, congestion is relieved, and sleep is not disturbed. Continue this each night until a cure is effected, which will be in a surprisingly short time. Remember it's harmless to the youngest child. There isn't any trouble of the throat or lungs that cannot be relieved with Vapo-Cresolene. It always does good. And for whooping-cough it is the one great specific. Doctors everywhere endorse it.

S. H. MURPHY, M.D., Glenville, N.Y.—"I have used the Vapo-Cresolene in all cases of whooping-cough of long standing, with marked relief in twenty-four hours, and entire cures in from three to five days. I have also used it in nasal catarrh, bronchitis and pharyngitis, catarrhal and diphtheritic, with great benefit. It is of great value in diphtheria."

THE DELTOID MUSCLE.

It Plays a Prominent Part in the Tailor's Business.

"It is a rare thing," said the talking man, "to find a merchant tailor who can get a 'perfect fit' in the clothes he makes—so rare, in fact, that I have sometimes thought that tailors, of all artisans, knew least how to do their work right. Yet the tailor, or the cutter, rather, is not always to blame, for a perfectly cut garment may be often set askew by a careless maker who by a crooked seam or a slight departure from the line set for his needle may throw the whole thing out of plumb. Still, a good tailor ought to know when a garment fits and should either be able to correct its unfitness or not let it leave the shop. Speaking of the cutting part, I remember an incident that occurred once at a convention of cutters held in Cincinnati. The subject for discussion was the cutting and fitting of garments, and a testy old Scotchman had the floor. He said in effect that if a coat were cut to set right upon the deltoid muscle the wearer would always find it comfortable and well fitting.

"In fact," said he, "the deltoid muscle determines the fit of a coat."

"Will the gentleman state what and where the deltoid muscle is?" asked a cutter on the other side of the chamber.

"The Scotchman turned on him sharply."

"Sir," he said angrily, "do you claim to be a cutter and not know where the deltoid muscle is located? Don't you know, sir, that a knowledge of the human anatomy is as important to the tailor as it is to the surgeon? Do you expect to cut a garment to fit an object whose every line and curve you do not know? You might as well try to fit a plug to a hole without knowing the size of the hole. No, sir, the gentleman will not state what and where the deltoid muscle is. It is your duty, sir, to know the deltoid muscle, not mine to instruct you."

"The discussion ended there, simply because there was nobody present to carry it on, for I don't believe a man in the place except the old fellow knew anything about deltoid muscles. I know I didn't, but as soon as I got to a dictionary I looked it up. Later I gave the matter some study, and I found that the Scotchman was right."
