CHILD ALMOST A SOLID SORE

From Skin Disease from Birth Until Six Years Old - Father Spent Fortune on Her Without Benefit -Old Doctor Suggested Cuticura, which Cured Her in Two Months, Leaving

SKIN SOFT AS A BABY'S AND WITHOUT A SCAR

"I have a cousin in Rockingham Co.
who once had a skin disease from her birth until she was six years of ago.
Her father had spent a fortune on her to get her cured and none of the treatments did her any good. Old Dr. Gsuggested that he try the Cuticura Remedies which he did. When he commenced to use it the child was well. I was there when they commenced to use your Cuticura Remedies. I stayed that week and then returned home and stayed two weeks and then returned home and stayed with them two weeks longer and when I went home I could hardly believe she was the same child. Her skin was as soft as a baby's without a scar on it. I have not seen her in seventeen years but I have heard from her and the last time I heard from her she was well. That is where I became acquainted with Cuticura. I hope this may be of some scrvice to you in the future. Mrs. W. P.
Ingle, Burlington, N. C., June 16, 1905."

WORLD'S EMOLLIENT Is Cuticura Ointment.

DOCTORS CHANGE THEIR METH-ODS.

Years ago they fought catarrh by internal dosing. They saw this uned the stomach and changed to the ozonated air cure, better known as "Catarrhozone." This treatment is sure to cure. It goes to the source of the disease; it destroys the causes that maintain catarrh and even in the worst cases permanent cure is the worst cases permanent cure is guaranteed. Failure with Catarrhguaranteed. Failure with Catarrnezzone is impossible. Antiseptic, healing and far-reaching, it's bound to eure every time. Endorsed by more than twenty thousand physicians in America alone and sold in 25c. and ground of unlimited, unexplored land, about which the people knew but little and cared less, Dr. Hale introduces us to two men who were so to aid in the national development as to render this great heritage of territory a national necessity. These two American patriots were not warriors. Neither had ever unsheathed a sword. They were not wizards of the pen, like Washington Irving or like James Fenimore Cooper, who did for the Indian wigwam what the romantic Sir Walter Scott did for the Scottish moors. They were not silver-tongued orators, like Harrison Gray Otis or Pinckney or William Wirt. They were simple mechanics and inventors. They were humble men, but they were social revolutionists. The name of the one hero was Robert Fulton, that of the other Eli Whitney. They each presented a priceless gift. One gave to America the steamboat, the other the cotton gin. With those two gifts these two geniuses revolutionized the map of the new world.

Before these two men came upon the scene the history of the American people was mainly the history of many different localities. Each locality, to a great extent, existed independently of every other locality. The men for the most part dressed in homespun. The women darned their children's stockings, wove their own garments and made their own rag carpets. No man could make money off the communities in other parts of the land, because the cost of transportation would east up all the profits. "The reader of to-day hardly remembers," writes Dr. Hale, "that there were times when the market cost of a bushel of corn was spent when it had to be carried forty miles. As late as 1830 I heard the jest which ridiculed an emigrant from Massachusetts by saying that he left his home a year before to go west with a jug of molasses to use in trade and that he returned at the end of the year of adventure, having made enough in bargaining to pay him for the jug." When the man of one state had to carry his goods to another state by wagon and horse, the cost of transportation obliterated all the While God was laying the foundation of this future greatness in its great landed territories the American people, from President Jefferson down. were almost unanimous in their vehement protest. But with their wonderful background of unlimited, unexplored land, about which the people knew but little and cared less, Dr. Hale introduces us to two men who were so to aid in the national development as to render this great heritage of territory a national necessity. GIRL SHOT AT WINDOW. Was Combing Her Hair When Fatal-ity Occurred.

New York, July 5.—While combing her hair at the window of her room, Nimipa Grizzanti, a 19-year-old Italian girl, was killed yesterday by a bullet through the head, which the police are convinced was fired by someone who sought to conceal the source of the fatal shot in the noise of Fourth of July fireworks. Another shot buried itself in the wall of the room.

The tragedy occurred on Elizabeth street. Several arrests have been made of Italians living in the rear of a flathouse on Mott street, which is opposite to the house where the girl was shot. Two empty cartridge shells were found in the hallway of the Mott street house. The police have so far been unable to find any motive for shooting the girl, as she was not known to have any enemies.
