To the Editor of The Planet:

Dear Sir,—Permit me the liberty of correcting your version of the Horace Sirrell case, as it might, in its presnt form, have an evil influence at ent form, have an evil influence at his trial on Monday.

I am on the inside in the case, so speak with confidence. The spoons which were reported stolen are what he took out of the packets of Canadian Wheat Flakes, and are only tin.

I might also say that he worked as porter at the Rankin House for $4 and heart her week and was not and board per week, and was not there on the charity list except for one week; also it was his pal, and not he, that worked on a press in, the Salvation Army Printing Works,

Although the lad may have done wrong, I am sure you will agree with me that it's better to have the truth than a distorted version of the affair. I am, sir,

Yours truly,

THE FOOTBALL OUTLOOK. Collier's for October 14 gives a general statement as to the condition and prospects for the two principal Eastern football teams. The Collier's estimate is as follows:

YALE. The magic touch of the New Haven coaching system has in a few weeks transformed what seemed a rather melancholy aggregation of moleskins into a very tolerably representative Yale eleven. The talk about Yale's lack of weight in the centre of the line was only the usual expedient early season sadness. Three young mountains—Andrus, a 230-pounder from Lawrenceville, and Boggs and Boigs. 300 acres of the same season of the same seas Paige, 200-pound guards from St. Paul's—have changed this. What a name Tor a 200-pound guard is Boggs! Can you not see playing against him pale, subjective Stoughton or Holworthy, who is trying to conceal that he has water on the knee? "Boggs of Yale, the giant guard!" It sounds fike an extract from a football story written by a Harvard under-graduate. Another find for the line, at tackle, is Forbes, Wesleyan's former captain. Behind the line, Hoyt at left half-back and Flinn at full-back, have their work cut out for them to hold their last year's positions against Veeder and Levine, Roone, Werneken and Ste-venson, all substitutes last year, are first class running-backs, and Hutchinson; substitute last year, Dines of the '08 squad, and Jones, an Exe-ter Freshman, are in the race for quarter. Captain Shevlin at right-quarter. Captain Shevlin at right-end and Tripp at guard are the lone-ly but exceedingly important relics of last year's rush line. HARVARD. Harvard may not turn out a brilliant eleven, but with Reid as coach, liant eleven, but with Reid as coach, and flurley as captain, only a deficiency in mentality will prevent the young men who wear the Crimson from knowing good football. The team badly needs ends and a punter. Of this year's candidates for the end positions, Blair and O'Brien are best liked. There are also Leary, who won his "H" in the Pennsylvania game last year, Shurtleff and Blagdon, substitutes last season, and several others. Brill and Squires, two of last year's fat men, are in at the tackles. Brill has taken off more than twenty pounds, and now than twenty pounds, and now weighs a little over two hundred. Squires weighs over 190 pounds, and is faster and stronger than a year ago. Pierce, who was ineligible last fall, will probably play right guard. He is the tallest man on the squad, has great strength and reach, and is one of the few men on Soldiers' Field with the ideal football build.

Field with the ideal football build. For the other guard, McFadon, a substitute of last year, is the most likely candidate; while Parker, who weighs 236 pounds and who alternated between guard and centre last year, is the next choice. White, who has put no end of spirit into his work this fall, is a likely man for centre, his strongest rival being Cunniff, another of the org men. Only one position in the back field is giving trouble, and that is full-back. Hanley looks clever on paper, but is likely to be disappointing in real work. Lockwood, a sprinter on the track team, is his nearest rival. Starr is again available for quarter, Foster for left half, and, of course, Captain Hurley will play his old position on the other side behind the line. SECURITY Cenuine Carter's
