'Yep. But I ain't any longer.'

'Ah! Reformed?'

'No—I spent it all.'

Her Baby had Eczeema

Mrs. P. Clarke, Belmont, Mass., writes: My baby had eczeema on her face. The sores were very bad and nothing seemed to help her. Hearing of some remarkable cases for Chamberlain's Ointment had made me begin using it and with the third application the sores began to heal. The cure was thorough and permanent and we give all credit to Dr. Chamberlain's Ointment.

At a dedication festival service at a country church the following announcement was made by the vicar:

Fully nine of every ten cases of rheumatism is simply rheumatism of the muscles due to cold or damp, or chronic rheumatism, neither of which require any internal treatment.

The Pains of the Aged.

Why Buy at Home?

Because you examine your purchase and are assured of satisfaction before investing your money.

Because your home merchant is always ready and willing to make right any error or any defective article purchased of him.

Because when you are sick or for any reason it is necessary for you to ask for credit, you can go to the local merchant. Could you ask it of a mail order-house?

Because if a merchant is willing to extend you credit you should give him the benefit of your cash trade.

Because your home merchant pays local taxes and exerts every effort to build and better your market, thus increasing the value of both city and country property.

Because the mail order merchant does not lighten your tax or in any way help the value of your property.

Because the mail order merchant does nothing for the benefit of market or real estate values.

Because the best citizens in your community patronize home industry.

Because if you will give your home merchant an opportunity to compete, by bringing your order to him in the quantities you buy out of town, he will demonstrate that, quality considered, he will save you money.

Medicines that aid nature are always most successful. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy acts on this plan. It loosens the cough, relieves the lungs, opens the secretions and aids nature in restoring the system to a healthy condition. Sold by A. V. Rand.

A Sailor's Wedding.

Jacker is a jolly dog all the world over. On a recent Saturday afternoon great crowds were attracted to watch wedding held at Newmarket, N. S. W. The ceremony was performed at the Roman Catholic church, and when Jack and his bride came to the drag which was awaiting them, a squad of blue-jackets from H. M. S. Powerful took the horses out, and with ropes as traces drew the vehicle through the streets. On the box seat was a tar with the Union Jack, white at the rear another 'typical' man-of-warman held the Australian flag. The procession caused considerable interest. Jack's blues causing much merriment.

What it Costs to Own an Automobile.

The fuel consumption of the cheap little runabouts is wonderfully small. In an official test at the New York automobile carnival a year ago, the record established was 24.6 miles to a gallon of gasoline, though another car actually scored 46 miles per gallon, but lost the record by deviating from the prescribed course.

A gallon of gasoline costs anywhere from twenty-five cents, when bought at a roadside garage, down to twelve cents when purchased by the barrel. While the average driver under average conditions will hardly do more than half as well, he should be thankful to be able to travel at a cost of a quarter of a cent to half a cent per gasconer per mile for fuel. A heavy car that runs nine miles per gallon of gasoline is doing well.

As for actual available power the purchaser of an $850 five passenger touring-car, gets exactly as much as he could get in a $2,000 car with a thirty horse power engine. The cheaper car weighs only twelve hundred pounds. Assuming the weight of the passenger to be six hundred pounds, the total dead and live load is one thousand pounds.

Precisely how much less depends upon the individual purchaser, his bank account, and the service required of the car. The average selling price of the two hundred thousand cars to be sold in 1910 will be $1,200, though there is every indication that the cars selling below that will be in considerable demand.

If a two passenger car for ordinary use is wanted, a runabout that will fill the bill can be had for $550. For $150 more a better car can be bought, while one still better, with a seat in the rumble for a third passenger can be had for $750. For $850 a touring car seating five may be had which will fully meet the requirements of the average man, if he is a reasonable person.—C. F. Carter, in January Outlook.

Men sometimes admire each other, but a woman's admiration for another woman is limited to her clothes.

The best advice I can give you is to stick to the local merchant.

Don't be deceived by the low prices of mail order houses.

Remember that the best citizens in your community patronize home industry.

Remember that if you will give your home merchant an opportunity to compete, by bringing your order to him in the quantities you buy out of town, he will demonstrate that, quality considered, he will save you money.

Had to do it.
Suddenly a white fog appeared at a window. All about leaped the mad flames. A portion of the wall had caved in, and it was too hot for the firemen to go up after the man, any way. But see, a noble hero dashes between the ropes, makes his way to the elevator, and shoots up to the twenty fourth floor, where the lonely family is still standing. Within about eight or ten minutes he came tearing in and out half minutes he came tearing out of the building with the life he had saved besides his own. Just then the whole building and the man who held the mortgage on it collapsed.
About seventy five thousand people rushed over to the hero—the man who at the risk of his own life and without the aid of a brass band went to the rescue of one lone man.
'Twas, indeed, noble of you,' the people cried, with one voice. 'Why did you do it?'

Where is Abel, thy Brother?
Am I my brother's keeper?
'Where doest thou question me?
I will not insult answer.
I fling it back to thee.'
'Thy brother' and 'thy brother!'
Where is thy brother, where?
My 'brother' ask some other;
I neither know nor care.
'Am I my brother's keeper?'
Still! From the rocking seat,
The blood of righteous Abel
Cries out aloud to God
And hoarse and rough and shameless
From base and cruel names
From dens of horror named,
Roars forth the voice of Cain.
Am I my brother's keeper?
Though death and hell combine
To charge on me his slaughter,
They cannot prove it mine.
If aught a victim made him,
If he were passion's slave,
If I drank and fill'd low land him,
I did not dig his grave.
If in his woods primeval
He drains his brother's blood
I cannot help the evil;
I leave him to his God.
'Am I my brother's keeper?'
O heartless human heart!
Thy brother's is thy brother.
Act thou the brother's part.

Opium Reform in China.
When the suppression of the opium traffic in China was undertaken there were many prophecies that an impossible being was being attempted. It is gratifying to know that better progress than even the sanguine friends of the movement anticipated is being made. According to a late report from the British Minister at Peking, there has been a notable diminution in both the consumption and cultivation of opium and a public sentiment has been created which greatly strengthens the authorities in their efforts for total prohibition of the traffic. In some of the provinces the change effected is little short of marvellous.
The Province of Szechwan has been by far the largest opium producing area in China. It is reported by a missionary that 'now for the first time within memory' it is without a crop of opium. Instead of it there is seen wheat, vegetables, etc., all growing, with the prospect of cheaper food stuffs next year.' The physician of British Legation, who has charge of a hospital where many opium sufferers are treated, says that about eight tenths of the officials and three tenths of the people have stopped smoking.
Among officers of the army the habit has been entirely abandoned. It is now very difficult to purchase opium illicitly, for not only are the shops licensed, but the purchaser must also have a license, renewable every three months. Opium dens are forbidden, but perhaps the number of those in existence eighteen months ago survive surreptitiously. A good deal of opium, he thinks, is taken in the form of anti opium pills, and he judges that half the former opium smokers are taking the drug still in this modified form, which is not surprising. All things considered, the success attending the reforms is quite extraordinary. A considerable percentage of the victims of the habit will be delivered from its awful bondage, the production and sale of the drug will steadily decrease, and the young will not be exposed to its horrible seductiveness.
