Life's Seasons.

The seasons of the year,
They come and go with varying tread,
Their joys so quickly from us fled,
We drop for each a tear.

A child with careless glee,
Singing her songs with sunny, happy face,
Trying in vain her shadow to outrace
And failing laughingly.

Rich in her beauty fair,
A maiden with dark fringed eyes,
Hearing with shy and sweet surprise
Love's old, old story rare.

Appearing once again
The old-time, happy, blissful days,
A mother in her children's joys and plays
Her youth again lives o'er.

Toward her setting sun
An aged woman's footsteps tend,
Life's sands are nearly run.

The seasons of the year
Are likened to each stage of life,
With all its care and sorrows rife,
Its happiness and fear.

Sir Charles Tupper Writes an 'Open Letter.'

THE VETERAN STATESMAN EXPOSES MR. FIELDING AND SHOWS THE FOLLY OF THE RECIPROCITY 'PACT.'

'The Mount,' Bexley Heath, April, 1911.

To the Honorable W. S. Fielding:

Sir,—Now nearly ninety years of age, I had hoped that I was done with political controversy, but as you found it easier to misrepresent and disparage a man three thousand miles away than to reply to the unanswerable speech of Mr. Sifton—your former colleague—I am compelled to acknowledge some of your remarks at Montreal on March 27th.

I cannot accuse you of want of courage in challenging the statement that you had advanced or advocated annexation to the United States, and that that statement was without the shadow or the ghost of a shadow of foundation in truth.'

When I was fighting the battle for Confederation you were in the employ of Mr. William Annand, on the Halifax Morning Chronicle, denouncing Canada and upholding it to public execration.

In 1868, when Joseph Howe, after exhausting in vain every means to defeat Confederation, decided to abandon hostility and make the best of it, Mr. Annand proposed to apply to the United States. Mr. Howe rejected his proposal with scorn, but you remained with Mr. Annand and supported those who hounded Howe to his death, and drove him into an untimely grave.

You say that you represent Nova Scotia, but you forget that in the election of 1872 the opponents of Confederation were unable to elect a majority to oppose the Government of which Mr. Howe and I were members, and that when in 1886 you carried the Province in a desperate attempt to break up the Union, I went out to Canada the following year and cured you of your folly by obtaining the support of 16 out of 21 members for the Government of Sir John A. Macdonald. So much for your loyalty.

You say: 'Sir Charles Tupper in 1888 went to Washington to seek reciprocity, I find at that time so anxious was Sir Charles Tupper for reciprocity that he offered to give the Americans, in addition to their ordinary exchanges of trade, free access to the fishing privileges of Canada. We get an arrangement which gives everything that Sir Charles Tupper wanted, but we have not given the fisheries of the Dominion of Canada. We have maintained the rights of the people of Canada as owners of the fishing grounds, and the Americans must have a license when they come in, and not have free rights to fish in the waters of Canada.'

These are the depreciatory terms in which you refer to the great services rendered to Canada by Mr. Chamberlain and myself as Plenipotentiaries of Her Majesty in 1887.

At that time it is well known that the press of the United States, both Republican and Democratic, were denouncing Canada for the alleged brutal treatment of American fishermen in Canadian waters, and, as they said, in violation of the treaty of 1818.

We obtained a treaty which was sent to the Senate by President Cleveland with the declaration that it was a fair and just settlement, and he urged its adoption.

That treaty provided that when American fishermen were allowed to purchase fishing supplies and enjoy transshipment of catch and shipment of crew in Canadian ports, Canadian fishermen were allowed to purchase supplies and enjoy transshipment of catch and shipment of crew in the United States, and that your proposal in that regard was delusive. Your answer was that it was already done. I replied that you were only making yourself ridiculous, and would have to refund the duties paid by any other countries in excess of those paid by England. I quoted the Montreal Gazette to show you the disaster already caused. What was the result? That tariff never went into operation.

My remarks were made on the 26th April. On the 25th day of May you moved the House into the Committee of Ways and Means, saying: 'Mr. Speaker, I desire to place on the table of the House, when I conclude, the amended tariff resolutions. I may say we are proposing a number of changes in these resolutions. . . We have desired to meet the views of manufactures who complained that they were severely affected by our tariff resolutions.' You made this notable announcement: 'We provide by sub-section B of section 16 as follows: 'That the Governor-in-Council may extend the benefits of such reciprocal tariff to any country which may be entitled thereto by virtue of any treaty with Her Majesty.'

Well, sir, after making changes on more than fifty articles in the tariff, after what I said on April 26th, do you think you were justified in interpolating in my remarks the words (that is the Laurier Government tariff) which had been so fundamentally changed a month after I had spoken.

You know that the Hon. Minister of Customs had, in consequence of your ignorance or folly, to spend a great deal of time in refunding the duties paid in excess of those on British goods, and that Mr. Chamberlain told you I was right and you were wrong, and that at the Sheffield banquet you were obliged to confess that Great Britain had no preference in Canada. You were therefore obliged to grant a preference to Great Britain, but have seized every opportunity since to destroy it, as will be seen by the following extract from the speech of Lord Selborne, as reported in 'the Times' of April 8th, 1911:

'He then went on to remind the audience of the reciprocity movements with Canada, recalling the fact that the members of the 1907 conference (with the exception of His Majesty's Government) reaffirmed the resolutions in favor of mutual preferential trade in the Empire. Then followed separate treaties with France, Holland, Belgium and Italy, and a provisional arrangement with Germany the result of which had seriously whittled away the preference we enjoyed.

'The effect of the agreement with the United Kingdom was the entire removal of the preference on British goods, of which Canada imported nearly £700,000 worth in 1909 10. Thirdly, there was the extension to the 'most favored nation' of the reduced Canadian rates on United States products, thereby whittling still further the advantages of our preference.

'Finally there was the preference which Canadian products would enjoy over the United Kingdom products in the United States markets. Imports of this class from the United Kingdom amounted in 1908 9 to nearly £3 000.000. This was the first time that any part of the British Empire would enjoy preferential treatment in a foreign country to the rest of the Empire and it was impossible to regard this precedent with satisfaction.'

After deriding mutual preferential trade between Great Britain and her Colonies in the most contemptuous terms, you were begging for it at the conference, and threatening that Canada might withdraw her preference if not granted, and you now make an arrangement with the United States which practically destroys it.

I am opposed to your agreement with the United States, because Mr. Bayard in 1888 assured Mr. Chamberlain and me that the policy of the Democratic party was to remove, as soon as they were able, the duties on all the articles in your agreement, and President Taft now sees that he can only secure his re-election by the same policy.

We owe nothing to the Republican party. And would gain everything without any entangling alliance, which will, I fear, end in the destruction of British Institutions in Canada.

You ventured to claim the prosperity of Canada as due to the Laurier Government. You cannot deny that, without Confederation and the construction of the Canadian Pacific Railway, Canada could not have attained the great position that she has.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier had no lot or part in the Confederation of 1867. The Rouge party to which he belonged in Quebec, opposed it bitterly, and you did all in your power to prevent the union of the Provinces. When Sir John A. Macdonald completed the task of uniting all the Provinces of British North America from the Pacific to the Atlantic ocean, on the only terms by which British Columbia could be induced to join—giving them railway communication—a hue and cry was raised that he had ruined the country, which reduced his majority and enabled the Liberal party to obtain power by purchasing six of his supporters by giving them seats in the cabinet and others governorships and contracts.

You gave all your support to that Government, which appealed to the country before the facts could be placed before it, and obtained a large majority, only to be hurled from office at the first opportunity by an immense majority, which demanded the recall of Sir John A. Macdonald.

When we proceeded with the vigorous prosecution of the Canadian Pacific railway, you supported Mr. Blake's motion in 1880 to compel us to suspend operations on the eastern side of the Rocky Mountains and Mr. Laurier and all your party joined in his appeal 'not to run all Canada for the sake of 12,000 white people in British Columbia.'

When the contract was made with the C. P. R. company you all declared that it could not be carried out and did your best to accomplish that object. Laurier and you for eighteen years fiercely denounced the protective policy which gave new life to Canada and enabled us to secure the construction of the C. P. Railway in 1886, five years before the contract required, which has been the means of opening up the great granary of the British Empire and bringing a vast population into Canada.

Mr. Laurier, now Sir Wilfrid, pledged to tear up protection and trample on its head and body, succeeded in obtaining power by a Janus-faced policy on a question of race and religion, but not until he had secretly assured the manufactures that they would be safe in his hands, and then called you to his aid as Finance Minister, and you, having failed in your first effort which I denounced, succeeded. I am happy to say, in producing a tariff which Mr. Foster, the ex-Minister of Finance, after a careful investigation, showed that the duties levied by your tariff differed by less than one cent from his own. I fail to find much cause for jubilation in the career of your leader, or yourself, marked as they have been by the violation of every principle previously propounded.

IN THE SPRING MOST PEOPLE NEED A TONIC MEDICINE.

If you want the best of health and new strength in the spring you must build up your blood with a tonic medicine. Following the long, indoor winter months most people feel depressed and easily tired. This means that the blood is impure and watery. It is this state of the blood that causes pimples and unsightly eruptions. To this same condition is due attacks of rheumatism and lumbago; the sharp, stabbing pains of sciatica and neuralgia; poor appetite, frequent headaches and a desire to avoid exertion. You cannot cure these troubles by the use of purgative medicines—you need a tonic, and a tonic only, and among all medicines there is none can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for their tonic, life giving, nerve-restoring powers. Every dose of this medicine makes new, rich blood which drives out impurities, stimulates every organ and brings a feeling of new health and energy to weak, tired out, ailing men, women and children. If you are feeling out of sorts give this medicine a trial and see how quickly it will restore the appetite, revive drooping spirits and fill your veins with new, health giving blood.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all dealers in medicine or will be sent by mail to 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by addressing The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

It is related by the Rev. F. C. Malan that he once had occasion to discharge a gardener for dishonesty. The man made an unsuccessful attempt to vindicate his character, and failing in this, said mournfully to the vicar: 'Ah, sir, you will miss me before I be gone half an hour. I shan't mind that,' answered Mr. Malan cheerfully, if I don't miss anything else.'—Argonaut.

Is there anything in all this world that is of more importance to you than good digestion? Food must be eaten to sustain life and must be digested and converted into blood. When the digestion fails the whole body suffers. Chamberlain's Tablets are a rational and reliable cure for indigestion. They increase the flow of bile, purify the blood, strengthen the stomach, and tone up the whole digestive apparatus to a natural and healthy action. For sale by all dealers.
