Rev. Mr. Storey, a Presbyterian minister recently arrived from England, spent the week-end in Hartland. He was on his way to St. Francis to take charge of the mission there. While in Hartland he took the local preaching service for his friend and countryman, Rev. Wm. Whitehouse.

Children's Day will be observed at the United Baptist Church next Sunday (June 11) in the evening, the children assisting and the pastor preaching a sermon to the children on "The Magnetic Christ." The sermon will be mechanically illustrated. All welcome and bring your children.

Under the new time table which went into effect on Monday it is possible for those who wish to attend the theatre or any other public meeting to return the same evening. The Hayden & Gibson Opera House is getting some excellent companies of late. "Rosary," a play given on Thursday evening was of exceptional merit. "Madame Sherry" will be given this evening. They have nearly thirty people, their own orchestra and two carloads of special scenery.

tea is the result of care and experience in blending—must be the combination of fine flavor, smooth strength and richness. Because all these elements are so generously included in Red Rose Tea it well merits the term "good tea."

RED ROSE TEA "is good tea"

TRIBUTE TO THE JERSEY.

Aristocrat of the World, Says an Aristocrat.

Vernance E. Fuller, editor of the Pentecost Dailyman, pays the following tribute to the Jersey cow:

"The charge has been laid at my door that because I admire and appreciate a dairy cow, no matter of what breed, that I have ceased to love the Jersey. Nothing could be further from the truth. I admire and love her. I believe there is no cow so perfect in type, so beautiful in color, having the same tenacity in milk, who can average so high a percentage of fat and who will make as economical a yield of a hundred pounds of butter fat as the Jersey cow.

The imported Jersey cow Constance V. is a splendid specimen of this breed of dairy cattle. The Jersey cow is a profitable factory and converts cheap grain and roughage into rich milk and butter fat. She requires no more than a poor cow, but turns less into profit. When the farmer gives her extra care and better feed the Jersey rewards him with a greater flow of milk. She is tractable, easily handled, responds to kindness and is the farmer's friend. Two such animals are more valuable than a barn full of scrub.

"She breeds true to type as no other breed except the Ayrshire does. She responds to good care and requires it. Her globules of fat being large, the grain of her butter cannot be excelled. Her butter remains firmer in heat than that of any other breed, her milk creams readily, and there is a perfect separation between cream and milk. As a buttermaker she is pre-eminent, and in her symmetry of form and beauty she is the aristocrat of the dairy world."

Sheep Shearings. The Merino ewe and the mutton ram make about as profitable a sheep combination as it is possible to get.

Without proper feed and care no one can expect success with sheep. In selecting a ram to head the flock a cull is dear at any price.

Remember, if your sheep are good there will always be a good active market for them.

There is no longer any question about the wisdom of raising roots for sheep feeding. They keep the sheep in the best possible condition.

Beets For Winter Feeding. Sugar beets are probably at the head of the list of succulent feed for winter. Experiments in Colorado have demonstrated that they have a distinct feeding value of their own, due to the high sugar content.
