A WARM ARGUMENT SUNDAY MORNING.

Ryerson Officials Anxious to Assist Authorities But Dislike Discrimination.

taken nor the method adopted to give notice that their church was to be quarantined, gave the officials any oppor-tunity to notify the congregation of what the Barton Board of Health had done. Some members had not even seen the newspaper reports of the board's meeting, and consequently a small gathering, about 25 people, assembled yesterday morning. The church was not opened at all, but the pastor, Rev. Mr. Applegath, was there, and chairs enough were carried across to accommodate the gathering under the fine old apple trees opposite. There hymns were sung, prayer offered and Rev. Mr. Applegath gave a short talk on the prodigal son. He a snort talk on the prodigal son. He had just fivished speaking when Mr. J. Wilkins, Barton Health Inspector, appeared on the scene. He walked up the street to where the people were gathered, and Ald Morris invited him to be scated, but he preferred to stand. His questions for a few minutes flew thick and fast.

Mr. Applegath told Mr. Wilkins that he had received no official notification that the meetings were to be discontinued, and further stated that there had been unjust discrimination in Mr. Wilkins action in keeping such a close watch ever Ryerson, when St. Ann's Church was allowed to hold services.

Mr. Wilkins evidently did not like the tone of Mr. Applegath's words, for he replied that he had instructions to see that the four churches in Crown Point any Ryerson Church were closed, and the four in Chown Point had closed like gentlemen, and had not acted in such a stubborn and ungentlemanly way as had Ryerson.

"Wait a minute before you say we "Wait a minute before you say we way as had Ryerson."

Neither the way in which action was taken nor the method adopted to give the people of Ryerson Methodist Church totice that their church was to be quarantined, gave the officials any opporantined, gave the officials any opporantine.

within his rights in holding the meeting.

Mr. Wilkins replied that he had told Mr. Applegath that the church was to be quarantined, and had not intimated that he would sent him a written notification that the church was to be closed.

Mr. Morris stated that he had had a talk with Councillor Hills, who told him that the quarantine referred only to the building and not to holding meetings outside.

Mr. Wilkins' answer was that the church was the gathering and whether it met in the building or on the street made no difference. He had his instructions and was going to see that it met in the building or on the street made no difference. He had his instructions and was going to see that they were carried out.

"Councillor Hills further told me that the motion passed by the Barton Board of Health included St. Ann's Church, and you have not yet notified them," continued Mr. Applegath.

Ald. Morris said as there had been no intention of holding meetings and the gathering intended to disperse Mr. Wilkins had no right ta call them stubborn and ungentlemanly.

Mr. Applegath added that he had taken Mr. Wilkins' word that the place was ordered closed, and that he had authority to close it, and the meeting intended to disperse, but Mr. Wilkins should have given proper notification.

In speaking to Ald. Morris after, Mr. Wilkins said he had no orders to close St. Ann's Church, but he thought the church should be closed as it was nearer the scarlet fever belt than Ryerson, but he also thought Ryerson should be closed. He quoted an alleged instance of where a child came from a house in which there was scarlet fever, and sat beside other children in Ryerson just a week previous.

A deputation has been appointed by as had Ryerson.

"Wait a minute before you say we are stubborn," said Ald. Morris. "We met here this morning more for the purpose of notifying the members in a proper manner that the church had been ordered closed, and I see nothing stubborn in that. As I am the superintendent of the Sunday school, I will meet here this afternoon and tell the children the same thing." he continued.

Mr. Wilkins warned them that "they were running up against the law, and there would be trouble if the meeting did not disperse."

Mr. Applegath said when it came to there would be trouble if the meeting did not disperse."

Mr. Applegath said when it came to the legality of the notification, the church would stand all right, for they had not been legally notified, but they were ready to assist the movement to stamp out the scarlet fever as best they could. Mr. Wilkins had told him that

The constable then took the defendant into a grocery store near by, which proved to be his employer's store. Then, the officer said, to his astonishment the young man's employer turned round and heaped abuse on him. Defendant was fined 85.

Richard Betterton put in his appearance this morning after spending the week-end with his wife to tell where he got forbidden liquor. Dick promptly replied it was at the M. & M. Hotel. He said his wife had caught him in the act, "and it was all up when a woman got wise to a fellow's game."

Dick's better half appeared and when asked by the magistrate what should be done with her husband, answered, "Better let him go this time."

"Does he drink much now?"

"Whenever he gets money."

He was discharged, but will appear again when the hotel keeper is summoned.

Ralph Rufus was again remanded for a week, as the girl, Merry, is still in the hospital.

Just before police court adjourned Charles MacDonald was brought back and sentenced to three months in jail.

Joe Bendi, 387 John street, was arraigned charged with stabbing Steve Soc. He was remanded for a week.

CHICKEN THIEVES BUSY.

Mr. H. T. Bray informed the police this morning that six chickens were stolen from his premises, 618 King street west, on Saturday. A similar complaint was laid by D. Gordon, 48 Guise street. He lost fourteen the same night. Inspector McMahon suggested that a dog might be responsible for the missing chicks. He said he knew of a dog in the vicinity of Guise street that has a weakness for chickens.

time when a car carrying Deputy Sheriff Exler came along. He was returning from Pittsburg to the steel car plant. A revolver was placed at the motorman's head and the car was stopped. A crowd of strikers immediately suspected the deputy sheriff. He was ordered to leave the car. Instead it he said he threw back his coat and showed his star. This was the signal for a fusiade of shots. Exler opened fire in return, and all the cartridges in his revolver were exploded before he fell under a shower of stones and bullets. The motorman and conductor placed the body on the car, and took it to the office of a physician in McKee's Rocks.

bly mangled and beaten by stones and clubs.

Hardly had the car bearing Exter's body started for the physician's office than the mob sighted another car approaching the viaduet. As the car neared the mob formed ten deep across the tracks. State Troopers Williams, Smith, Jones, O'Donnel and Kitch, all of troop A, were on the car. They had been on a brief furlough. When the mob boarded the car and seized the conductor the men arose to make a fight. Then began a fusillade, in which five hundred shots or more were fired. O'Donnell was the first to fall with a bullet through his left side. Trooper Kitch stood over his fallen comrade, and gamely opened fire upon the mob with a revolver in each hand. Volley after volley was fired at him, but he escaped being shot, though he was terribly stoned and beaten after all his comrades fell wounded at his feet. Soon after O'Donnell was shot, Trooper Williams fell mortally wounded after a volley, and finally rolled over on his back dead. It was in the defensive attack of the troopers that most of the members of the mob were shot. Word of the battle reached Lieut. Smith, of the constabulary, and he ordered out his entire force of troopers. As they galloped toward the O'Donovan bridge with carbines drawn the mob broke and fled. By midnight McKeee's Rocks was as quiet as during the early Sabath afternoon.

In order to correct this statement, which I believe should be done in the interest of Saltfleet, I beg to state that the Beach Commissioners' statement to me in December, 1908, was that the $1,731 was for school purposes alone, and as the above amount is all the money we have received from them for taxes in 1907-8, therefore the commissioner's own statement bears out the fact that they have not paid the township of Saltfleet anything for county taxes. state constabulary and a deputy cheriff refused to obey the commands of the strikers when ordered from a street car. For weeks the strikers have been holding up street cars and ordering the occupants of them out. Heretofore all have obeyed. Last night, however, the troopers and the deputy sheriff, all of them armed, refused to be ordered about by the strikers. They resisted, and for twenty minutes a battle ensued. It is apparent to-day that all the dead and a majority of the injured fell in the battle.

Later, when reinforcements arrived many more were clubbed and shot, but the first battle waged by only four men was the fatal one.
