LOOKS LIKE A REFUSAL

Hydro Commission Likely to Refuse Reasonable Requests,

Which They Had Previously Promised to Hamilton.

Options Secured For Central Prison Site at Red Hill.

The question of whether Hamilton is the Hydro-Electric contract, in its entirety, and without any of the con ions already promised, thrust down its throat, will probably be fought out intimation reached the City Hall to-day that the Commission will refuse the amendments asked for by the Power Conmittee on Saturday night, and which the aldermen were told at the conference with the Commission would be granted. The long delay before the draft form of contract reached the city, and the fact that Solicitor Lobb took it upon himself to introduce certain clauses, which were contract reached the city, and the fact that Solicitor Lobb took it upon himself to introduce certain clauses, which were directly opposed to what had been discussed with the Commission, together with the stories of influence that was being exercised outside the City Hall, made the aldermen suspicious, and the report that reached them this morning was not unexpected.

The argument of the Hydro agitators is that if the Commission refused to grant any concessions there would be nothing left for the Council to do, in view of the vote of the people, but to accept the contract in its entirety. They say that even should the Commission grant the concessions asked, the power question will be made the issue in the next election, as a Hydro slate will be submitted to the electors and an appeal made to elect a Council that will see that Hamilton plunges into the scheme without reservation.

The two chief points Hamilton wants the Commission to grant is to consider this city's distance from the Falls in ity Solicitor Waddell had a talk over long distance 'phone this morning he Solicitor Lobb, and informed his of the changes in the contract the Pow Committee agreed on Saturday night Mr. Lobb said he would at once take the matter up with the Commission an advise the city by letter whether the amendments would be permitted.

The fact that Hon. John S. Hendric options on the Ward and Gage proper-ties in the vicinity of the Red Hill, east of the city, is taken as an indication that the Government has practically decided to establish the new Central Prison in the vicinity of Hamilton. The cit officials are not warming up very e thusiastically to the idea of the city or the county getting this institution. They fear that Hamilton will become a dump-ing ground for released convicts, and say that the only benefit that will be derived will be a little trade for some store keepers. The Gage property on which the option has been secured is 200 acres in extent, and the Ward property is also quite extensive.

In the rearrangement of civic departments provision has been made in the new by-law for relieving the Board of Health of the scavenger collection. It will be looked after next year by the Works Committee. The fact that all the work is to be done under one department has revived the scheme for the city owning its own teams. Both Chairman Allan and Gity Engineer Macallum and there is difficulty all certain times of the year in getting teams, and the city will likely purchase some of its own next year.

Vancouver and Winnipeg made a gain of 136 and 60 per cent. respectively, and other western cities are forging ahead in the building line, with marked rapidity. In Ontario Berlin registered a gain of 150 per cent., Hamilton 71 per cent. London 15 per cent., Fort William 10 per cent. The largest falling off was Halifax, which went behind 85 per cent.

City Engineer Macallum had a conference on Saturday with the C. P. missions by the Mikado, the foremost being an attempt to forestall the protest of Corea by effecting a more complete understanding with China. Prince Ito played an important part in the framing of the recent treaty between Japan and China, relating to railway construction in Manchuria.

The treaty was concluded on Aug. 31, and has been considered by many diplomats a violation of the treaty of peace concluded between Japan and Russia afted the war. In face of her Portsmouth pledge not to obstruct any measures that China may take for the development of commerce and industry in Manchuria, Japan forced a specific pledge from China not to build a railway from Hsimmintun, north, without Japan's cansent.

should China build the Kirin Railway east, she must borrow half the required capital from Japan, thus insuring Japan ese control of an important branch from Japan's main line toward Vladivostock China was compelled to transfer the Taishichao-New Chwang line to Japan.

Japan also refused to discuss the ab-sorption of sovereignty along the South Manchurian Railway. Her attitude was in glaring contrast with Russia's recog-nition of China's sovereign right in the recent Harbin agreement.

Worcester, Mass., Oct. 26.—The new of the assasination of Prince Ito at Harbin, although received here early this morning, was not made known to the Honorary Commercial Commissioners of Japan, who are visiting Worcester, until several hours later. The Japanese visitors were asleep in their special cars when the news reached here.

Amos S. Green, American Consul at Harbin, who is accompanying the party as interpreter, decided not to tell them of the tragedy until after they had arisen. Mr. Green, in commenting on the tragedy, said:

As the police pounced upon the three Coreans, the one who did the shooting exclaimed, dramatically, "I came to Harbin for the sole purpose of assassinating Prince Ito and avenge my country."

None of the three Coreans attempted to escape. All calmly confessed that they had conspired against the life of Prince Ito. The assassin, while claiming to have been inspired by a particit moto have been inspired by a patriotic mo-tive and to believe that Japan's wrongs to Coreans justified his act, admitted under examination, that he had a per sonal grudge against—the Japanese statesman who, while Resident-General in Corea, caused the execution of in Corea, caused the execution of severel of the murderer's friends. It had been supposed that the police protection for the prince was adequate, but the police stated later that they were unable to distinguish the Corean among the many Japanese who had been admitted to the railway station to welcome the prince. The Russian police declared that the Japanese Consul-General, Kawakan, had requested them to permit entrance to the station of all Japanese who sought admittance.

The threatening letter which was sent to Sanzone was read by S. F. Washington. It stated that unless Sanzone paid the money his house would be blown up. Antonio Spicuzza, another nephew of Salvator Sanzone, said he was in the wagon with the detectives, and heard the conversation between the prisoners and his uncle. He heard his uncle tell them he had not brought the amount asked for. He saw Speranzia with the money, but when the detective asked him about it he denied having it. Colombo, the other prisoner, in answer to a question by Mr. Washington said he was threatened by Corto, that if he did not help he would be killed. Corto was recalled and said he didn't threaten any of the three prisoners.
Chief Smith said he saw Corto in a store on York street.

After Mr. Robinette's address, his Honor said be had no doubt in his mind in the matter. Certain circumstances were worth consideration. Speranzia stated he was not at the hotel, but the hotel clerk said Speranzia was there. Another thing, they said they were not spoken to until the previous night. Not relying on Corto's evidence, it was proved by Sanzone that Corto had notified him of it before, and had told him their names. He did not understand how ed by Sanzone that Corto had notified him of it before, and had told him their names. He did not understand how Corto could give the names if it was as stated by the prisoners. It was clear that they had received the money, which they all denied. The letter would terrify anyone who believed any part of it, as it threatened to blow up the house and murder Sanzone. He came to the conclusion that Speranzia wrote the letter and the others knew the contents. He found the men had concocted the plan among them. By the agreement the two who couldn't write directed Speranzia to do so.

In conclusion his Honor said: "I will have to find all three guilty."

Mr. Robinette said the men were all young, and although they had been found guilty no violence had been used. As they had spent two months in jail, he asked that they be dealt with leniently.

In sentencing the prisoners his Honor

In sentencing the prisoners his Honor said the prisoners had committed one of the most diabolical crimes, because it was more serjous than letters threatening to kill Sanzone and his family. They had done something the country would not tolerate, and it must be put down. They could be sentenced to fourteen years each.
