AQUATIC. THE RACE FOR THE CAPE MAY CUP.

LONDON, July 25.—Aug. 5 is the date fixed tor the race for the Cape May cup, in which Lord Dunraven's cutter Valkyrie and Royal Phelps Carrol's Navahoe will take part. It is probable, however, that the contest will have to be postponed, owing to the fact that the Valkyrie is entered for other races that will prevent her from salling for the Cape May cup on the date specified. The Cape May cup was won in 1885 by the cutter Genesta, owned by Sir Richard Sutton. The course to be salled this year is from the Needles, off the west coast of the Isle of Wight, to and around the breakwater at Cherbourg, France, and return. THE RACE FOR THE CAPE MAY CUP. CRICKET. REMARKABLE PLAY IN ENGLAND.

REMARKABLE PLAY IN ENGLAND. English cricketers have had a very lively time recently, and the latest returns are brimful of incidents. The weather is reported to have been almost entirely in favor of run-making, and batting averages have assumed startling proportions. The Yorkshire and Somerset match ended at Sheffield July 7 in a remarkable win for the Yorkshire eleven. The Somerset men went in twice to make 287, while their rivals secred 300 runs, in one inning. Of this total A. Sellars contributed 103, Of this total A. Sellars contributed 103, thus making his second century for the thus making his second century for the season.

H. Trott, the great Australian, was the hero of the match between his team and Leicestershire at Ayelstone, July 7. He scored 100 runs in one inning with the bat and bowled so effectively that in the Englishmen's two innings he took 11 wickets for 87 runs. The bowling of his side patterner, G. Giffen, was also remarkable. He took 8 wickets at a cost of 82 runs. The Australian won by 51 runs, with an inning to spare.

One of the most brilliant exhibitions of One of the most brilliant exhibitions of batting ever seen this season was given by the Australians at Derby on July 4, against the Derbyshire eleven. The local cracks were disposed of for 199, while the foreigners reached the great total of 494 for 9 wiskets. Of this H. Graham made 219, the highest score of the tour. A. C. Bannerman was also conspicuous, with the fine contribution of 105 runs.

The great feature of the match at Lord's on July 7, in which Sussex beat Middlesex by 346 to 243 on the first inning, was the batting of G. Brann for the winners. He scored 159 runs.

by 346 to 243 on the first inning, was the batting of G. Brann for the winners. He scored 159 runs.

The great annual struggle between the representatives of Oxford and Cambridge, at Lord's, ended disastrously for the dark blues. The Oxford men went to pieces in the second inning, while the light blues improved. The scores were: Cambridge, 182 and 254; Oxford, 106 and 64. Soveral spectators narrowly escaped lockjaw trying to pronounce the name of one of the Cambridge men, K. S. Ranjitsinhji.

The unconscious cause of the trouble is an Indian prince and a great favorite among his intimates. Several of his anecdotes are described as racy to a degree. When playing at Bridlington one of the opposite side inquired if he could speak Ecglish. Seeing a prospect of some fun, his comrades replied that he was able to speak just a few words, such as "Yes" and "No" and How's that?" Ranjitsinnji made one of his biggest scores, and every now and then sembody said "Here, it's time this beggar was out." When he was hit on the face with the ball the fielders hoped that "he would have some of the steam knocked out of him now." When the Indian was heard speaking English to his friends at the subsequent luncheon, the Bridlington players were not a little antonished.

Oxford cricketers were amazed at the manner in which C. W. Wright, of Cambridge, hammered J. B. Woods' usually dangerous "lobs." Wright scored five fours off one over and 28 runs off eight consecutive balls.
